SOVIETS SEE HUGE PLOT

Several Nations Accused

Gibson Said to Reveal Powers' Plan to Seize Rich Resources

Six Russians Imprisoned for High Treason and Face Death

MOSCOW (U.S.S.R.) Nov. 11. (AP) On a docket of indictments and reported confessions in the hands of the people's commissar of justice here emerged today soviet charges of an international plot to overthrow the government and to control some of the country's valuable natural resources by the nations which fringe her borders.

Those said to be anti-soviet in prison under charges involved, the punishment for which is death. The asserted conspiracy is one of them—the counter-revolutionary Ramsin—names a number of outstanding figures in half a dozen nations as coconspirators with leaders of the plot in Moscow.

Among Sir Henri Deterding, British oil magnate, is named as one of those involved in financing the preliminary campaign. Former Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand of France are called "conspirators," and the name of Colonel "Lawrence of Arabia" lends a dab of color in the picture.

SIX NATIONS LISTED

The Russian's purported confession of government has reconstructed the counter-revolutionary plot. It was said, was hatched in Moscow and Leningrad, but has been given capital in Paris and received by active sympathy in Great Britain, France, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other "capitalistic" countries.

Gibson is said to have been a diplomatic agent of the Rumanian government, and Rumania was to have been given a free hand in Bessarabia in quick succession, while France and England were to be allowed similar examples.

The plan, it was said, was to be put into effect on each of nine successive days, beginning January 1, 1931, the first day of the year following the seventh anniversary of the founding of the soviet government. Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov, Rostov, Tula, Ivanovo-Voznesensk, Tver, Nizhni-Novgorod and Tsaritsyn were to be the centers of simultaneous uprisings of numbers as it went on, with the assistance of discontented peasants and surrender of said soviet centers to the armies of the counter-revolutionary interest commanded by Wrangel, Denikin, Kolchak and other said czar generals, who, it was charged, were to be supplied with arms and munitions by England and the British fleet was to force into the Baltic and Black Sea, assisting the Crimean army of Wrangel. All this, planned the prosecution, was to be done after the soviet government had been weakened because of discord between France and Italy and the attitude of Germany's attitude toward the plotters to delay their own attack.

The conspiracy planned to in-

HOOVER VOICES PEACE AIM IN HONORING WAR DEAD

Church Alliance for Better World Friendship Hears Views on International Amity

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—President Hoover led the nation in tribute to its soldier dead today with a plea that the living wage peace as continuously and as vigorously as they who sleep in flag-decked graves waged war.

At precisely the hour when the guns ceased thundering on the western front twelve years ago, Mr. Hoover expressed the conviction that a solemn obligation rests upon the nation to press forward in pursuit of the ideals for which the men in arms fought and died.

"Our duty," he said, "is to seek ever new and widening opportunities to insure the world against the horrors and irretrievable wastage of war."

HEARD IN SILENCE

The President did not speak at Arlington as has been the custom on Armistice Day. He choose, rather, to encourage the work of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches now in convention here at the Washington Auditorium. A large audience heard the President's address. The solemnity of the occasion was observed by silence. Only once was the President interrupted by applause. That was when he asserted the permanence of the World Court is assured and that from it there is steadily growing a body of precedent, decision and appliance of law.

In the formulation of such law, he said, "We should have a part not alone in our own interest but in advancement of peace." The audience caught the significance of this reiteration of the President's faith in the World Court and of his determination to do everything possible to promote American adherence to it and expressed its approval. The President made no specific mention of plans he may have in mind for submitting the court issue to the Senate. A controversy awaits his recommendation that this nation should enter the court but this fact has not caused Mr. Hoover to surrender his faith in that institution.

PROGRESS TRACED

Mr. Hoover reviewed progress of the movement for international peace since that first Armistice Day when the world turned from war to the processes of peace. Thus progress, he said, has "been rendered notable in peace annals by the achievement of the London naval treaty." That treaty, he said, had disposed of one of the major frictions between nations—naval competition. He cited the Kellogg-Briand pact as a further safeguard against the danger of conflict. He pointed out that fifty-eight states have signed the pact and five more have signified their purpose to do so.

"By the recognition of this fundamental principle of peace," he said, "and from the moral restraint that the endowment itself presents,

Throat Ailment Fatal

T. Coleman Du Pont One of Leaders in Famous Powder Family

Explosive Plant Grew Into Gigantic Company Under His Management

WILMINGTON (Del.) Nov. 11. (AP) T. Coleman Du Pont, one of the most prominent members of the Du Pont family of Delaware and long identified with the national and State organizations of the Republican party, died at his home here today. He was 66 years of age.

Mr. Du Pont was a former United States Senator, former Republican national committeeman, former president of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co., and was widely known as a financier and philanthropist. Death resulted from a throat affection of long standing.

For the last two years he had lived in retirement, his business interests being looked after by his son, Frank V. Du Pont of Wilmington.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Soon after he became seriously ill two years ago he went south for several months, then underwent an operation on his throat in New York. He returned south, but for the last few months had lived at his country estate near Cambridge. He was brought to his home here about a week ago.

Mr. Du Pont leaves his widow, the former Miss Alice Du Pont, his cousin, whom he married in 1889; three daughters, Mrs. Holliday S. Meeds of Wilmington, Mrs. C. Douglas Buck, wife of the Governor of Delaware, and Mrs. John Willcox Donaldson, Jr., of Irvington-on-Hudson, now in Europe, and one son, Frank, president of the Equitable Trust Company of Wilmington.

HEADS COAL COMPANY

Mr. Du Pont was a cousin of Pierre, Lammot, Irenee and Alfred I. Du Pont, members of the Du Pont family active in the affairs of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co.

T. Coleman Du Pont emerged after two years from retirement, into which he had gone at the age of 37, to achieve his greatest business and financial success.

Although a member of the famous Delaware family that has been accumulating wealth from its equally famous powder works since the beginning of the nineteenth century, he had nothing to do with the powder industry until after he had won success and fortune in other lines.

Educated as an engineer, Mr. Du Pont when a young man was especially interested in coal mining and upon completing his course at Massachusetts Institute of Technology entered the employ of the Central Coal and Iron Company at Central City, Ky. Eventually he became president of the company.

In 1903 he turned to the steel in-

ARMS CURB OUTLINED

America Opposes Budget Plan

Gibson Proposes Direct Limitation to League Commission

Land and Air Force to Have Full Publicity on Expenditures

GENEVA, Nov. 11. (AP)—Direct limitation of land and air armaments with full publicity as to expenditures, weights and numbers was proposed before the League's disarmament commission today by the American government.

Hugh S. Gibson, the American representative, in support of his contention that the American plan would be the most "effective means of attaining disarmament," said:

"Our military effectives will be definitely limited and full publicity given to expenditure for their pay and maintenance. Our naval material and personnel will be definitely limited by treaty. There remains only the question of material for land and air forces. As regards this we have expressed our readiness to accept what we consider the strictest method of limitation, namely direct limitation with full publicity as to expenditures, weights and numbers."

BUDGET CURB OPPOSED

In reiterating America's opposition to any plan of limitation by budgetary restriction, Mr. Gibson declared, "it is easier to conceal the application of a dollar than it is the existence of a rifle."

He told the commission, however, the United States had no objection to a convention which committed other nations to the plan of budgetary restriction and left the United States free to exercise its scheme of direct limitation.

This suggestion of a two-fold draft was received with great interest by the entire membership of the commission. The British representatives who have been advocating the budgetary plan, said informally they welcomed the American proposal and thought there was a good chance of formulating some such two-fold treaty.

It was generally recognized in League circles Europeans are not greatly concerned over American armaments and would not object to the United States employing its own plan of direct limitation with full publicity.

DIRECT PLAN BACKED

The United States, however, is not alone in its objection to the budgetary scheme. Japan, Russia, Holland, Sweden and Germany are more or less insistent on direct limitation by enumeration of materials, and probably Italy would prefer direct limitation also. It was recalled a majority of the commission at a former session rejected the plan of direct limitations and the issue was reopened today only after long discussion.

He was reputed to be the wealthiest man in Iowa and also was one of the oldest of the State's pioneers, having been born January 17, 1839. He was the oldest member of the Iowa bar.

A pioneer railroad builder of Central Iowa, Hubbell was associated with the beginnings of many State and municipal institutions.

Missing Airmen Search Spurred

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 11 (AP) A wisp of smoke sighted through the fog near the southeastern end of Dundas Island, north of Prince Rupert, B. C., today led Pilot Anscel Eckmann, searching for Pilot Robin Renanan and his two companions, missing for two weeks, to hope some clew to Renahan's whereabouts might be found there. Renahan was close to Prince Rupert when he was last seen.

A fog prevented Eckmann from making an investigation, but he planned to return later.

FRESNOAN IN RECORD SKY JUMP

Aviator Asserts He Fell Over 8000 Feet Before Releasing Parachute

FRESNO, Nov. 11. (AP)—George Sallee, Fresno aviator, landed safely two miles from the Chandler Field Airport after making an attempt to break the world's free fall parachute record as a feature of an Armistice Day air circus this afternoon.

He went into the air in a plane piloted by R. B. McGugin about 1:15 p.m. and, according to the aviator, dropped overboard about 2:30 o'clock at an altitude of about 11,000 feet. The parachute jumper had a barograph strapped to him and it is expected to give official figures of his jump. The aviator estimated that Sallee fell for at least 4000 feet before opening one of the two chutes with which he was equipped for the test.

The record for a straight drop is 1500 feet, but unofficial records are claimed of 6300 feet, aviators said.

Sallee said he believes that he has broken the record, saying that he believes he fell between 8000 and 10,000 feet before pulling the ring and opening the chute. The record can only be ascertained when the barograph he wore is officially checked.

Kurdistan Emir Again Dragged Out of Country

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—It wasn't Armistice Day for Mohammed Pasha Al Raschid, who says he is a prince and Emir of Kurdistan. Not by any means.

Immigration authorities with whom he has been arguing for several years as to whether he is an American citizen got him rudely out of bed today and took him to Ellis Island clad only in a bathrobe and a pair of handcuffs, under charges of illegally entering the United States.

Four times he has entered the country, or tried to, and three times he has been deported.

He says he was born in Detroit in 1895.

Science Viewed as Foe of War

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Nov. 11. (AP) Armed conflict must ultimately fail, Secretary of Labor Davis said at an American Legion Armistice Day dinner here tonight.

Davis, who is a Senator-elect in Pennsylvania, said modern inventions are bringing the people of the world into such close physical contact that their mental attitudes are becoming harmonized, and this eventually will make war impossible.

Maine Hunter Still Unfound

JACKMAN (Me.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Darkness tonight cut short the seventh day of search for Mitchell B. Kaufman, Massachusetts manufacturer, lost somewhere in the vast wilderness surrounding Crocker Lake since Wednesday.

Three airplanes, one a seaplane, a pack of hounds and seventy-five experienced woodsmen concentrated on the search today.

Commission to Inspect Lower Colorado River

EL PASO, Nov. 11. (AP)—Seeking a basis for a treaty between the United States and Mexico allocating waters of the lower Colorado and Tia Juana rivers and the lower Rio Grande, the International Water Commission will leave here tomorrow for the lower Colorado Valley.

The inspection trip was decided upon at a meeting of the newly reorganized commission here. Vasques Shiaffino, Mexican Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs, will accompany members of the commission and engineers, who will travel by automobile.

The first stop will be at Yuma, Ariz., in the delta region of the lower Colorado, which in flood seasons in the rich Imperial Valley will come in for special attention. The trip along the lower Colorado is expected to require a week.

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] President Hoover spoke Monday before the advertisers convention. The poor man don't any more than get through talking to one organization than some other one comes along. This country sure is organized and this country sure is advertised. When we arrive at the poor house we will be the best organized and the best advertised nation that was ever admitted; in fact it's paying dues to organizations and advertising that will put us up there. VETERANS BOMB STORE IN PROTEST

Tear Gas Used in Attack Due to Failure of Place to Close Armistice Day

ST. CLAIRSVILLE (O.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Angered over failure of a grocery store to close in observance of Armistice Day a group of Belmont county World War veterans today hurled tear bombs into the place. Patrons and employees were forced to flee, gasping for air.

The platoon of soldiers, wearing steel helmets and carrying rifles, was led to the store by C. W. Fowler, commander of the Belmont county American Legion. He did not enter. Nelson McQuillan, a former officer of the Ohio "40 and 8," fun society of the American Legion, was among those who went inside.

McQuillan said the veterans "considered it their right to close the store on Armistice Day just the same as they would protest any attempt of anyone to tear down the American flag."

Operators of the store protested against the attack to Mayor Bradfield, but no charges were filed.

Civil authorities said they had no statements to make on the bombing.

The bombs were taken by the veterans from the Sheriff's office.

The store is operated by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company and managed by Thorburn Stewart, a local resident.

RAGING SEA THWARTED

Sailor in Water 72 Hours Saved

First Mate From Brooklyn Survives Wreck Clinging to Shattered Plank

Burnt by Sun and With His Hands and Feet Worn to Bone He Defies Fate

EUREKA, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—Back from seemingly certain death in the sea has come Jargen M. Greve, the first mate of the lumber schooner Brooklyn, battered to pieces on the Humboldt Bay bar last Saturday.

Clinging with an unbreakable grip which the towering waves of seventy-two hours had been unable to loosen Greve, whose home is in San Francisco, was picked up far out on the Pacific this afternoon, semiconscious and muttering prayers for the safety of himself and his seventeen fellow crew members.

Greve's sailor luck stood by him—the same luck that had carried him through two previous wrecks. In those other sea accidents his luck brought all the members of the crew safely through with him. In this case he is believed to be the only survivor.

FINGERS WORN DOWN

When Greve was rescued by the Two Sisters, a fishing smack commanded by Dick Richter of this city, his fingers and toes had been worn almost to the bone from clinging to the piece of shattered life raft on which he had floated for three days. The nails on both hands and feet were worn away. His clothing had been virtually stripped from him by the seas.

As Richter and his crew drew Greve aboard the castaway opened his eyes for a moment and with an effort put the question that was uppermost in his mind.

"What happened to the other boys?" he asked.

Then he lapsed back into semi-consciousness.

Richter rushed the Two Sisters back to Eureka and Greve was hurried to Joseph's Hospital. In spite of his exhausted condition—his bare body was sun burned to a fiery red from the days of tossing on the surface of the sea—and despite the buffeting he had suffered from the waves, he will live, said Dr. John Shain, chief of the hospital medical staff.

DOCTOR AMAZED

"Such remarkable vitality I have never seen in a human being," said the doctor, and his is an experienced opinion for the hospital is the haven for many a shipwrecked and battered mariner.

When Greve awoke after a troubled sleep his first question again was for the rest of the crew. He seemed unable to believe that he was saved from the angry seas that sent the Brooklyn's shivered timbers swirling over the waters of Humboldt Bay.

At length he became convinced that he alone had been saved, and a great sigh welled up from him of mingled joy and grief.

STORY RELATED

Here is his story of the tragedy: "Don't ask me how I come to be alive and why I didn't die in those awful days and nights I tossed up and down in the ocean on that piece of wreckage.

"I don't know. And I don't believe I ever will know. It's all a nightmare. I can remember little, except occasionally I would awake to find the waves washing over my face and the hot sun beating down on my bare body.

"About all I can remember is

AUTO CHIEF BACKS HIGH PAY

General Motors Head Says Wage Cut Would Delay Return of More Normal Times

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Announcing that the General Motors Corporation has maintained salaries and wages, President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., said today a reduction in the wage scale would not only delay the return of more normal times, but unnecessarily limit the future prosperity of the nation.

In a letter to stockholders accompanying the nine months earning statement, previously made public, Mr. Sloan said in his opinion "it is important for industry to appreciate the fact the country's prosperity is founded on a high wage scale."

"The broader the margin that exists between the daily wage and the necessities of life," he continued, "the more the individual has available to purchase additional products and enjoy and profit by his leisure hours. This development of purchasing power creates wealth which in turn reacts and reacts through our whole industrial situation.

"General Motors has not reduced either salaries or wages and it is my hope no readjustment of that character will be necessary," he said. "In evaluating the present position of General Motors weight must be given to the fact that it recognizes as a major industrial purpose the importance of doing its part in maintaining purchasing power through periods of adversity."

Summarizing the business situation, Mr. Sloan said: "I feel there is no occasion for losing faith in the principles and policies of the corporation; neither should we lose faith and confidence in each other, nor in our industrial leaders.

"On the contrary we individually should do the most we can to reduce the discomfort and suffering which follow all economic readjustments. Finally we should discharge our responsibilities, whatever they may be, in such a manner that when the tide turns—and that is only a question of time—we shall be better able to enjoy and appreciate the bigger opportunities that have yet to come to us."

Mr. Sloan emphasized the opportunity presented to industrial management to "inject into business a different type of thinking and a different appreciation of the problems that have existed for a number of years past."

Mr. Sloan explained that had not the corporation realized more than a year ago a different trend of industrial activity was developing and started then to readjust its operating policy in line with a different order of things, it would have been impossible to report as favorable an earnings position.

PRESIDENT LEADS NATION IN TRIBUTE TO HEROES

this agreement has become one of the most potential instruments of peace which the world has ever forged for itself."

PLANS NEW STEPS

The President indicated that he is ready to associate himself with any movement looking to extension of the fundamental principles of the Kellogg-Briand pact. Extension of the past to assure methodical development of the machinery for the peaceful settlement of disputes and to insure the mobilization of world opinion against "those who fail when strain comes," he said, "would be stimulative and would appeal to the dramatic sense of the world as a mark in the progress of peace." He added:

"I do not say that some such further step may not some day come about."

The success of the United States in promoting the principle of arbitration was set forth by the President as one of the encouraging if less dramatic supports to the Kellogg pact. He asserted it to be the purpose of the government to develop in every way the use of arbitration in relations with foreign governments.

VISION AGREEMENTS

"It is my belief," he said, "that the world will have become firmly interlocked with such agreements within a very few years."

Again Mr. Hoover advanced his proposal that in time of war food ships should be immune from interference or attack. Such an agreement, he said, would be "a practical contribution toward settlement of the age-old controversy of the freedom of the seas" and would "make for prevention as well as limitation of war."

"The purpose of our government," he said, "is to co-operate with others. We believe that our contributions can best be made in these emergencies by our good offices and helpfulness free from any advance commitments or entanglements as to the character of our action."

In commemoration of the soldier dead the President asserted that when we look back upon the unselfishness, the self-sacrifice and the co-operation by both men and women in the great struggle, "we are looking not upon qualities which war creates but rather upon traits of the human race which war makes seem more vivid by contrast with its own horrors." He added that these same qualities were unsung during the days of peace.

PLEDGE TO TASK

"Those who died displaying them," he said, "would have displayed them living and would have wrought their fruits into the enduring fabric of our peaceful destiny. We can only pledge ourselves in honor to their memory to the task of making even more unlikely that our youth hereafter shall be denied its opportunity to devote its idealism and its energies to the constructive arts of peace."

The President and Mrs. Hoover acting for the nation's millions, visited the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington this morning. Mr. Hoover placed a wreath upon the tomb.

The President's simple tribute was but one of many such acts of devotion paid by representative citizens of the capital.

PLACES WREATH

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of the Navy Adams and Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the Army, with their aides, the Presidential party motored to Arlington shortly before 10 o'clock. The President was attended by his naval aide, Capt. Russell Train, and his military aide, Lieut.-Col. Campbell Hodges.

Arriving at the amphitheater, the members of the President's party paused as the army band played "The Star Spangled Banner." The Army, Navy and Marine guard at the tomb stood at attention as the President stepped forward and placed at its base a huge wreath of yellow chrysanthemums. As he stepped back Mrs. Hoover placed on the tomb a smaller bouquet of three chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge during her days in the White House inaugurated this custom, which Mrs. Hoover has continued. The former mistress of the White House placed a single white rose on the tomb, but last year, as this Armistice Day, Mrs. Hoover brought with her to the cemetery a small bouquet of flowers.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The text of the President's address follows in full:

Upon this day all thoughts must turn to our heroic dead whose lives were given in defense of the liberties and ideals of our country. Their contribution to these priceless heritages was made without reservation; they gave the full measure of their intelligence and energy and enthusiasm, and life itself, forfeiting their portion of further happiness—all that we and our children might live on more safely, more happily, and more assured of the precious blessings of security and peace.

A solemn obligation lies upon us to press forward in our pursuit of those things for which they died. Our duty is to seek ever new and widening opportunities to insure the world against the horror and irretrievable wastage of war. Much has been done, but we must wage peace continuously, with the same energy as they waged war.

TREATY ACHIEVED

This year 1930 has been rendered notable in peace annals in the achievement of the London naval treaty. That has disposed of one of those major frictions among the great naval powers—that is, competition in naval construction—and it has made a sensible advance in the reduction of warships.

The promotion of peace and prevention of war, however, cannot rest upon the accomplishments of any one year. The outlook for peace is happier than for half a century, yet we cannot overlook the fact that nations in many ways are always potentially in conflict. There are not only the accumulated age-old controversies and ambitions which are alive with prejudice, emotion, and passion, but you may be assured that there will always be an unceasing crop of new controversies between nations.

CONTACTS INCREASE

Every shift in power, every advance in communications, in trade and finance daily increases the points of contact of one nation with another. The diffusion of their citizens and their property abroad increasingly penetrates and overlaps into the four corners of the earth. The many inventions of these citizens, their ceaseless energies, bring an hourly grist to our foreign offices of contested right or grievance. It is true that many of these contacts make for understanding and good will; it is indeed of the first importance to peace that these happy influences be cultivated and that the unhappy ones be disposed of with justice and good will.

The Kellogg-Briand Pact, signed a little over two years ago to further safeguard against the dangers from these conflicts, has already become a powerful influence in international affairs. Several further states have adhered to its since last November, bringing the total number of nations up to fifty-eight which have renounced war as an instrument of national policy and have agreed to settle conflicts of whatever nature by pacific means. Five other states have expressed an intention to adhere, which will bring the total to sixty-three, a figure comprising all but two nations.

POTENT INSTRUMENT

By the recognition of this fundamental principle of peace and from the moral restraint that the covenant itself presents, this agreement has become one of the most potent instruments for peace which the world has ever forged for itself.

There has been much discussion as to the desirability of some further extension of the pact so as to effect a double purpose of assuring methodical development of this machinery of peaceful settlement and to insure at least the mobilization of world opinion against those who fail when strain comes. "I do not say that some such further step may not some day come about.

Such a formula would be stimulative and would appeal to the dramatic sense of the world as a mark in the progress of peace. But less dramatic and possibly even more sure is the day-to-day strengthening and buttressing of the pact by extension from one nation to another of treaties which, in times of friction, assure resort to well-tried processes of competent negotiation, of conciliation, and of arbitration.

PACTS COMPLETED

And we can in our own relations record great advancement in these fundamental but less dramatic supports to the pact during the two years since its signature. Up to the signature of the pact our country was bound by arbitration treaties to seven other nations. It was bound to twenty-six nations by conciliation treaties, both bilateral and multilateral. Since that time we have completed treaties with fifteen more countries, and in addition we have signed further arbitration and conciliation treaties with forty-five nations, of which twenty-six have been ratified and the others are either before the Senate or in course of presentation to it.

By these treaties of arbitration we pledge ourselves to the acceptance of the judgment of a disinterested third party in all controversies of a justiciable character. By treaties of conciliation we pledge ourselves to submit all other types of controversy to negotiations or the mediation of commissions which embrace representatives of disinterested nations.

ARBITRATION PLANNED

It is our purpose to develop in every way the use of arbitration and conciliation agreements in our relations with foreign nations.

Other nations of the world have likewise been engaged over years in the building up of the machinery for pacific settlement of controversies. There are hundreds of arbitration and conciliation treaties existing directly between them. Indeed, the Covenant of the League of Nations provides for arbitration and conciliation amongst fifty-four nations of the world.

It is my belief that the world will have become firmly interlocked with such agreements within a very few years, and that it will become an accepted principle of international law that disputes between nations which it has not been possible to determine through the ordinary channels of diplomacy shall in future be submitted to arbitration, or to international conciliation commissions.

EXTEND LAW

In the development of methods of pacific settlement, a great hope lies in ever extending the body and principles of international law on which such settlements will be based. The World Court is now a strongly established institution amongst forty-five nations as a continuing body, performing and facilitating justiciable determinations which can only be accomplished sporadically under special treaties of arbitration. Its permanence is assured and from it there is steadily growing a body of precedent, decisions, and acceptance of law in the formulation of which we should have a part, not alone in our own interest, but in advancement of peace.

FREEDOM OF SEAS

A year ago I made a suggestion of a practical contribution in settlement of an age-old controversy of freedom of the seas. I proposed that food supplies should be made immune from interference in time of war, and that the security of such supplies should be guaranteed by neutral transport and management. I proposed it not alone upon humane grounds, but that the haunting fears of nations who must live from over the sea might be relaxed and the sacrifices which they make for naval strength might be lessened. Our food supplies are assured, and it is, therefore, from us a disinterested proposal. It would make for prevention as well as limitation of war.

We, as a nation whose independence, liberties and securities were born of war, cannot contend that there never is or never will be righteous cause for war in the world. Nor can we assume that righteousness has so advanced in the world that we may yet have complete confidence in the full growth of pacific means or rest solely upon the processes of peace for defense.

PROBLEM MAY ARISE

With the progress the world has made in the installation of the methodical processes for the settlement of controversies, the larger problem emerges as to fidelity to agreement to use these methods. The thought and anxiety of the world is rightly directed to the question as to what the nations of the world will do in case of a failure to use them. It is useless for us to say that we have no interest in such events.

Since our experience in the World War no one will deny the dangers which foreign wars bring to our shores or the interest we must have in the peace of the world at large. But I do not hold that our obligation in these matters lies wholly on the basis of self-interest. It is upon its moral and spiritual strength that the advancement of the world must rest.

EFFECTIVE SERVICE

Our basis of co-operation to preserve peace among nations must be different from that of the other great nations of the world. The security of our geographic situation, our traditional freedom from entanglements in the involved diplomacy of Europe, and our disinterestedness enable us to give a different and in many ways a more effective service to peace.

The nations of Europe, bordered as they are by age-old dangers of which we in the Western Hemisphere have little appreciation, beset as they are by long-inherited fears, believe that they must subscribe to methods which in the last resort will use force to compel nations to abide by their agreements to settle controversies by pacific means. We, in our great state of safety and independence, should make no criticism of their conclusions which arise from their necessities.

CAN LEND AID

But we believe that our contribution can best be made in these emergencies, when nations fail to keep their undertakings of pacific settlement of disputes, by our good offices and helpfulness free from any advance commitment or entanglement as to the character of our action.

The purpose of our government is to co-operate with others, to use our friendly offices, and, short of any implication of the use of force, to use every friendly effort and all good will to maintain the peace of the world.

BLESSING OF PEACE

The war that ended on this day twelve years ago taught us one thing, if nothing else, and that is the blessing of peace. When we look back upon its splendid valor and heroism then displayed, when we remember the magnificent energies poured forth by young and old, when we recall the marvelous exercise of the greatest virtues that glorify the human race—unselfishness, self-sacrifice, co-operation, both by men and women—we are looking not upon qualities which war creates, but rather upon the traits of the human race which war makes seem more vivid by contrast with its own horrors. These same qualities are exercised, but are unsung and unheralded, in times of peace. Those who died displaying them would have displayed them living, and would have wrought their fruits into the enduring fabric of our peaceful destiny. We can only pledge ourselves, in honor of their memory, to the task of making ever more unlikely that our youth hereafter shall be denied its opportunity to devote its idealism and its energies to the constructive arts of peace.

CRASH KILLS AUTOIST

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Roy Bruner of Lordsburg (N. M.,) was killed almost instantly thirty-five miles north of here on the Florence highway tonight when the automobile in which he was a passenger plunged from the highway and overturned.

WALES WARNS AGAINST FORGETTING WAR EVILS

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—The Prince of Wales, speaking tonight before ex-service men and women who jammed the great Albert Hall for the British Legion's annual "Festival of Empire and Remembrance" made a striking appeal the rising generation should not be allowed to forget the horrors of war.

"We do not want another war," declared the Prince amid a storm of cheering. "We must not even contemplate one, above all, we must do our utmost to avoid any war."

The Prince warned, however, the World War must not be forgotten.

"To forget that, which means to neglect honoring those who fought, not only the fallen but the survivors, is a way to breed new wars," he said.

"If you read history you can find that in the past nations have been apt to take up arms lightheartedly, and the reason has generally been that the rising generations never realized the horrors that had happened before their day.

"This does not apply today, but there is danger in the rising generation's knowing little or nothing about the great war."

GREAT BRITAIN HONORS HEROES

Solemn Tribute Paid War Dead by Nation

King and Sons Bow Heads at Cenotaph Rites

Leaders From All Parts of Empire Participate

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Gray-haired men who were young twelve years ago when the guns in France fell silent, stood in crowds with their King about London's Cenotaph today as Britain paid the Armistice Day tribute to her war dead.

In Liverpool, where Lord Derby unveiled a new war memorial, at Calshot, where Germany's great airplane, DO-X, rested on the water, in every city and village of the kingdom, work stopped and men stood with bowed heads in two minutes of silence at 11 o'clock.

ROYAL FAMILY PRESENT

King George, who two years ago stood bareheaded in the rain and caught the cold which nearly resulted in his death, stood at the foot of the Cenotaph between his two sons, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York.

This time he was in uniform and did not remove his hat. Queen Mary watched the ceremony from a balcony near at hand. The prime ministers of the dominions, here for the Imperial Conference, and the princes of India, gathered here for the Indian round-table conference which begins tomorrow, stood in ranks behind the King in a truly representative gathering of the empire.

MILITARY PAGEANTS MARK PARIS CELEBRATION

PARIS, Nov. 11. (AP)—The first sun to favor the city in ten days cast its rays like a benediction today on the imposing military pageants that marked this city's observance of Armistice Day.

Even the muddy waters of the River Seine, which had been threatening a flood, appeased to have declared an armistice and started a retreat from the city's flooded wharves.

The most important ceremony, in which Americans took part, was at the Arc de Triomphe with President Doumergue, Premier Tardieu and seven ministers of the republic present. Marshal Petain and Gen. Gouraud, commanding four regiments lining the Champs Elysees and surrounding the Arc, and Admiral Violette represented the military forces.

During the ceremonies cannon at Mt. Valerian roared a salute of 101 guns, while at 11 a.m. the entire populace bared their heads and observed a moment's silence.

ALLIED VETERANS JOIN IN BELGIUM'S TRIBUTE

BRUSSELS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Armistice services at the tomb of Belgium's Unknown Soldier today bore testimony to the close comradeship which still unites Allied ex-service men. Delegations of the American, British, Italian and Russian legions, carrying their national colors, stood beside Belgium's former soldiers as King Albert laid his wreath upon the monument.

GRAIN MAN DIES

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11. (AP)—Charles W. Lonsdale, Kansas City grain man who last year refused a $50,000-a-year position as general manager of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, Farm Board organization, died late today.

NAVAL CUTS DENOUNCED BY JOHNSON

Senator Attacks "Robot Statesmen" in Armistice Day Speech at Fresno

FRESNO, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—United States Senator Johnson addressed a crowd of approximately 7000 persons at patriotic exercises in the Courthouse Park here today.

Attacking what he termed "robot statesmen," the Senator said they are to blame for the sacrifice of millions of dollars of American taxpayers' money and reduction of the American Navy to a strength below that of other leading powers, in what they termed a move for peace.

He said the pose of peace is but a sham to cover a multitude of shortcomings. Statesmanship is becoming mechanical and material and is marked by "pages of platitudes and pots of propaganda," he asserted.

He highly praised the leadership through which the American Army won victory after victory in France and said that without such leadership, which made an individual entity of the American forces rather than fill-ins for European armies, such an achievement would not have been possible. While not mentioning Gen. Pershing by name, Senator Johnson paid him high tribute.

DISEASE CURED BY SODA FIZZ

Oxygen and Carbon Dioxide Rout Pneumonia

Mixed Gases Administered Through Inhalator

Cures Won in Many Cases During Test Stage

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—The administration of soda fizz, a mixture of oxygen and carbon dioxide, through the common inhalator is the latest contribution toward the war on pneumonia.

Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, and associated companies, announced yesterday the new treatment had been turned over to the medical profession. It had been used in 127 cases involving Edison employees, he said, and of eighty-five patients treated in the preliminary stages, seventy had recovered.

NOT GENERAL CURE

The experiments were based on research carried out by Dr. Yandell Henderson of Yale University and while the method is not considered a general cure for the disease it is believed to be a valuable aid.

Although treatment of pneumonia with pure oxygen has been used for years, leading physicians said this was the first organized attempt to mix the two gases as a remedy. Some expressed skepticism on the grounds the number of cases in which it had been used was too small for evaluation.

STRENGTHENS HEART

D. J. J. Wittmer, head of the medical department of the Edison company, said the method is still in the experimental stage and should not be considered as a positive cure.

"As an adjunct to the regular pneumonia treatment the mixture has had remarkable success," he said. "I think the basis is sound and logical and the idea of carbon dioxide and oxygen overcoming atalectasis concerned with pneumonia in relieving cyanosis will thereby induce decreased heart strain. Since a great deal of the mortality from pneumonia is because of heart weakening any aid we can give the heart adds to the chances of recovery of the patient."

Liquor-Laden Plane Seized

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Prohibition officers here today were notified by telephone from Columbia, Miss., that Sheriff Walsdorf there had confiscated an airplane, presumably from Michigan, heavy laden with choice liquors.

Sheriff Walsdorf advised the prohibition department he arrested the operators of the plane and recommended that charges be filed against them. In prohibition circles the opinion revealed the shipment was intended for New Orleans bootleggers and the plane stopped at Columbia for refueling.

HER TORN LICENSE DELAYED WEDDING

Anita Kerry

ARMISTICE HOUR KNOT TIED LATER

Actress Anita Kerry and Broker Fiance Had Torn Up Marriage License

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (Exclusive) With the scraps of a torn-up marriage license and craving for an Armistice-hour wedding, Miss Anita Kerry, actress, and James E. Sauter, a broker, dashed into the municipal chapel today.

"Can we get married on these?" Sauter asked with a grin, indicating the scraps. "We got the license yesterday but had an argument last night and tore it up."

The chapel clerk suggested it would be better to have a duplicate made out in the license bureau downstairs.

"But its only a minute or so until 11 o'clock," protested Miss Kerry, "and we wanted to be married right on the hour."

"Everybody stops work and faces to the east at 11 o'clock," reminded the clerk, and so they waited. After the two-minute observance of the Armistice they got a new license and were married.

Miss Kerry, who gave her age as 24 years, in private life is Miss Anita Schultze, daughter of Dr. Ernest C. Schultze. Sauter is vice-president of Theodore Prince & Co. here.

DESTINY HINGED TO INDIA PARLEY

Round Table Conference Has Much at Stake

King of England Will Open Proceedings Today

Population of Vast Area Divided Many Ways

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—The destiny of a country nearly as large as the United States, crowded with 350,000,000 people of conflicting racial strains and religious beliefs, is at stake in the Indian round-table conference which King George will inaugurate in the royal gallery of the House of Lords at noon tomorrow.

His address and its import may be the foremost moment of his reign, for no conference of modern times—not even the five-power naval parley, which the King opened in the same great hall last January—has been weighted down with such responsibilities regarding the future of the British Empire.

MAY FORM UNION

Out of it may come a United States of India within the British realm. But the torrent of Indian problems is far more complex than that which the American States faced in their federalization, for the inhabitants of this vast Asiatic territory speak 222 languages and are divided into 2300 castes and subcastes.

Moreover, dotted over the face of India lie more than 500 autonomus States whose ruling princes owe allegiance to the British King-Emperor, but whose domains are outside the governing system of British provinces in India. The millions of Indians in these States are not British subjects.

ALL SPEAK ENGLISH

For weeks eighty-six delegates—fifty-seven from the British provinces, sixteen from the autonomous Indian States, including nine ruling princes, and thirteen members of the British Parliament—have been assembling in London.

But their informal preliminary negotiations have served only to emphasize the tremendous problem they face in achieving the goal of responsible self-government for India and tonight, on the eve of the meeting, no agreed program of procedure has been reached.

The only thing in common in this medley of races, tongues, castes and creeds is the English language, which all speak and which is the only means whereby all of India's clashing forces can voice their differences. Thus Hindus, Moslems, Buddhists, Parsees, spokesmen of the "untouchables," Indian women and members of the British Parliament will debate in a common tongue.

NEW TICKET SALE PLAN SUCCEEDS

Postal Telegraph and Theaters in New York War on Speculator

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—With the first night's results for proof, officials of the League of New York Theaters and of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company were of the opinion today their co-operative plan to sell tickets at a nominal increase over the box-office price was a success.

Harlow D. Savage, executive secretary of the league, Clinton B. Allsopp, vice-president of Postal, and former Gov. Smith, the people's representative on the league's board, witnessed the redeeming of the first postal orders at various theaters last night and said they believed the system will mean the end of the "gyp" ticket speculator.

According to the plan put in effect last week, patrons bought their tickets to Broadway shows at various Postal Telegraph offices and received orders on the box office for their seats. These were redeemed without confusion or complaint at twenty-three houses for the first time last night. The additional cost was 50 cents.

The majority of the sixteen theater managers who comprise the league were satisfied with the initial result.

Chairman Legge Admits He Will Quit 'Some Time'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Chairman Legge of the Farm Board denied rumors today he had resigned, but indicated he will resign before the expiration of the six-year term to which he was appointed last June.

He pointed out he already has served as chairman longer than the year he agreed upon in accepting appointment from President Hoover when the board was organized.

While he gave no indication as to the time he will resign, he said smilingly he will quit "some time" if he is not "fired" in the meanwhile.

FALL OFF STAIR KILLS DIPLOMAT

Foot Slips When He Leans Low Over Banister

He Had Romantic Career as Soldier of Fortune

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11. (AP)—Edward P. Lowry, soldier of fortune and second Secretary of the American Embassy here, slipped on a stairway at the American Club today and fell three stories to his death in the patio.

In his lifetime Lowry survived bolo knife wounds received in the Philippines, rounded up rug thieves as a major of Persian gendarmerie, dodged bullets in France and served as a colonel of the Lithuanian army; friends thought he bore a charmed life—until today.

Last night he attended a meeting of the Mexico City post of the American Legion, a good-natured affair which the banter of friends and former comrades-in-arms prolonged until far past midnight.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

As he left he leaned low over a banister to speak to a friend in the patio below, his foot slipped and he fell thirty feet to the patio's marble floor, dying instantly.

Arthur Bliss, charge d'affaires, took charge of the body and informed Washington of the accident by telephone. An attempt was made to reach Mrs. Lowry, who, with their daughter, is understood to be en route from her Indiana home to New Orleans, from where she was to return to Mexico City. Their two small sons were with their father here.

Lowry was in his early forties and was one of the most colorful characters in the diplomatic service. He served as a private in the Philippines in 1906, later entering the Persian gendarmerie, where he rose to the rank of major. His love of adventure took him to France with America's entry into the war and he served as an officer in the A.E.F.

NUMEROUS OFFICES

After the war he became a colonel in the Lithuanian army, and was attached to the country's mission in Washington. Then he became Vice-Consul and an American Consul in Mexico and acted in that post at Guadalajara throughout the Cristero or religious rebellion.

He was transferred back to Mexico City as Consul and left the office a year and a half ago to take an Embassy post under Ambassador Morrow. Early this year, during an absence of Ambassador Morrow, and after Herschel Johnston, the first secretary, had gone to Washington to become head of the Mexican section of the State Department, Lowry served as American charge d' affaires here.

He was known as a man of exceptional ability and had a host of friends.

STATE DEPARTMENT EXPRESSES ITS REGRET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—An official expression of regret was made by the State Department today over the accidental death of Edward P. Lowry, second secretary of the American Embassy in Mexico City.

"In Mr. Lowry's death," a department statement said, "the government loses a loyal and efficient officer whose service and personality endeared him to all who knew him."

J. Reuben Clark, Jr., American Ambassador to Mexico, who will leave for his post next week, also expressed personal regret over Mr. Lowry's death.

Lowry was born at Lancaster, Wis., August 5, 1887, and made his home at Paris, Ill. He attended the United States Military Academy and later was a teacher. He was appointed to the foreign service as a Vice-Consul in 1921 and served in Cuba and Mexico.

PLANT PEST CONTROL TO BE UNIFIED

Regional Plan Adopted by Secretary Hyde to Further Co-operation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A regional plan for closer co-ordination of pest-control work has been approved by Secretary Hyde.

Biological survey field workers engaged in a co-operative campaign for the control of injurious rodents and predatory animals will be grouped, effective January 1, in four sections.

Regional supervisors have been named to maintain contact with State leaders and also with the administrative bureau in Washington.

James Silver, at present leader of the eastern rodent-control district, will supervise region No. 1, comprising all States east of the Mississippi River. His offices will be in Washington.

Leo L. Laythe, with headquarters at Denver, will supervise region No. 2, including Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota, Colorado and Utah.

In region No. 3, with headquarters at Portland, Or., Ira N. Gabrielson will be the supervisor. This region includes Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Nevada and California.

Don A. Gilchrist will have charge of region No. 4, including Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. His headquarters will be at Phoenix, Ariz.

Raskob to Make Catholic Church $250,000 Gift

CHESTERTOWN (Md.) Nov. 11. (AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has bought a tract of several acres in Queen Anne's county near his Pioneer Point Farms estate and plans to erect a Catholic church and rectory to cost $250,000, diocese officials said today.

Erection of a school also is under consideration, they said.

The contribution would be the largest single gift to the Wilmington diocese, comprising Delaware and part of Maryland, though Raskob is said to have given more than $1,000,000 altogether.

ATTACK BY WAHABIS RECALLS OLD TIMES

JERUSALEM, Nov. 11. (AP)—Ancient historical times were recalled today by an attack of 1500 Wahabi horsemen of the trans Jordan Howeitat tribe. The Wahabais, after robbing the Howeitat of their camels, cut the herdsmen's hair and beards. "Go to your Emir and tell him that next time your heads will be cut off," said the Wahabis leader.

CURSING PARROT TO TALK HIMSELF INTO NEW HOME

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11. (AP)—That red-headed, cursing parrot, which, because he swears more fluently than the proverbial sea cook, cannot live in the St. Louis zoo, will get a good home, anyway.

Nation-wide publicity he received from a little story telling of his swearing proclivities and his predicament has brought more than 500 letters to the zoo from all parts of the country and Canada, and he is to be sold to the highest bidder. An offer of $50 has been received.

Most of the letters are from women, a lot from shut-ins and sick people, a few from sailors in the Navy, fraternity houses at colleges, several young men residents at Y.M.C.A.'s, country clubs, and one from a wealthy man at St. Petersburg, Fla., who writes he has a 17,000-acre estate and the "parrot can use any language he chooses."

Most of the women say they believe they could reform the bird, and one in Roanoke, Va., said she would teach the parrot "to pray instead of swear." Several bachelors said they want the pet and he can talk as he pleases.

Taxicab Drivers' 'Joke' on Officer Leads to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Some taxicab drivers thought they would have fun early today with Policeman Joseph J. Palermo, new on the force.

One of them ran up to Palermo crying out that a near-by restaurant was being held up.

Officer Palermo rushed to the place. A man was just coming out, but when he saw the policeman he backed up. Witnesses said the man made a move as though to draw a pistol.

The policeman took no chances. He fired, sending two bullets into the head of Thomas Ottati, a cab driver.

It was just a practical joke on a new policeman; but Thomas Ottati is dead.

YOUR CHEAPEST NECESSITY . . .

YOUR fire insurance dollar pays for indemnity—for immunity against financial loss when calamity overtakes you. But that dollar buys so much more than the indemnity it pays for that it ranks as one of the most effective dollars you spend.

Fire insurance, from the indemnity standpoint alone, is one of the cheapest of present-day necessities. Its cost has consistently declined for many years—even during the period of war inflation.

And this in spite of the fact that insurance service—as rendered by the more than 250 Stock companies constituting the National Board of Fire Underwriters—has multiplied its activities for the public welfare and greatly enlarged their scope.

Research and Engineering

Your fire insurance dollar may pay for indemnity only, but for good measure provides engineering and research services to make life and property safer—laboratories in which to test materials and devices—scientific measurement of fire hazards — building construction codes—arson detection and investigation—organized fire prevention—and other voluntary measures designed to lower the fire waste and thereby reduce the cost of fire insurance.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

A thorough understanding of what Stock Fire Insurance really means and does—and greater public use of its facilities—will result in a still further reduction of the fire waste and a consequently greater service to the insuring public.

BAIL CANCELED FOR GANGSTERS

Surety Company Supports Chicago Judge

Round-up of Hoodlums Free on Bonds Forecast

Capone Aides Among Many Who Face Jail

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—As the result of Judge Lyle's campaign against the practice of bonding companies furnishing bail for notorious gangsters and hoodlums, Frank Nitti, "brains" of the Capone gang; Frank Rio, another Capone gangster, and many others free on bonds furnished by the Grand Central Surety Company of New York, today were ordered surrendered and their bonds canceled by the president of the company.

Indications tonight are, therefore, that some of the hoodlums who are out on bail pending trial on vagrancy charges, will have to go to jail until they are tried. The president, Leslie J. Tompkins, professor of law at New York University, took this action at the request of Judge Lyle, and expressed surprise that branch managers of his company had knowingly furnished bonds for dangerous gangsters and criminals.

Prof. Tomkins sent orders to all branches of the company to cancel all such bonds immediately and to surrender persons so bonded to the authorities. He also ordered that bonds be refused in the future to persons with criminal records.

Judge Lyle praised Prof. Tomkins for "his Americanism," and indicated he will direct the police to aid in rounding up all persons with criminal records who are free on bonds of the company. He also intimated that any forfeitures of such bonds will be set aside.

HEROINE OF FIRE BURNS TO DEATH

Veteran Teacher Who Saved 2500 Pupils Fails to Escape Blaze

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Miss Sarah Bleakley, the oldest schoolteacher in the city, once marshaled 2500 pupils from flames to safety but she couldn't save her own life in a gas stove blaze.

While she was cooking in her upper East Side apartment, her clothes caught fire last night and she collapsed from burns and smoke. She died in a hospital.

Three of her pets perished with her. A Pomeranian dog died of suffocation and two cats were trapped in the blazing kitchen. A second Pomeranian and another cat were in the front of the house and were saved.

Miss Bleakley, who was 70 years of age and had been a teacher forty-nine years, was given a medal by a newspaper for her heroism in a fire in 1908. Smelling smoke while in class, she quietly wrote a note to the principal and the school fire drill was sounded, sending the 2500 boys and girls to the street without a trace of panic.

AILMENT FATAL TO T. C. DU PONT

dustry as general manager of the Johnson Steel Company at Johnstown, Pa. He remained with that company until 1900, meanwhile launching into the street railway business with the purchase of the lines in Johnstown, of which he became president. Other street railway properties were acquired in New York, New Jersey and Alabama.

RETIRES AT 37 YEARS

When he severed his connections with the Johnson Steel Company, Mr. Du Pont returned to the mining industry as president of various coal and iron companies in Kentucky. Having amassed what he regarded as a sufficient fortune when he reached his thirty-seventh birthday anniversary, he retired from active business and went to live at Wilmington, Del., the home of his ancestors and of the great Du Pont powder industry.

Two years later, upon the death of Eugene Du Pont, who had been head of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., his brother had decided to sell the property. It was then that T. Coleman Du Pont was persuaded to come out of his retirement and assume the management of the company. The Du Ponts at that time controlled several other companies similarly engaged.

These were consolidated into one company, which was called the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company, with Coleman Du Pont as president and general manager. The business of the new organization grew apace, so fast, in fact, that in five years it was referred to as one of the leading "trusts" of the country.

COMPANY SPLIT UP

The business attained such proportions that it attracted the attention of the United States government, which in July, 1907, brought suit to dissolve the corporation on the ground that it was operating in violation of the Sherman antitrust law. A decree was issued ordering the dissolution of the so-called "trust," and by agreement with the Attorney-General the business was divided into the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Company, the Hercules Powder Company and the Atlas Powder Company.

After reorganizing the company Mr. Du Pont resigned the presidency in 1914 and accepted the chairmanship of the board of the Equitable Office Building Corporation. In that capacity he devoted his time to the construction of the Equitable Building, then the largest office structure in the world. He then purchased from J. P. Morgan & Co. the controlling interest in the Equitable Life Assurance Society, mutualized the organization and then disposed of his stock to the policy-holders without profit on his investment.

MORE DEVOTION TO PLAY URGED

Committee Points Way to Aid Children

"Own Home Yard" Voted Best Spot of All

Report Says Youths Learn to Face Life's Issues

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Adaptation of child play to the industrial age to save the physical integrity of the nation was urged today in the report of Henry Breckenridge, chairman of the physical education committee, prepared for the coming White House child health conference.

Declaring more than half the population is urban already, the physical education committee pronounced a program of play imperative to enable young people to meet life's problems "with clear vision and strong purpose" in an age representing the "paradox" of auto, airplane and radio luxury, contrasted with poverty, unemployment and overcrowded jails.

Portable playgrounds, itinerant play leaders, and the "tot lot" for the toddlers, play equipment in hotels and aboard steamships were among the more modern suggestions.

However, the child's "own home yard" came to the top when a vote was taken among experts as to the best spot for play.

After graduation from the myriad scientific baby-books of early infancy, before reaching the well-planned play of kindergarten, American children were found to be in greatest need of attention from the child experts to confer here next week.

Research, education of leaders, and authoritative data on play places, play materials, play leadership for the children were recommended.

Rural children were also found lacking in play facilities.

SOVIET UNFOLDS HUGE PLOT TALE

stall a "bourgeois democratic republic" and in return for their support their foreign allies were to share some of Russia's richest sources of wealth.

Britain was to have the Caucasian oil fields, France other valuable concessions; Poland was to share the Ukraine with France, and other allies were to be rewarded proportionately.

The new government was virtually decided upon, with Ramsin as its most likely head, the asserted confessions said.

In the background of the preparatory plotting, the soviet government charges, was a "trade industrial committee" with headquarters at Paris through which exiled Russian financiers passed 1,000,000 gold rubles into the revolutionary treasury via "certain high officials of a certain French institution at Moscow."

The indictment on which Ramsin and his seven associates are held, and the asserted confessions of the conspirators avoid mention of names, but it is implied the only "French institution" at Moscow is the French Embassy.

IMPORTANT ROLES PLAYED

Through the "institution," the government charges, Poincare and Briand played their important parts in the plot. Other foreign allies contributed their assistance through the "trade industrial committee" at Paris.

The eight prisoners, four of them educators and the others engineers, are to be tried at a special sitting of the soviet Supreme Court on charges of high treason, counter-revolutionary activities and espionage, the punishment for any of which is death.

Moscow newspapers devoted many pages today to the indictment and confessions, with editorials the general tenor of which was that this asserted plot, like others in the past, was "instigated and financed by foreign powers."

"Capitalist nations," one editorial declared, "will never abandon their evil designs upon the soviet republic." Others saw in the new charges a warning Russia must strengthen her defenses against invasion.

FRANCE ASTONISHED AT PLOT CHARGE

PARIS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Government representatives expressed astonishment today at dispatches from Moscow saying agents of former Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand had been acting in concert with Russians charged with treasonable acts against the soviet union, declaring such charges are utterly without foundation.

In authorized quarters it was said Foreign Minister Briand has no connection whatever with any groups of Russian agitators.

So far as former Premier Poincare is concerned, it was pointed out he is no longer in power and it is out of the question that he was involved in any such affair.

LONDON OFFICIALS AMUSED AT NEWS

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Official circles here were mildly amused today at news from Moscow that the soviet press was carrying details of a plot in which prominent Britishers, presumably with the knowledge of the British government, were engaged to overthrow the soviet regime.

The names of Sir Henri Deterding, Col. Lawrence, Lord Churchill, Sir Phillip of Vickers and others were mentioned in connection with the Moscow conspiracy, but none of these was available for comment tonight.

America's Dope Plan Indorsed

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—The preliminary conference on the limitation of narcotics closed tonight with the soviet Russian delegates reported to have backed the American scheme for control of narcotic traffic.

The American plan is for each country consuming narcotics to make its needs known for medical and scientific purposes and to list the names of countries from which it intends to buy.

FORMER CRUISER BREAKS LOOSE AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—The former United States cruiser Missoula, in tow of the United States cutter Saranac, has broken loose again and once more is adrift, according to advices to the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce tonight. The information said the Missoula is adrift off the Oregon coast, although a previous message gave the location of the Missoula and Saranac as opposite Humboldt Bay. There are eleven men on the cruiser, which was en route to Oakland to be dismantled.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60.—[Advertisement.

Tal Vez se Defiera el Jurado del Doctor Fiske

Debido a la grave enfermedad del doctor William C. Fiske, acusado de la muerte de Vera Nelson, muchacha de 19 años de Los Angeles, como resultado de una supuesta operación ilícita, se va a suspender quizá la vista de su causa, que debía comenzar hoy en la sala del juez superior Hardy.

Se han puesto en manos de la acusación pruebas del grave mal que aqueja al doctor Fiske. Afirman los defensores que el anciano médico se halla aún confinado en la sala de presos del Hospital General, donde padece de toda una complicación de dolencias, y cualquiera de ellas puede llevarlo a la tumba.

Cuando fue detenido por la policía el doctor Fiske, éste lo rescató de un cuarto saturado de gas, donde, según aseguran los guardias había resuelto el facultativo poner fin a su vida, al ver que la señorita Nelson había perdido la suya a consecuencia, dice la autoridad, de una operación que él le practicó.

De este último se sabe que espera venir a pasar una temporada con su hermana antes del próximo período de sesiones del senado. El año pasado pasó varias semanas en el Hotel Miramar de Santa Mónica.

Las Campanas de la Catedral de Méjico Repicarán de Nuevo

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Noviembre 11.—Las campanas de la catedral de Méjico volverán a llamar a los oficios, pues el campanero Anastasio Mayorga ha salido ya de la cárcel.

Por primera vez en más de 100 años, estuvieron mudas las campanas el domingo, en virtud de que Anastasio Mayorga Reyes, campanero que ha vivido en la torre de la iglesia los 42 años que tiene de existencia, había sido aprehendido como comunista, a raíz de haberse descubierto un pabellón comunista en la torre. La policía le ordenó, al ponerlo en libertad, que se presentara periódicamente a dar cuenta de su conducta. Dícese que los verdaderos responsables de haber colgado la dicha bandera en la torre han sido ya arrestados.

Heroína de un Incendio Perece Víctima de las Llamas

NUEVA YORK, Noviembre 11.—La señorita Sarah Gleakley, la maestra más vieja de la ciudad, y que en una ocasión salvó de las llamas a 2500 chicos de escuela, no pudo anoche salvar su vida de la llama de una estufa de gas.

Al estar cocinando anoche en su apartamiento del East Side, prendió el fuego a sus vestidos, y la infortunada maestra perdió el conocimiento por las quemaduras y el humo asfixiante. Murió luego en el hospital.

Tres de sus animalitos consentidos perecieron con ella. Un perrito de Pomerania murió sofocado, y dos gatos quedaron cogidos en la cocina que ardía. Otro perro de igual raza y un segundo gato, que se hallaban en el frente de la casa, salieron con vida.

La señorita Bleakley, que tenía sesenta años de edad y cuarenta y nueve de enseñar, recibió una medalla que, por su heroísmo, le dio un periódico en 1908. La maestra olió a humo estando en clase. Con toda sangre fría, le escribió un recado a la directora para que diera el toque de ejercicios de incendio. Niños y niñas, creyendo se trataba tan sólo de instrucción en caso de fuego, salieron en correcta formación hasta la calle sin una huella siquiera de pánico.

Trágica Broma de unos Conductores de Taxi

NUEVA YORK, Noviembre 11.—Unos chóferes de taxi quisieron divertirse hoy temprano con el policía Joseph J. Palermo, recién entrado en la fuerza pública.

Corrió uno de ellos hacia donde estaba Palermo, gritando que había un atraco en un restaurant vecino.

Palermo corrió inmediatamente hacia la fonda. Un hombre salía a la sazón de ésta, y al ver que se le abalanzaba un policía, se echó atrás. Dicen algunos testigos que el individuo en cuestión hizo ademán de sacar una pistola. El guardia no quiso exponerse a ser muerto, y disparó dos balazos a la cabeza de Thomas Ottati, chófer de taxi.

No se trataba sino de una novatada a expensas de un policía bisoño; pero de ella resultó un cadáver: el de Thomas Ottati.

Raskob Donará $250,000 para una Iglesia Católica

CHESTERTOWN (Marilandia), Noviembre 11.—John J. Raskob, presidente del Comité Democrático Nacional, ha comprado un terreno de varios acres en el condado de Queen Anne, y se propone levantar allí una iglesia católica y una rectoría, presupuestas en $250,000. Tal dicen las autoridades eclesiásticas de la diócesis.

FRANKIE YALE'S KIN TARGET OF GANGSTERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Gangsters emptied a stream of shots today into a Brooklyn undertaking parlor run by the brother of the late Frankie Yale, but they succeeded only in riddling a portrait of Frankie which hung on the wall. Frankie Yale was killed by gangsters two years ago in a foray in which Jack Diamond, his bodyguard, now recuperating from another gang assault, was wounded.

Don't neglect a COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to serious trouble—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if relief is not noticed in every hour for five hours. Musterole is a clean, white ointment made of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients. It brings relief naturally. Musterole is preferred by many mothers because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve or ointment, but one that penetrates and stimulates blood circulation to help to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes. Hospital Size Jars—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. ENFORCEMENT'S PROGRESS TOLD

Justice Department Reports Four Months' Figures

Arrests of 22,127 Recorded, 13,000 Convicted

Beer and Spirits Seizures Near 4,000,000 Gallons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Enforcement of the national prohibition laws during the month of October resulted in the arrest of 4948 persons, making a total of 22,127 arrests for that cause since last July 1.

Figures made public by the Prohibition Bureau of the Department of Justice today showed that at the end of October 23,188 criminal prohibition cases were pending while during the month 407 persons were convicted, 5893 pleaded guilty and 1186 were acquitted or their cases dismissed.

13,000 PENALIZED

The statement said since the start of the fiscal year last July 925 persons had been convicted, 12,657 had pleaded guilty and 2362 had been acquitted or their cases dismissed.

During the month the average of jail sentences imposed was 208 days and the average fine $125. The total jail sentences for the month amounted to 733,422 days and the fines to $576,936. Since last July 1 the jail sentences have totaled 1,499,146 days and the fines have aggregated $1,383,388.

DISCREPANCY EXPLAINED

The number of cases pending showed a drop of approximately 800 as compared with September 30 but the bureau explained this was caused by elimination of State cases, which some deputies were including in their reports on Federal charges.

The statement showed during October 419 permanent injunctions were issued against bootleggers, 242 judgments for forfeitures obtained and 613 automobiles seized. During the month prohibition agents captured 1676 stills and 6153 beer fermenters. The beer captures amounted to 469,313 gallons, while they confiscated 125,364 gallons of distilled spirits. These seizures brought the total since July 1 to 3,282,394 gallons of beer and 427,850 gallons of distilled spirits.

He-Poet Meets She-Poet and They Decide on Complet, So Rev.-Poet Weds 'em

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (AP)—Everything was poetic in the marriage of Nelson R. Brownyer and Miss Bessie Mier, ooth of Detroit.

Both are poets. They were married by a poet, Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker, in the little church at the end of the road, the walls of which are crowded with manuscripts.

Seeking a lyrical atmosphere they flew here yesterday in an airplane, or, as some poet might say, "on wings of love."

WAR FILMS AND FICTION FLAYED

Patriotism Menaced, Says Paul C. Wolman

Campaign Urged to "Debunk the Debunkers"

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11. (AP)—Writers of war fiction and directors of motion-picture war plays were accused of menacing patriotism, in an Armistice Day statement today by Paul C. Wolman, Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The manner in which the authors of modern war fiction and film directors have pictured the World War doughboy as a made-moiselle-chasing, liquor-drinking, Paris tourist has done more to undermine the principles of patriotism and good citizenship than nearly any other factor in every-day life," Wolman said.

"Not content with maligning the memory of those who died on the fields of Flanders, these so-called debunking artists have sought to strip the nation's historical figures of the respect and loyalty their deeds inspired.

"Young America finds itself confused and mystified. Facts learned in school are being ruthlessly ridiculed and denied—beliefs have been shattered.

"A serious menace exists and a determined counter-action is the only solution. The nation is sorely in need of a campaign of education along the lines of patriotism, not the flag-waving, spell-binding brand of the old school, but a practical patriotism that debunks the debunkers and contributes constructively to the preservation of ideals."

PENNSYLVANIAN'S FALL DOWN WELL ENCORED

GALLITZIN (Pa.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Joe Isreal, 50 years of age, is sure he knows the answer to the one about how long will it take a man to get out of a well if he slips back one foot every time he climbs two feet. He fell down a fifty-foot well twice yesterday. None the worse for the first fall, Joe had climbed to within a few inches of the top of the well, when he lost his hold and fell to the bottom a second time. Then neighbors called out the fire department and he was rescued with only a few minor bruises.

POLE-TRIP DEBT WORRIES BYRD

Antarctic Expedition Still $110,000 "in Hole"

Explorer Reveals Battle to Balance Ledger

Declines to Discuss Plans Until Work's Over

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—Rear-Admiral Byrd, who addressed the Geographic Society of Chicago tonight, is confronted with the problem of liquidating the debts of his Antarctic expedition, which he considers serious, before undertaking any further exploring adventures.

"We must get out of debt before I can discuss any plans for the future," he said in an interview. "Almost every day I receive calls for help from some of the men who were with me and I cannot turn them down. The hard times have dealt us a serious blow. At present the Antarctic expedition is $110,000 in debt.

"The film 'With Byrd at the South Pole,' is not making anything to speak of. It was very successful in Chicago, where it was most popular, but the returns are small on the whole."

TO PUBLISH BOOKS

Admiral Byrd revealed that the scientific results of his expedition will be assimilated and published in four large volumes in about a year. A committee of twelve of the explorers including himself now are engaged in compiling the data, geologic, hydrographic, meteorologic, magnetic, biologic and geographic, he said. The volumes will constitute a complete scientific survey of the south polar regions together with a survey of the Bay of Whales and the new mountain ridge discovered by the party. Admiral Byrd himself is working day and night, on trains and in hotels between lectures on the narrative of the expedition, which shall be called "Little America."

The explorer did not deny that his plans for the next expedition already are well shaped when it was recalled that the trans-Atlantic flight was planned when he returned from the North Pole and the South Pole expedition was outlined in his mind when he returned from the trans-Atlantic flight. But he declined to discuss the future of exploration pending the settlement of the $110,000 debt.

POLES DIFFERENT

Admiral Byrd described the vast difference between the North and South Poles in his lecture at Orchestra Hall this evening and related some of the adventures of the expedition before the showing of his picture "Little America."

"The south polar region is cold and silent, the most silent place in the world. The temperature frequently was 70 deg. below zero, so cold that the Eskimos and their dogs could not live there."

FESS UNDER FIRE OF WET PARTY WING

Illinoisan Says Senator Speaks for Self Alone; Demands His Ouster

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Attacks from two antiprohibition quarters were directed today at Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican National Committee, for his warning against measures to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, said: "When Senator Fess says 'prohibition is here to stay,' he is talking for himself and not as chairman of the Republican National Committee." He advocated the committee select another chairman.

Former Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of New York, a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, took issue with the Ohioan's suggestion that the Republican party would split if it favored repeal.

"We want our party to be right," Wadsworth said, "on the only fundamental constitutional issue that has arisen since the days of the Civil War, and we will fight to make it right, split or no split."

Both said Senator Fess was unable to see progress toward repeal.

BELGIAN CABINET RESIGNS

Action Due to Dispute Over Use of Flemish Language at College

BRUSSELS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Premier Henri Jaspar and his Cabinet today offered their resignations to King Albert, who reserved decision on acceptance.

The resignation is the culmination of a dispute concerning the use of the Flemish and French languages. Recently the government prohibited professors of the Ghent State University, which now uses Flemish, to lecture at its Ghent Institute for high studies, where French is the language in use.

As a result of this decision the Liberal Federation met last night and repudiated the action of the Minister of Education, who was responsible for the university edict, and asked the five Liberal members of the Cabinet to have the ruling withdrawn.

The five Liberals, however, had approved the measure in the first place and they decided to resign rather than to ask its withdrawal.

The language question long has been troublesome in Belgium, although freedom to use either language is one of the principles of the Constitution.

PICKED-UP GIRL KIDNAPED

New York Taxi Driver's Red-headed Companion, Cash and Car Taken by Bandit, He Reports

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—A pretty red-haired girl, otherwise unidentified, was kidnaped early today by a masked bandit in the secluded section of Queens where the mysterious "3-X" killer committed two murders several months ago.

Joseph Luisi, 30 years of age, who brought news of the kidnaping to police, is a taxi driver. Last night was his night off so he borrowed his brother's sedan and went for a ride.

About midnight while driving down Eighth avenue in New York Luisi saw the pretty girl and invited her to go riding. Before they got to the point of exchanging names Luisi had been robbed of $7, his sedan and his girl.

They had stopped riding about 3 a.m. near Bayside, Queens, Luisi said, about halfway between the two places where "3-X" committed his murders. A man suddenly appeared beside the car. He was about six feet tall and wore a mask over his face.

Luisi recalled that Noel Sowley and Joseph Moyzinski had been slain by a mysterious assassin while sitting in parked cars with girl friends. At the man's command he hurriedly got out of the car and submitted to search of his pockets. The man took all he had, the $7, and ordered, "Now walk away."

The girl started to get out of the car as the masked man got into the driver's seat but he ordered her to remain where she was. He started the car and as he drove away Luisi heard the girl scream.

sary, and when such controversies as arise may be settled by the methods of justice and not through the tyranny of force."

Secretary Hurley said the maintenance "of a high state of morale and efficiency" in the Army "must be a matter of serious concern to us all."

"Nothing contained in the present national defense plans," he added, "is inconsistent with the essential peace-mindedness of the people of the United States."

Gen. Pershing, recalling that "we fought to destroy militarism in the world," warned "much unrest and distrust still prevails."

TAUNT HURLED AT LADY ASTOR

'Never Earned Penny' Shouts Left Winger

Education Bill Debate Develops Row

Offending Member Punished by Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Lady Astor was the central figure in a sharp debate in the House of Commons this afternoon, which revolved about the clause in the education bill raising from 14 to 15 the age at which children may leave school, and granting a maintenance fund to parents of school children between those ages.

"You never earned a penny in your life," the left-winger, McGovern, shouted across the House at the Peeress at one point in the exchange between Conservatives and Labor extremists.

The debate began when McGovern, answering a Conservative assertion that parents do not want to leave their children in school for an extra year, exclaimed, "That's a lie." He was asked to withdraw the observation.

He refused to retract, however, and the Speaker, in the full dignity of wig and gown, was sent for.

Sir Charles Travelyan, president of the Board of Education, moved the recalcitrant member be suspended and the motion was carried by a vote of 305 to 40.

COURT GIVES DAMAGES IN SANITY CASE

British Subject Awarded $4500 in Suit Charging Malicious Prosecution

PHOENIX, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—Deliberating only three hours, a jury in Superior Court here late last night returned a verdict for $4500 damages in favor of A. E. Russell, British subject now residing in Los Angeles, in a suit against Ralph Murphy, real estate operator here, asserting malicious prosecution.

Russell sued for $15,000. The case was an outgrowth of an insanity complaint filed against Russell by Murphy.

In 1919, it was charged, Russell and W. J. Murphy, deceased father of the defendant in the damage case, were involved in some business deals here. In a dispute over the transactions Russell was accused of assault with intent to murder W. J. Murphy.

He pleaded guilty and was given a twenty-year sentence suspended upon the condition that he leave Arizona. Some time later he returned here to settle business affairs. Meantime the elder Murphy had died. The son brought an insanity charge against Russell, who was cleared. The damage action followed.

Russell, while here, is under the protection of the government and immune from invocation of the twenty-year suspended sentence.

Trio Shot Dead by 'Rustics' in Treasure Hunt

BOSCOBEL (Wis.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Lured, police believe, by baseless tales of treasure concealed about the homestead of Cornelius Horrigan, near here, three men and a woman described as "rustics" invaded the place today and shot three persons to death in an unsuccessful robbery attempt.

Horrigan, Patrick Gorman, 65 years of age, and the latter's son, Paul, 18, of Huron, S. D., were killed. Stephen Horrigan, the slain mans's brother, was seriously wounded.

Thanksgiving Turkey Cheap

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11. (AP)—Turkeys for the Thanksgiving dinner will be cheaper this year than in 1929 despite a lower production, the Federal-State crop-reporting service indicated in a report issued here today.

The California turkey crop was estimated at 92 per cent of the 1929 output, while the nation's total output was put at 3 per cent below the 1929 level.

Live turkeys are quoted by San Francisco commission merchants at 24 to 25 cents per pound, compared with 32 to 35 cents on the same date last year.

FILM OF FUTURE TO STRESS PLOT

Story and Personality of Actor Big Factors

View Expressed at Session of Theater Owners

Censors, Blue Laws and Sex Pictures Hit

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11. (AP)—Sidney R. Kent, vice-president and general manager of Paramount-Publix Corporation, today told the convention of the Nation-Picture Theater Owners of America, that the big factor of pictures of the future "is the story and the personality" of the actors.

Television, he thought, will prove an aid to the motion-picture industry rather than a competitor. "In regard to color," he said, "I think, with few exceptions, that an all-colored picture is a mistake. It seems to me that color should be used to enhance rather than replace the black-and-white picture."

"The big factor of pictures of the future," he said, "is the story and the personality of the actors. You are going to see personalities come back to their own. Those who survived sound are going to come back stronger than ever. Others to whom sound was a detriment will be out of the picture.

"In production today we are using as little talk as possible. The background is more like the old motion picture."

Walter Vincent, who has been in the theatrical business more than thirty years, criticised what he said is a predominance on the legitimate stage and in pictures of subjects distasteful to parents of young children.

"The whole trend of today in theaters is sex," he said. "Many exhibitors wonder why children are not attending their theaters. Their fathers and mothers will not let them see any of the productions on account of the glaring posters outside the theaters. These posters actually keep parents as well as children away."

Speaking at the convention dinner tonight, Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia real estate operator, recommended suspension of the State blue laws for one Sunday to permit film shows for the benefit of unemployed.

The convention adopted resolutions condemning censorship by State boards, particularly in Texas.

The new board of directors elected today includes Fred Desberg, Ohio; Jack Miller, Illinois; Fred Wehrenberg, Missouri; Charles Williams, Nebraska, and Edward Kuykendahl, Missouri.

That genuine Irish homespuns are woven in the "black cottages" of Ireland. These cottages have no chimneys, and the cloths are permanently impregnated with smoke from peat fires. Hence the well-known "tweed smell".

That HART SCHAFFNER & MARX Gordian Worsted suits are named after the famous Gordian Knot that was so stoutly tied no man could undo it. Alexander the Great finally had to cut it with his sword . . . .

Ten fast trains leave Chicago daily for Baltimore and Washington, led by The Liberty Limited which leaves Chicago at 12:30 P. M.

Whether you travel East for business or pleasure—or both—let the Pennsylvania agent help you arrange your trips.

FRENCH TO GRIP PROSPERITY ERA

Leaders Seek Reforms to Safeguard Progress

"Tardieu Plan" Projects Many Improvements

Greater Birth-Rate Sought as Need of Nation

PARIS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Though French leaders consider France the most prosperous nation in the world today they are hammering for reforms to tighten the belt of prosperity and assure the country's uninterrupted development.

These men are dissatisfied with present conditions. They demand a stronger national equipment to meet new problems or old problems which threaten trouble for France. They have just issued a series of demands which appear in a pamphlet called "The Animator," and which really are an integral part of what is called the "Tardieu plan." This is an all-embracing scheme prepared by Premier Tardieu which calls for public improvements and a modernization of France along sound lines without endangering a loss of basic French traits.

Some of the reforms demanded are:

A modernization of Parliamentary and administrative methods whereby France will go forward without constructive measures being blocked in Parliament.

More assistance to agriculture on the ground that the peasants form the backbone of France.

More commercial airplane lines and more French airdromes.

More children, France being one of the countries where births are fewest and deaths the most numerous.

An organized struggle against cancer and tuberculosis.

MARCUS DALY'S SON SUCCUMBS

Death Comes on Outing at Virginia Hunting Lodge

Father One of West's Best Known Mining Magnates

Family History Interwoven With That of Montana

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Marcus Daly, Jr., 48 years of age, son of one of the early west's most picturesque figures, is dead.

An attack of heart disease yesterday while he was hunting among the Virginia Capes was fatal to the descendant of the late fighting pioneer, who founded the Anaconda Copper Company.

Mr. Daly went south with an associate Saturday apparently in good health.

MISSOULA (Mont.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Marcus Daly, Jr., who died suddenly yesterday at his hunting lodge in Virginia, was the only son of one of Montana's early-day mining magnates.

Marcus Daly, Sr., was among the first to capitalize on the metal resources of Montana and his picturesque career is interwoven with Montana history and with the development of the great Butte Copper Mines.

A 10-year-old son, Marcus III, carries the name. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Margaret Daly of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Mrs. James W. Gerard of New York, wife of the former German Ambassador, and Countess Anton Sigray of Budapest, Hungary.

The body was to be taken to the Daly home on Fifth avenue.

Woods and Lamont Report on Unemployment

Figures Will Be Announced Following Recheck

McNary Favors Legislation on Federal Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A new estimate of the number of unemployed has been completed for President Hoover by his emergency employment committee and the Commerce Department.

Chairman Woods of the committee and Secretary Lamont were called to the White House for a conference with the President late today.

The President is expected to go into the unemployment problem in his message to Congress. Woods said he would announce the new unemployment figures later, after a recheck.

Dr. J. F. Newhurst of the Commerce Department, and Brice Stewart of the employment committee, completed the new estimate from the April census, the Labor Department's monthly reports on manufacturing employment, estimates by private agencies, and data from other sources.

WOODS ESTIMATES

The April census, estimating the unemployed at 2,500,000, did not cover part-time idleness.

The Labor Department, using the year 1921 as a base represented by 100, has reported employment for September, 1927, as 95.8; for September, 1928, 95, and for September, 1929, 99.3.

Chairman Woods of the employment committee said the automobile and construction industries are each $2,500,000,000 behind their previous year in gross business. Figuring 60 per cent of the $4,000,000,000 total they paid last year for wages, and an average of $2000 a year, Woods estimated at least 900,000 are out of work.

FAVORS FEDERAL AID

Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, proposed appropriations of Treasury funds to meet winter distress. While not prepared to introduce legislation, Senator McNary said, he would "look with favor on any plan to appropriate adequate funds to be administered by the Red Cross for the relief of distress in America."

Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, author of unemployment bills now before Congress, gave notice he will introduce a resolution proposing investigation of the feasibility of unemployment insurance.

Another heartening condition remarked by Chairman Woods is sensitivity of the people to the situation.

BRITONS HONOR PAGE'S MEMORY

Former Ambassador Howard Gives Annual Address

Greater Patriotism Based on Fair Dealing Urged

Friendly Pact With America Lauded by Chamberlain

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Lord Howard of Penrith, former British Ambassador to Washington, delivering the fourth Page memorial lecture today at Central Hall, Westminster, proposed a new and better patriotism based on fair dealings among nations.

"In order to make friends with other nations," he said, "don't try to get the better of them in politics or trade, but try to make a fair bargain and when a dispute arises refuse to be dragged into a serious conflict by those of a baser sort who make patriotism their last refuge."

CAUSE FOR COMFORT

Sir Austen Chamberlain, who presided, said comfort can be taken in the fact that relations between Great Britain and America are so good that "sources of possible disagreement have been removed."

"I wish the same spirit were more widely prevalent in the world today," he said. "It is the twelfth anniversary of the signing of the armistice and yet it seems to me that in recent months the cause of good will and of mutual confidence and peace has receded rather than advanced."

He said he feels sure the ideals held in common by Great Britain and America make it unthinkable that serious difficulties should arise between them.

HONORS TO AMERICAN

The Page Memorial Fund, in memory of the late Walter Hines Page, former American Ambassador to Great Britain was initiated as the result of a letter to the Times in 1923 signed by Bonar Law, Lord Balfour, Herbert Asquith, Lloyd George, and Lord Grey of Fallodon, suggesting the commemoration in some permanent way of Page's name and services to the cause of British-American friendship.

Sufficient donations were received to erect a tablet to Page's memory in Westminster Abbey, to establish Page Memorial Library at the headquarters of the English-Speaking Union, Dartmouth House, to initiate traveling scholarships to enable British teachers to visit the United States, and to provide for the Page memorial lecture. The previous Page memorial lecturers were Sir Auckland Geddes, H. A. L. Fisher and Stanley M. Bruce, then Prime Minister of Australia.

AUTHOR DIES IN CHINA OF BANDIT SHOT

Putnam Weale, Briton, Victim of Gunmen Who Invaded Home Weeks Ago

PEIPING (China) Nov. 11. (AP)—A telegram from Tien-tsin today announced the death of Bertram Lennox Simpson, British author, who wrote under the name of Putnam Weale, from wounds inflicted by three Chinese gunmen who invaded his house and shot him in the back.

Simpson, a British subject, was commissioner of customs at Tientsin under the rebel northern general, Yen Hsi-shan. The attack which resulted in his death took place October 1.

Mr. Simpson was at work when the gunmen presented a card and asked for an interview. He was escorting the visitors to his study when one of them drew a revolver and fired twice. One bullet entered his spine, and his assailants fled.

Mr. Simpson, who had American connections by both descent and marriage, was the grandson of Sarah Mollis Putnam, a granddaughter of Gen. Israel Putnam, leader in the American Revolution. In 1917 he married Mary Louise Parrott of San Francisco.

LIQUOR PLEA SAVES ROBBERY SUSPECT

TIMBERLAKE (S. D.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Holding he had been unconscious of his acts because of liquor, a jury acquitted Melvin Scranton of robbery today. Testimony was introduced that Scranton had no knowledge he was taking part in a hold-up of a bank at Glencross last July and he had been drunk for three days before the robbery. Two companions, George Anderson and George Dabatin, were shot to death as they left the bank by P. J. Shirber, cashier, and Sheriff Johnson.

Method Held Effective as Cleaner of Tanks

BY WALDO DRAKE

The venerable little lumber schooner Pasadena, which in 1895 introduced the oil-fired boiler in Pacific shipping, returned to port yesterday as pioneer unit on the Pacific Coast of the Wheeler vacuum system of oil recovery. Her first job was to pick up the hundreds of barrels of fuel oil spilled from the damaged steamer Charcas near the Bethlehem shipyards.

Her owner, the Western Ship Service Company, Ltd., announces, however, that in addition to reducing the fire hazard of surface waste petroleum about the harbor, her chief work will be "gas freeing" and cleaning the tanks of tankers, freighters or any vessel where a completely gas-free condition is desired. The Pasadena is able to pump a maximum of 1800 barrels of oil and residue per hour from the tanks of a ship or from the surface, this residue being then put through a Short separator which separates the pure oil from water and waste.

W. A. Simpson, president, and W. K. Hutchinson, vice-president of the new firm, declare that the Pasadena will completely clean the tanks of any existing vessel in a small fraction of the time now required by the slow steam system. They claim that her two Chicago pumps supply a thirty-inch vacuum pressure on her two four-inch vacuum lines and these lines will pick up oil from as great a distance as 1100 feet or from the deep tanks of a vessel to a depth of seventy-five feet. The Pasadena is now in command of Capt. Edward L. Ryan and her chief engineer is Joseph Nanpino. To further reduce the fire hazard in her operations, the Pasadena is now equipped with a spark arrester and steam atomizer.

Company, riparian owners, land purchased by the power company from the defendant corporation, as a site for the power plant, is part of that involved in the suit.

The plaintiffs seek a court order establishing their ownership by appropriative right to 1360 second-feet of water, which they say they have been diverting far below the riparian lands of the Lisenby estate.

The power company's plans are jeopardized due to the fact that it is proposed to take the water from the river for use in the steam turbines. It will be returned to the river after it has passed through the condensers and changed back to water.

The suit is expected to involve the question of which utility, the irrigation unit or the power corporation, can do the greatest good to the greatest number of persons through use of the water, inasmuch as both serve the public through its use. The irrigation unit contends it uses the water to supply approximately 2000 consumers with water to irrigate approximately 155,000 acres of land.

BETHLEHEM YARDS TO REPAIR CHARCAS

The local plant of the Bethlehem Ship Building Corporation is today expected to be awarded a contract for repairing the Grace Line steamer Charcas, the hull of which suffered severe bottom damage when she went ashore at Point Fermin on the 8th inst. On dry dock yesterday at the Bethlehem yards, the Charcas was found by surveyors to have fifty-three plates damaged, practically all damage being forward of the amidships section.

It was estimated that the repairs will cost approximately $100,000. They entail the replacement of thirty-nine plates, fairing of fourteen others and installation of a new lower section of her stern frame.

Arrival of the new 13,600-ton Norwegian motor tanker G. C. Brovig at this port in late November from Fjrsund, Norway, on her maiden voyage was reported yesterday in advices received from her owner, Anders Jahre, by Gunnar Sconhoft, local broker.

The big tanker will load a cargo of fuel oil here for New Zealand and after discharge of that cargo she will go to the Ross Sea where she will take aboard a cargo of whale oil from the Norwegian factory ship Kosmos for delivery at an American port.

A huge consignment of mail is being assembled at the Sconhoft offices that will be taken to the Antarctic by the G. C. Brovig for the crews of the whalers Kosmos, Sir James Clark Ross, C. A. Larsen and N. T. Nielsen-Alonso.

Merritt, Chapman & Scott Corporation, local salvage firm, is praying for continued fair weather along the coast north of Point Concepcion. Chester Beckley, secretary, announced yesterday that unless storms set in the firm is hopeful of refloating the stranded Richfield tanker Tamiahua, ashore since the 6th inst. on Pescadero Point.

Mr. Beckley said that a salvage crew got aboard the big vessel yesterday and with the arrival of additional equipment by land from San Francisco will attempt to stop up the holes in her bottom. If this can be effected, he said, the flooded areas will be pumped out and the ship pulled free of the reef.

The Marine Exchange yesterday received an aneroid barometer from the United States Weather Bureau as the latest addition to the harbor substation equipment. E. N. Varnado, port manager of the exchange, announces that barometer readings will be available daily to shipmasters and others interested.

The German steamer Bitterfeld, first to arrive of the several additional vessels it has been reported Hamburg-American Line would induct into European-Pacific service for the fall cotton and fruit seasons, is due this morning from Hamburg via San Jose de Guatemala, where she loaded a banana cargo for this port. The Bitterfeld, of 4482 net tons, is on her first visit here.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

SOUTHLAND CELEBRATES SIGNING OF ARMISTICE

Pageantry and Parades Add to Holiday Spirit in Evidence in Many Cities

POMONA, Nov. 11.—Hundreds of school children, and representatives of various patriotic organizations, moving from the four points of the compass to the central point in Pomona's Armistice celebration today, at Second and Thomas streets, paid fitting tribute to Pomona Valley hero dead, and impressively re-enacted the close of the World War, in one of the largest patriotic exercises ever held in this city.

The close of the war was staged in realistic fashion, when, shortly before 11 o'clock, a terrific din was sent up by many bombs sent into the air, while a squadron of airplanes from local airports zoomed overhead. Just at 11, the firing ceased, roll was called of the honored dead, and taps was sounded by a lone bugler. A general holiday was declared for today by Mayor C. C. Caves, and as a result, all stores and offices remained closed in order that all might mingle in the ceremonies.

John R. Todd, commander of the Charles P. Rowe Post, American Legion, was in general charge of the program, and immediately after the order was observed to "cease firing," introduced the speakers, including Dr. Gordon Palmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who delivered the address. The exercises concluded with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Drills were staged by Company F, the local National Guard unit, commanded by Capt. A. Annan Cook; the United Spanish War Veterans' auxiliary drum corps, and the Legion auxiliary drill team. Early this morning a special detachment commanded by Phil Curran, decorated the war memorial monument in Garfield Park.

In the afternoon a football game, at the Pomona High School field, between Pomona and Whittier high schools, attracted a large throng. The day's observance reached a grand climax when a monster dinner was served in the Ebell clubhouse for World War veterans of Pomona Valley. Several hundred were in attendance at this affair, and prominent Southern Californians were included in the list of guest speakers.

REDLANDS ENJOYS GENERAL HOLIDAY

REDLANDS, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was celebrated here today with a general holiday and the annual American Legion play which was given its first presentation tonight. "The Whole Town's Talking" with Erwin Hein, well-known newspaper man here, and Mrs. Louise Ford McDaniel in the leading roles, proved to be a big hit.

Business was almost entirely halted for the celebration. Legion men had decided to join with San Bernardino during the day in a parade and memorial of the day twelve years ago. People of Redlands spent the day with family affairs and with picnics.

The play tonight was directed by Webster Hall. Other members of the cast were Frank Pine, Horace Gratton, Zora Lang, Mrs. Harry Deming, Mrs. C. H. Smith and Mrs. J. T. Cranmer, all well-known players.

ARCADIA AND MONROVIA JOIN IN CELEBRATION

ARCADIA, Nov. 11. — Armistice Day was celebrated here today jointly by the American Legion posts and auxiliaries of Monrovia posts and auxiliaries of Monrovia and Arcadia, and the day's program began with breakfast served by the Monrovia auxiliary on the grounds of the Legion Building in Recreation Park, Monrovia.

A parade and usual 11 o'clock program was held here, with the Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte High School Band, Monrovia National Guard unit, under command of Capt. J. R. Harris, and Legionnaires and auxiliary members in the line of march.

Special Armistice Day services were held late today at the Community Church, with special sections reserved for American Legion and auxiliary members.

BLYTHE POST HOST TO RESIDENTS OF VALLEY

BLYTHE, Nov. 11.—Frank Luke Post of the American Legion entertained the entire Palo Verde Valley and neighboring Arizona community today in an eighteen-hour program, beginning with a roaring salute at 6 o'clock and ending with the annual Legion ball at the Masonic Hall. A parade of floats half a mile long passed in review at 10 o'clock. A big barbecue was served downtown at noon, following a patriotic program at the City Park, attended by 2000 persons.

Miss Dora Comer was selected Armistice Day queen and the float prepared by the high school won first prize in the parade. Field sports occupied the afternoon. The entire city was especially decorated for the occasion.

FLYERS PAY HOMAGE TO GOLD STAR MOTHERS

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 11.—Aviators who saw World War service in the armies of many nations attended the third annual memorial day observance of the Overseas Aviators' Club, Ltd., held this morning at Clover Field. More than sixty flyers, some of them flying from Rockwell Field, San Diego, played host to Gold Star Mothers, whose sons were killed while fighting in the air service.

Mrs. Sam T. Clover, mother of Lieut. Greayer Clover, killed in France, for whom the field was named, and the members of her group were paid high tribute by Capt. Henry K. Elder, Los Angeles attorney, member of the executive committee of the club. At a luncheon held in the Santa Monica Swimming Club following the ceremonies at the field, Capt. James F. Archibald, noted war correspondent, was the chief speaker.

Among the aviators were flyers who had fought under the flags of Britain, Germany, France, Bulgaria, Canada and the United States. The Overseas Aviators' Club was incorporated two weeks ago, and flyers who saw World War service with any nation are eligible to membership, it was stated.

The group is preparing to participate prominently in aviation features of the coming Olympic Games in Los Angeles. More than 300 flyers already are members.

The organization was launched here, but it was stated chapters are being formed in many cities. The Outpost Club of New York will probably affiliate with the new organization, it was reported.

NEW LEGION POST SPONSORS CELEBRATION

LENNOX, Nov. 11.—The first celebration of Armistice Day in this community took place today, sponsored by the newly organized American Legion post. Three squadrons of airplanes from Los Angeles Airport participated in the services and Judge Warren Atherton of Fresno, prominent in State Legion activities, was a speaker.

The committee in charge of the celebration was made up of representatives of fifteen organizations, under the leadership of the Legion, making it a community event.

HAWTHORNE FEATURES PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

HAWTHORNE, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was observed here by a patriotic program given under the auspices of the American Legion this morning and by a dance arranged by the same organization tonight.

The program, which took place at the Plaza Theater, was marked by a musical program by the orchestra of the Adolph Lesinger High School, selected numbers by pupils of other schools and an Armistice Day address by Judge William S. Baird. The Reverend Father John Ford of St. Joseph's Catholic Church delivered the invocation and Rev. Frank Daniel the benediction.

Local troops of the Boy Scouts also took part in the program.

WARSHIP VISITOR AT BEACH CITY

MANHATTAN BEACH, Nov. 11.—Observance of Armistice Day in the South Bay district, which, under the plan of Redondo Post American Legion rotates between the various cities of its jurisdiction, was celebrated here today. A parade in which practically every organization in the district was represented preceded the patriotic program in which Capt. Wyman of the U.S.S. Idaho, anchored in this bay over the holidays, was the principal speaker. A luncheon honoring the ship's officers was served at noon at the Neptunian Club and inspection of the battleship and a band concert by the ship's band made up the afternoon's program. In the evening there was a free dance at the Marine pavilion.

CITIES STAGE GIGANTIC CELEBRATION OF DAY

TORRANCE, Nov. 11.—A parade in which civic and patriotic organizations joined, and an impressive program at American Legion Hall marked this city's observance of Armistice Day today.

The services were under the direction of Bert S. Crossland Post, American Legion, with the members and drill team of Gardena Post of the Legion co-operating. Gold Star mothers of both communities, Civil War veterans and city officials were guests of honor.

Santa Monica's American Legion Post today sponsored a large parade which wound up with patriotic exercises at the Open-Air Memorial Theater, on the high school campus. Throngs of visitors inspected the U.S.S. New Mexico, anchored in Santa Monica Bay. City officials feted the officers of the ship at a dinner-dance, and many entertainments were provided for the bluejackets.

At Venice thousands visited the U.S.S. Mississippi, and young Venice society girls played hostesses at a ball in the Venice Ballroom for the officers. Special events were staged for the men of the big warcraft. Warm weather brought out a record Armistice Day crowd of swimmers and beach patrons.

NOTABLE DAY IN HUNTINGTON PARK

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was celebrated in Huntington Park today in a more extensive manner than on any similar day since the armistice was signed twelve years ago. Streets were decorated along the line of march, while the business houses had the Stars and Stripes floating from in front of these buildings.

The parade was participated in by three bands, by the veterans of the different wars, and by civic and other organizations, including the city officials and fire department. Hundreds of school children and school floats, Boy Scout troops, and Camp Fire Girls were also in line.

After the procession, which came to an end at Municipal Park, a program was given in Patriotic Hall, which is located in the park. This consisted of the singing of patriotic airs, and a patriotic address by Rev. Kelly O'Neill, pastor of the First Christian Church of Huntington Park.

During the afternoon outdoor sports were engaged in at Reeder's Field at the high school, and this evening, Robert McColley's American Legion Post is giving a grand ball in Patriotic Hall.

Frank Merriam, Lieutenant-Governor-elect of California, was a guest here this morning, giving a patriotic speech in keeping with the day, at the breakfast session of the Council of Members. There were more than 200 persons in attendance at the meeting.

PHIL DODSON SPEAKS TO MONTEBELLO POST

MONTEBELLO, Nov. 11.—All patriotic and civic organizations here united with the local American Legion Post No. 272 under the leadership of Zeb McPherson, commander, in observance of Armistice Day.

A parade, which consisted of five sections moved west on Whittier Boulevard to the high school auditorium promptly at 9:30 o'clock, where 1500 persons had assembled to hear the program. Phil Dodson, past commander of the Nineteenth American Legion District Post of the State of California gave a very stirring address on the work of the Legion.

Immediately following the exercises at the high school the parade again took up its line of march going directly to the new municipal library building. Here the officials of the American Legion post dedicated and presented to the city a new flag. The flag was received on behalf of the city by Mayor William H. Cook. The new flag pole was presented at the same time to the city by Walter F. Malone in the name of the Spanish War Veterans.

The day's activity was brought to a close by the showing of a motion picture, the "World War," between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock at the high school auditorium by special arrangement.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT SOUTH GATE

SOUTH GATE, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was celebrated by the citizens of South Gate today, when a parade in which city officials, school children, members of the American Legion post and Veterans of Foreign Wars, took part, several floats being in the line of march. A program of speaking and songs was given at the South Gate High School Stadium.

GRAND BALL FEATURES MAYWOOD OBSERVANCE

MAYWOOD, Nov. 11.—Maywood celebrated Armistice Day in a grand way today, when a parade of patriotic and civic organizations passed over the principal streets of the city, ending at the American Legion Hall where a program was given. Morgan Keaton, past department commander, was the speaker of the morning, being introduced by Mayor Johnson.

This afternoon a program was given at the local fire station, and early this evening the Maywood band gave a concert, followed by a grand ball at American Legion Hall.

ALL JOIN IN TRIBUTE PAID BY SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 11.—While business paused today, residents of this community, young and old, joined to witness a military tribute and take part in a public demonstration of homage to the soldiers and sailors, living and dead, who served this country in the great World War which concluded just twelve years ago.

At 11 o'clock, the several thousand people who gathered in the patio of the Courthouse for the speaking program stood uncovered in a minute of silent prayer.

A pair of bagpipers played the weird "Scotchman's Lament." Maj. Fred L. Johnston introduced the speaker, former State Senator George Wilder Cartwright.

A parade of military organizations of this community, led by the band and sailor marching units of the U.S.S. Maryland opened the day's program.

The afternoon's program was devoted to sports and public visitation to the battleship anchored in the roadstead.

CHAMPION DRILL TEAM IN ALHAMBRA PARADE

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 11.—To the cadences of martial airs played by the American Legion drum and bugle corps and the American Legion Boys' Band, an Armistice Day parade was staged today through the business section, ending at the city park, where a program was given under the auspices of John Howard Strain Post.

In the procession was the State champion Alhambra Legion auxiliary drill team captained by Mrs. Kay Mitchell; members of the Legion posts; Boy Scout troops; girls in Red Cross uniforms, and, riding in automobiles, veterans of the Civil War, Gold Star mothers, representatives of the city, Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations.

Arriving at the park the marchers joined a large crowd at the amphitheater to hear a patriotic program. Judge H. S. Farrell presided, and City Attorney R. D. Wickham was the principal speaker.

A luncheon was held by the Legion post at noon and tonight the Armistice Day festivities will end with a Legion ball at the Elks' Club.

JUVENILES FACE BURGLAR CHARGE

SOUTH GATE, Nov. 11.—Charles Mayfield and Louis Sandling, each 13 years of age, have been turned over to the Juvenile Hall authorities to take charge of their case, in which it is said that the two lads entered the Beehive Grocery store on Elizabeth and Tweedy boulevards a few nights ago, stealing candy and cigarettes. One of the lads, it is asserted, was endeavoring to sell some of the cigarettes when officers were notified and they were later taken in charge. It is said that the boys confessed the theft to the officers, James Auten and John Hamlin.

HIGH-FLYING HIGH FLYERS

Army Group Touches Clouds in Flight

In Battle Formation
Pursuit unit soaring over San Diego Bay.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 11.—High above the clouds the roar of powerful engines may frighten sparrows that fly with eagles to dizzy heights, but on the ground—bore than six miles below—no one is aware that the Army has sent aloft its highest-flying airplanes.

At speeds in excess of 205 miles an hour the new pursuit ships, powered with 450-horsepower engines, fly; and they can climb to an altitude of 33,000 feet in little more than a half-hour.

The speedy pursuits of the Ninety-fifth Pursuit Squardon, Quentin Roosevelt's war squadron, now are flown by pilot aces, commanded by Lieut. I. A. Woodring, last of the Army's "Three Musketeers." Recently Woodring achieved new fame when he flew the Japanese peace treaty to Washington. When Capt. H. M. Elmendorf was called to Washington several weeks ago, Woodring became squadron commander.

When the army pilots leave the ground in their trim little planes, they stuff their fifty pounds of heavy, warm clothing into the tiny cockpits and face roaring, frigid gales as they push on up into the sky.

Recently Woodring had the experience of flying into a wind that blew 130 miles an hour. On another occasion he became lost from another plane at an altitude of nearly six miles and found it only after he had returned to earth.

The pilots of the Ninety-fifth learn all sorts of formations to further their skill in war piloting. They fly in line, on each other's tail, in stacks (on top of each other,) and they think nothing of diving at 200 miles an hour with machine guns roaring on ground targets.

BARSTOW INJURED IN NOSE DIVE

Plane Falls to Earth After Striking Wire in Take-off

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 11.—Although Jack Barstow, San Diego glider pilot injured in a plane crash at Julian, incurred concussion of the brain, it is not probable that he has a fracture of the skull, Dr. Arnold reported at noon today.

Harlan C. Ross, U.S.N., Barstow's passenger, suffered a compound fracture of a knee and his other leg was broken when the plane crashed nose on, after striking a telephone wire when Barstow was taking off, Dr. Arnold said.

Barstow, who was unconscious during the night, was regaining consciousness today, and both he and Ross had rested comfortably up to noon, according to Dr. Arnold. Dr. Arnold said that it was expected that both men would recover in the course of time.

Barstow and Ross were taken to Mercy Hospital here late yesterday by E. E. York, superintendent of the Julian High School. Ross had just taken a place in the plane vacated by another passenger whom Barstow had taken aloft. Barstow, in taking off, failed to rise enough to clear the telephone wires and the plane's landing-gear caught in the wires, causing it to topple and nose to earth.

The plane was damaged badly. The accident occurred in front of the Julian High School, and was witnessed by a large crowd.

Ontario Needs More Room in City Schools

ONTARIO, Nov. 11.—To meet the overcrowded conditions of the public schools of Ontario, a building program totaling $108,000 is suggested by C. W. Randall, superintendent of schools, and members of the school board, H. M. Shattuck, clerk; J. S. Armstrong, and W. R. Adams.

The building program as suggested would include construction of a new school building at Sixth street and Sultana avenue, on a site now owned; another building in the southwest portion of the city, site not selected, each building to cost $40,000; addition of an auditorium to Lincoln school, for $20,000 and addition of two rooms on the junior high-school building, at cost of $8000.

The financing could be done by issuance of a 4½ per cent bond issue for $100,000, the board suggested, the balance to be taken from savings to be made in the maintenance fund.

Supt. Randall announced the number of pupils in Ontario schools has in the past ten years increased from 1304 to 2499, and that each room has thirty-seven or thirty-eight pupils, while the average per room should not reach thirty-five. Junior high-school rooms averaged forty pupils, according to Supt. Randall.

Bandits Rob Oil Station

MONTEREY PARK, Nov. 11.—Two bandits held up a service station at 301 East Garvey avenue last night, rifled the money till of $4 and left in a hail of shot fired by the attendant, G. W. Dixon.

The hold-up men, after ordering a quart of oil, displayed revolvers and covered Dixon. After obtaining the money the pair jumped into their car and drove away. Dixon seized a shotgun and fired at the rear of the bandit car. Flattened shot found later in the street indicated the machine had been hit, but the men escaped.

WEATHER MAN SAYS COLD, WET WINTER

VENTURA, Nov. 11.—Forecast of a cold and wet winter in this region by E. S. Ellison, United States weather man at Santa Paula, caused mingled concern and relief among citrus growers today. The cold will force the citrus growers to do heavy smudging, they said. The rains will assure a water supply next summer, however.

PASADENA MAY PROFIT

If County is Divided Crown City in Position to Be Made a County Seat

PASADENA, Nov. 11.—In the event that Los Angeles county is split into two counties, one embracing the City of Los Angeles and the other consisting of smaller cities and outlying districts, Pasadena is well situated for becoming the county seat, according to A. W. Edwards, acting City Controller, who has filed a report on the county division proposal with City Manager R. V. Orbison.

The report recites that this city, by forming its own county would increase its annual revenues by $300,000 a year from increased gasoline tax funds, would save a large part of the county administration tax by directing its own county affairs with the present police force and independent Sheriff's office.

Los Angeles, according to Edwards, is not considering the proposal to form a county bounded by its own city limits merely for reasons of economy, but anticipates that adjacent cities such as Glendale, Alhambra, Burbank and Santa Monica may thereby be forced to annex to Los Angeles to obtain tax benefits.

When the proposal to split Los Angeles county comes to a head the local City Controller believes a heated rivalry between Pasadena and Long Beach will ensue for becoming the county seat of the new county.

"As there will be in the new county 252,315 voters nearer this city than Long Beach and less than half this number nearer Long Beach than Pasadena, Pasadena appears to be in strong position to seek designation as the county seat."

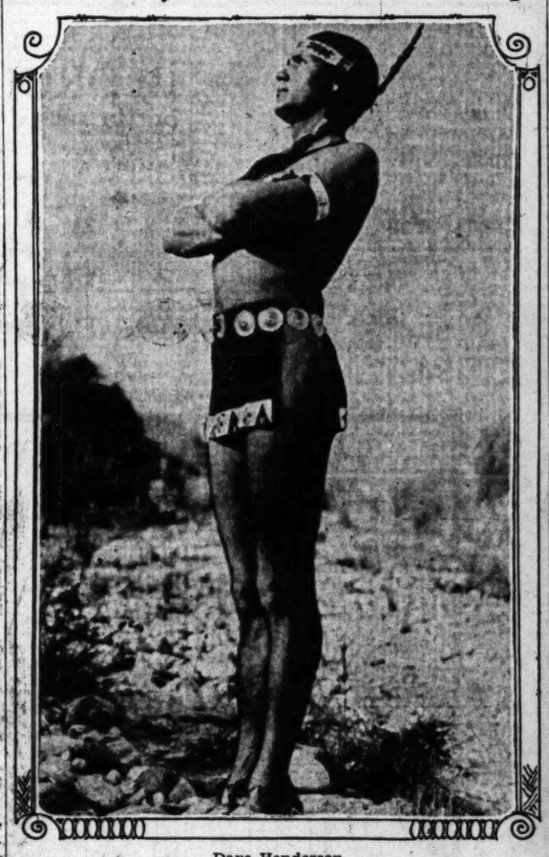
Los Angeles, Edwards asserts, would save a huge sum by consolidating its county and municipal governments, but other cities would also effect savings by forming their own separate county governments.

The principal objection to the proposal to separate Los Angeles from the rest of the county, the report indicates, is that by excluding the highly populated metropolitan area from the county, the most fundamental concept of allocation of governmental responsibility, co-operation for mutual benefit between rural and urban sections, would be violated.

The cost of new county buildings in the event of a Los Angeles county split should be considered carefully before any action is taken, Edwards's report suggests.

PAGEANT IN NATURAL THEATER

Desert Play Minus Man-Made Props



Dave Henderson
In the character of Huono in the desert play to be given its premiere at Palm Springs Saturday.

PALM SPRINGS, Nov. 11.—This city is to be the scene of a premiere in which outing clothes will supplant formal attire and members of the audience will bring their own opera chairs in the way of cushions and folded automobile robes.

The production is the 1930 Desert Play, "Tahquitz," scheduled to open this coming Saturday afternoon in a natural amphitheater at the outskirts of this community. In view of the fact that the play is presented without the use of artificial properties of any kind, nothing man made is permitted to mar the natural beauty of the setting and the onlookers find vantage spots to view the play from rocks on the walls of the canyon.

Replying to many queries, Warren R. Pinney, general chairman for the community, nonprofit enterprise, advises visitors to wear warm outing clothes and bring wraps, as the play starts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the desert cools quickly at sunset.

Wallace MacDonald and Dolores Brown have the leading romantic roles in the picturesque open-air drama which is being presented on a greatly elaborated scale this year under the direction of Phil Whiting of Ramona Pageant and Fiesta de Los Angeles fame. Dave Henderson will portray a principal role. The Desert Play will be repeated Sunday afternoon and the following Saturday and Sunday.

Golden Wedding is Celebrated

REDLANDS, Nov. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Songar, 832 Webster street, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary yesterday. Thirty years have been spent in Redlands and twenty-two years of that time in the same house.

They were young when they were married, she was 16 years of age and he was 19. They were married at Carmi, Ill., and lived there for about thirty years before coming to California.

They are in excellent health and insist that they look and feel younger than they did ten years ago when the golden wedding anniversary was celebrated. At that time a big celebration was given here.

They stoutly believed in being married when young. The "bride" also said that money is not everything and although she eloped in the face of parental objection she has never been sorry for it. They are well known here for they process olives, which have a wide sale in Redlands.

Children of the happy couple are Mrs. Walter Thomas and Mrs. J. D. Jones of Redlands, Mrs. Frank Robison of McLeansboro, Ill.; Mrs. Myrtle Allen of Los Angeles. Mrs. John Schuyleman of Portland, Or.; Mrs. Eva Paine and Noah Songer of Salem, Or. There are also twenty-two grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren.

CITY FIREMEN AID IN BLOOD TRANSFUSION

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 11.—Blood transfusion was resorted to today in an effort to safe the life of Mrs. Mayme B. Yates, 52 years of age, of 1224 South Stoneman avenue, who attempted to commit suicide yesterday at her home. She is in a critical condition at the Alhambra Hospital.

Mrs. Yates was found unconscious on the bathroom floor by her mother, Mrs. Micah Taybler. A towel saturated with chloroform was over her face and a rubber tube connected with a gas pipe was inserted under the towel, forming a "death mask." Police were summoned together with the inhalator squad from the fire department and the woman was partially revived and removed to the hospital. Mrs. Yates has been in poor health for the past year, it was learned.

U. C. Student Killed and Trio Hurt in Crash

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 11.—Apparently going to sleep while driving back to Berkeley after attending the University of California-University of Southern California football game, Bob Black, 18-year-old California student, was killed and his three companions injured seriously when their car plunged from the Coast Highway near here this morning.

Black, who resided at 1935 Cabrillo avenue, San Francisco, received a broken back and died here tonight.

The other youths, all California students, are: Art Reveny, 20, 720 Clayton street, San Francisco, also suffered a broken back and may not live, physicians said, Harry McLaughlin, 17, and Naci Bubick, 19, severe head and body injuries.

The car in which the quartet was riding crashed through a heavy guard rail north of here and fell fifty feet to the Southern Pacific right of way.

The injured were brought to Santa Barbara by the train crew of the morning southbound passenger train of the Southern Pacific. The train was up the track about 500 feet when the accident occurred, according to the engineer's report to the Sheriff's office.

The engineer saw the car catapult over the bank and stopped the train. According to Undersheriff Ross, who investigated the accident, three of the students were asleep in the car and the driver apparently dozed off, leaving the car uncontrolled.

No definite motive for self-destruction has been disclosed, but the boy recently left school to work and yesterday lost his job. In his clothing were found two photographs of an unknown girl and a sentimental poem about death. The body was taken to a Fullerton undertaking parlor.

Young Feeney came here four years ago from Brownswood, Tex.

SAILORS PADDLE CANOE

Frail Craft Bound for Uruguay Puts in at Santa Barbara After Stormy Time at Sea

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 11.—In a frail sixteen-foot kayak canoe in which they paddled down from San Francisco, Fred Pohl, both German sailors, left here about 7 o'clock this morning for San Pedro with Montevideo, Uruguay, as their final destination.

They left San Francisco October 26, and were given up for lost until Friday night, when they were hauled into port by a yacht.

Fears for their safety were expressed by Capt. George W. Gourley, harbor master, who had word that a stiff sirocco, or "Santa Ana wind," was blowing offshore around Point Hueneme, near Ventura. He said the hot sirocco winds disturbed the waters around Point Hueneme, making it difficult for powered boats to travel, let alone a tiny craft such as the kayak.

The two intrepid canoeists left here against the advice of experienced sailors. They took aboard a five-gallon can of water and canned food. They plan to go to San Pedro in two days, but it took them a week to paddle from Santa Barbara from Santa Cruz.

In San Pedro they plan to buy a small outboard motor. The craft is equipped with a rudder, which they claim they use when coming down the coast. They paddled the entire distance from Santa Cruz to Santa Barbara, some 250 miles. They were reported lost a week ago when they did not put in at Monterey.

They said the seas were so rough that they could not make it into the harbor. They also lost their bearings and compass in the storm off Monterey and traveled for many hours in a fog.

The New Ford is an economical car to own and drive

LOW FIRST COST, LOW COST OF OPERATION AND UP-KEEP, AND LOW YEARLY DEPRECIATION MEAN A DISTINCT SAVING TO EVERY PURCHASER

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner . . . low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation. During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

Evidence of the economy of the new Ford is shown in its selection by large industrial companies which keep careful cost records. Many of these operate fleets of fifty, one hundred and two hundred Ford cars and trucks. One company has eight thousand.

Police departments of large cities are also using a large number of Fords. In their ceaseless vigil, these cars are driven virtually twenty-four hours a day.

A fleet of 32 Model A Fords in Louisville (Kentucky) covered a total of 2,620,800 miles in twelve months, or the equivalent of 109 times around the world. Five new Fords on police duty in Niagara Falls (New York) have been driven more than 100,000 miles each. In Miami (Florida) a police Ford has gone 120,000 miles.

The average for the eighteen Fords in Omaha (Nebraska) is 35,000 miles per car for two years of police service. The superintendent of automotive equipment says repairs for the fleet have been "very low."

The police departments of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit, San Francisco and other large cities use hundreds of Ford cars and trucks. In New York, the total exceeds 450.

The reasons for the good performance and economy of the new Ford are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, it is an outstanding example of craftsmanship in volume production.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. . . . It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price. Ask the nearest Ford dealer for a demonstration.

Survey Shows Local Stocks on Bargain Counter

Security Deflation Greater Than Fall in Profits

September 1929 Share Index Now Cut in Half

Declaring that Pacific Coast corporations will not show the drastic decline in earnings this year generally anticipated by investors, F. R. Sanford, secretary and manager of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, yesterday issued a survey of price-earnings ratios indicating a market deflation out of line with estimated earning ability.

Taking thirty leading stocks listed on the exchange Mr. Sanford pointed out that the average per-share profits from present indications will show a decline of about 26 per cent from the peak levels of last year, and 17 per cent from 1928. The average market prices of these stocks, however, are now 47 per cent below September 30, 1929, and 35 per cent under September 30, 1928.

PROFITS COMPARED

With average earnings in 1926 as 100, the per-share profits on the thirty stocks in 1929 was 113.1, while their estimated profits this year are placed at 83.3. The average per-share earnings of ten representative industrials were 117.8 in 1929, against 90.4 estimated for this year; ten financial issues, 115.9 in 1929 and 90.6 for the current year; ten oils, 105.5 in 1929, against 82.8 estimated for the current year.

"Of the thirty leading stocks, not more than two and possibly only one will encounter deficits for 1930, and at least three will report substantial increases in per-share earnings," Mr. Sanford stated.

PRICE RATIO OFF

Market prices of thirty stocks on September 30, 1929, averaged 14.7 times the earnings rate, according to the survey, while at present the same issues are selling 9.4 times indicated earnings.

On the basis of their average earnings for 1928 and 1929, and the indicated earnings for 1930, these stocks are now priced at 7.8 times average annual earnings, against 15.5 times such earnings a year ago.

"The dividend yield on the thirty stocks now average 5.6 per cent, as compared to 3.5 per cent on September 30, 1929, despite the fact that the nondividend stocks have increased in number from five to seven.

"The average yield on the industrial group has increased from 3.8 per cent to 7.5 per cent; on the financial group, from 2.5 per cent to 5 per cent, while the yield on the oils remains unchanged at 4.3 per cent as a result of the passing of dividend payments by several of the petroleum companies. The yield on the present dividend-paying oil stocks, included in the list of thirty issues, has risen from 4.3 per cent to 8.5 per cent."

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—An early decline in cotton, promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables, was followed by rallies in the market here today on covering and trade buying.

Offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had run its course and it did not require a great deal of demand to send prices up from 11.00 to 11.37 for March contracts. The midafternoon market was quiet but steady with active months showing net advances of 10 to 12 points.

YIELDS ON BLUE CHIPS SHARPLY UP

Price Trend of Standard Issues Parallels Market General Movement

So-called "blue-chip" stocks have consistently followed the trend of the general market during 1930, according to Moody's Investors' Service. Since the establishment of high-price levels around April 1, the average yield on thirty "blue chips" has advanced 41.0 per cent, while the average yield on all dividend-paying stocks has increased 41.8 per cent in the same period, the analysis finds.

The thirty selected issues include twenty-one industrials in twelve individual groups, one rail stock, four utilities, two bank and two insurance stocks.

The composite yield of this group was 3.10 per cent on April 1, Moody's states, as compared with 4.37 on October 31. "The advance in yield, on the average, over the last seven months has been almost identical with that recorded by the entire body of stocks. It is true that individual cases may be found, as in the electrical-equipment group, where the percentage gain in yield on a 'blue chip' has been considerably larger, but the average is thoroughly representative of this type of stock."

Moody's computes the average yield of all dividend-paying common stocks listed on the New York exchange at 8.38 per cent on October 31, as against 7.91 per cent at the end of September and the 1929 high of 8.08 per cent.

Two individual groups of stocks still maintain average yields well below that of gilt-edge bonds, although well above the averages for these groups seven months ago, according to the analysis. On October 31 the average yield on bank stocks is given as 3.32 per cent, or 158.1 per cent of the level of April 1, while the average yield on electric light, power and gas stocks was 3.91 per cent at the end of October, or 146.7 per cent of the yield seven months earlier.

Court Ratifies Sale Plans for Kolster Radio

WILMINGTON (Del.) Nov. 11. (AP) A recommendation of an offer for the Kolster Radio Corporation, made by S. P. Woodward Company, investment bankers of New York, be accepted has been approved by Chancellor Wolcott of the Delaware Court of Chancery.

Some time ago, James R. Morford, a Wilmington attorney, was appointed receiver. Morford, in a report to the chancellor, recommended the bid for the Woodward Company be accepted and it was this recommendation the chancellor has approved.

The Woodward Company, it was explained to the court, plans to form a new corporation and issue bonds to the extent of $4,500,000 which would be taken by the Woodward Company. Of this amount, three creditors of the Kolster Corporation, to whom an aggregate sum of about $3,000,000 is owed, would receive bonds in that amount, so that the capital invested by the New York banking concern would be approximately $1,500,000.

In addition, it was explained, stock would be issued to stockholders in the old Kolster Corporation, common stockholders to receive one share of stock in the new corporation for every three shares of stock in the old, and preferred stockholders of the old corporation to receive two shares of the new for one of the old.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says:

Despite indications of further steel buying from the railroads as outlined in 1931 budgets, western steel producers find the outlook beclouded by the slow resumption of buying by farm implement and other key consumers. Shipments of finished steel have gained slightly in the past few days but as time approaches for first-quarter buying, apprehension is felt as to backlogs to carry the bills along from January to April. As the farm situation is regarded as favorable the light activity of the implement works is causing some concern.

Miscellaneous steel buyers including the industrial machinery and equipment works are believed poised for heavier steel commitments as soon as the first sign of an upturn is evident.

ROTATION PLAN CONTINUES

New Bank of America Expected to Elect Successors to Mount and Nolan Five Years Hence

BY EARLE F. CROWE

Five years from the date of the consolidation resulting in the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, new executive officers probably will be chosen to preside over the affairs of California's largest bank, the fourth largest in the United States and ninth in the world.

In the absence of official announcement it is understood an informal agreement applies to the consolidated bank the same plan of rotation for executive offices developed by the Bank of Italy under its founder, A. P. Giannini. This plan provided for the election of a new president every five years.

NEW TERMS STARTED

Arnold J. Mount was the second president chosen by the Bank of Italy under this system of election, the first having been James A. Bacigalupi, who succeeded A. P. Giannini, president for nearly twenty years. Mr. Mount had approximately three years more of his term to serve at the time of the recent consolidation, but it is understood that he starts now on a fresh term.

The same plan of rotation also applies, according to the informal agreement, to the office of chairman, now held by E. J. Nolan, lately the president of the Bank of America of California. Mr. Nolan also is starting on a five-year term from the date of consolidation, which means that in November, 1935, the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association will elect a new chairman and a new president.

At that time, following the principle of rotation laid down by Mr. Giannini, Messrs. Mount and Nolan will ascend to offices in the Transamerica Corporation, holding company controlling the Bank of America and other financial institutions.

Mr. Bacigalupi, second president of the Bank of Italy, now holds various offices in the Transamerica Corporation in active capacities, and also serves on advisory committees for the Bank of America.

PROMOTION OFFERED

Theoretically, at least, every employee in the Bank of America is a potential candidate for one of the two executive offices in the bank. So far as is known, there is no other business in the world offering the same opportunity for certain advancement to men of ability to occupy at some time in their career the highest offices in the gift of their institution.

The two present officers preside over the affairs of an institution, including its affiliate, the Bank of America, a State bank, with resources of more than $1,300,000,000. There are 438 branch offices in the system, located in 243 California cities. Seventy-six of the offices are located in the city of Los Angeles.

In number of customers, in scope of territory served and in number of banking offices, the Bank of America group ranks first in the United States. In actual size it is surpassed only by the Chase National, National City and Guaranty Trust, all located in New York City.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—The moderate fresh receipts included nothing of very desirable quality and holdovers of 557 were largely plain stock, including a long string of stock cows which were expected to sell on a per head basis. Trade was rather slow, but little change was evident in prices.

A load of medium Utah steers brought 7.75 and a few Nevada steers cashed at 7.35. A load of plain Mexican steers made 6.00 with odd lots of low-grade steers at 5.75@6.75. A few yearling feeder steers sold up to 7.25, with four loads of common 728-pound Arizona feeder steers at 5.00.

Odd head of medium heifers brought 6.50@7.00 with fairly good Utah and Nevada cows at 5.75@6.00. Bulk of common to medium cows scored 4.50@5.50, with low cutters and cutters at 3.50@4.50. Good weighty bulls reached 5.00, with medium kinds at 4.00@5.00.

No good to choice vealers were available, but few plain vealers made 10.00@10.25, three loads of strictly good 382-pound Arizona stock calves brought 9.75, with other loads to killers and feeders at 7.75@8.25. Common heavies sold down to 6.00 and below.

HOGS—Demand was not very strong and it took some effort to hold prices about steady. One load of 190-pound Nebraska butchers topped at 10.60, with two loads of Colorado averaging up to 201 pounds at 10.40. A few light local feds brought 10.25, with some packing sows at 9.25 and lighter sows at 9.00.

COPPER CARTEL MENACING

World Pact Would Add to Unemployment in America, Stressing Need for Import Duty

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A cartel in copper! Is this what the conference of world copper leaders, meeting in New York during the last ten days, are about to announce? Likely points, including all production costs and transportation, for 43-4 cents per pound.

The copper glut has forced the issue. Copper prices are lower than they have been in thirty-five years; copper stocks are higher than they have ever been; and every copper man is asking "what are we going to do about it?"

From authoritative sources I understand that these copper leaders have practically decided on a plan to restrict the world copper output by 60,000,000 pounds a month, or a total of 720,000,000 pounds a year; a cut of about 20 per cent.

In 1929 the total world production in round figures was 4,200,000,000 pounds, of which 2,155,000,000 pounds were produced in foreign countries and 2,052,000,000 pounds in the United States.

The United States production has fallen off 40 per cent this year, from 221,000,000 pounds a month to approximately 137,000,000 pounds. At the same time Canada has more than doubled its output, while Africa has increased its copper production more than 50 per cent.

Katanga, that rich African copper mine, owned largely by the Belgian government, can deliver copper to the United States consumer right now at a very satisfactory profit. So can certain mines in South America. But the United States mines cannot do it—not by a long way. The United States Tariff Commission shows that 46 per cent of the domestic output of copper for 1929 cost 11 cents a pound or more to produce.

Katanga copper can be produced and laid down in the United States at 4½ cents a pound; while in 1929 the Chile Copper Company delivered its output to Connecticut Valley points, including all production costs and transportation, for 43-4 cents per pound.

So the cheap coppers of the world are pouring into the United States to further demoralize the American copper market.

Consider this condition!

While the United States did produce 2,052,000,000 pounds of copper in 1929 it consumed $2,239,000,000 pounds of copper. The United States, therefore, consumed 185,000,000 pounds more than it produced. Now the world, outside of the United States, consumed but 1,969,000,000 pounds and produced 2,155,000,000 pounds. Therefore, the outside world produced 186,000,000 pounds more than it consumed.

What's the answer? A tariff on copper sufficient to allow American mines to keep working, employ more labor and maintain a fair price.

Restrict copper output another 20 per cent and this will happen: It will throw thousands of men now working in the copper mines of the United States out of work to further swell the ranks of the unemployed.

If a protective duty is a good thing for pig iron and the steel industry, why not for copper? A protective tariff on copper is much more to be desired than a restricted plan, which is filled with difficulties and possibly dynamite. Keep clear of international alliances.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Utility shares came vigorously in today's curb market, after an early period of unsettlement. Some of the oils and industrials also were in the limelight irregularly, but the lightly traded utilities led the recovery. The Electric Bond and Share issues closed with gains of around 2 points. Utility Investment common rallied 1 point. Cities Service recovered 3 points, and Commonwealth Edison rallied 6 and Public Service of New Jersey 5.

Cities Service moved up 3 points to 19½, Arkansas Natural Gas A 3½, Cities Service Gas 2, Commonwealth Edison 6, Oil and Vacuum 2, Public Service of New Jersey 5, Standard Gas and Electric 2 and Deere 2 points, and the Standards and Pictures declined more than 2 points each. Indiana Pipe Line A, a new low at 25½, closed with a net loss of 2 points. Niagara Hudson Power A rallied 1¾.

Specialties were firmer, reflecting the favorable reports by producers of the year's earnings. Gillette, a world-wide favorite, and Newmont Mining, Hershey and Newmont Mining showed substantial gains. Hershey, up 4 points, closed at 82, and Newmont at 44, both new highs. Deere closed 2 points higher, and Deere Preferred 1 point higher. Pictures declined more than 2 points each. Paramount, a new low, in sympathy with the declines in the amusements on the big board.

Public Service dropped 1¾ to a new low for the year, and closed when-issued at 41¾ to 41¾, when issued at 42 to 42¼, and regular way at 42 to 42¼.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—The tone of the bond market was slightly improved today as best-grade domestics again reflected the firming influence of easy money rates.

Industrials, however, reached a new year's low in the averages and a lower trend dominated the foreign section. Governments held at the high level of the year.

Selling was less pronounced, the load being lightened by the mild rally that developed in the share market. Uncertainty over the outlook for industry still influenced the trend of medium-grade issues, and the spread between the fields on these issues and gilt-edged seasoned bonds is rather wide.

Industrial corporation bonds are selling at the lowest level in several years. The average for ten industrials dropped today to 90.2, which compares with a year's high of 94.8 and 91.2 a year ago when drastic declines were precipitated by the panic. Investment inquiry influenced a broad rally in a few railroad bonds. Baltimore and Ohio 4s "D," Atchison, general 4s and Southern Pacific 4½s, Oregon Line, whose rails showing marked improvement.

American Telephones fluctuated narrowly and North American Edison reacted fractionally. California Gas and Electric is attained a new year's peak.

National Dairy 5½s was steadier after dipping a point in the previous session.

Stock-price issues dipped into new low ground during the morning, but firmer with the upturn in equity issues. Although some failed to participate in the recovery, General Theaters 6s closed 1½ lower at a new year's low. Atchison 4½s and American Telephone 4½s recorded fractional highs.

Prices of Latin-Americans continued to ease and the trend of Europeans was irregularly lower.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's, Eighth, between Broadway and Hill—"Let's Go Native." Stuff and nonsense and Jack Oakie.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"A Devil With Women." A he-man show and quite funny. Victor McLaglen.

California, Main and Eighth—"El Secreto del Doctor." A good story, but not too well handled. Made in Paris.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Just Imagine." A fantasy and simply swell. El Brendel and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"The Big Trail." Spectacular in setting and photography. Lids production demonstrates the power and sweep of Grandeur film.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Billy the Kid." An exciting series of escapes intensified by the large film. John Mack Brown.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"All Quiet on the Western Front." Remarque's chronicle of the war makes a gripping film. Lew Ayres.

Filmarte, 1928 North Vine—"The Villa Rose." A long, but logical solution of a crime. Interesting.

Forum, Flce at Norton—"The Dawn Patrol." Air thrills and a fine story make this an unusual and well worth-seeing production.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Way for a Sailor." A hardy comedy of the sea with John Gilbert. More pleasing than usual.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"The Spoilers." Gary Cooper.

Pantages, Hollywood at Vine—"Madam Satan." Dr. Mille's hokum tries to hook 'em. Kay Johnson.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Derelict." The rowdy George Bancroft in something not so special.

Ritz, Wilshire at La Brea—"The Santa Fe Trail." Nothing remarkable, but averagely entertaining. Richard Arlen.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"Today." Home life when the stock market crashes. Well done by Conrad Nagel and Catherine Dale Owen.

R.K.O., Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Check and Double Check." Amos 'n' Andy bring their droll talk to the screen in an effective humorous vehicle.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"What a Widow." A silly something not exactly worthy of Gloria Swanson.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Heads Up." A musical show and that's about all. Buddy Rogers.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"The Life of the Party."

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"The Life of the Party." A lot of merriment in popular order and Winnie Lightner.

Wilshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard—"South Sea." A travelogue of real fascination.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"The Bird of Flame." The exotic tropics and that charming vampire, Dorothy Burgess.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Richland—"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath." Charlotte Greenwood strides onto the stage, and the play matters not at all. Destined for a healthy and wealthy run.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—Alister Antonio. The favorite Leo Carrillo returns in an ancient vehicle that creaks.

Music Box, Hollywood Blvd., nr. Gower—"The Apple Cart." George Bernard Shaw's prediction of the future is ably portrayed by Alan Mowbray and fellow-actors.

Vine St., Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"The Green Bottle." Clutching hands and other things that go into a mystery play formula are here in profusion. Oscar Apfel is the featured player.

A New Kind of Mortuary

There is not the slightest suggestion, in the New Colonial Mortuary, of the old-style establishments most people remember. Designed and furnished in true colonial taste, it has an air of refreshing charm that invites repose.

The chapel is homelike and well supplied with sunshine, while along one side is a complete indoor conservatory, luxuriant with flowers, plants and miniature trees. One of the most magnificent Cathedral pipe organs in the city has been installed to furnish music. Private rooms for the family, reception halls, etc., all carry out this restful atmosphere.

Many people daily are visiting this new mortuary to see the modern trend in funeral homes. The public is invited to make a complete inspection without obligation.

Complete services, of the most beautiful kind, for $70 and up.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

The performance of two Los Angeles basin oil fields may continue to interfere with the success of the State-wide oil-curtailment program, it is feared by officials who are keeping a close check on new producers and the development of oil zones that may prove to be unusually productive.

To determine the potential of the Signal Hill field, which is one of the areas that may register a new burst of production, Umpire Neil H. Anderson plans to list the projects which are expected to be completed within the next thirty-five days. At least 100 new wells are likely to be brought in during that period, and the potential of the field may rise sharply.

The Venice oil field is the other disturbing element. Its daily flow soon may exceed 40,000 barrels. Union, Barnsdall-Cypress combination, Pacific Western and a number of the smaller independent operators have leases in the center of activities, where excellent production has been obtained from the shallow zone. In a number of instances projects that failed to attract much attention in the beginning have succeeded in building up a sizable yield. Instead of passing the peak in point of drilling operations, as some operators have asserted, field officials believe that development has just gotten under good headway, and will continue to grow and spread to the south and west.

Favor Oil Curtailment

A majority of the oil operators of the Venice field have voted to join the State-wide oil-curtailment program, and have started circulation of an agreement to sign up every company in that field.

Umpire Neil H. Anderson, Van Foster, Bart Hutchins, Fred Kelly and others vitally interested in future activities at Venice, constitute a committee to sign up all operators and secure for the field a stabilised price for its crude, which at present is selling at 50 to 90 cents a barrel. It is the desire of the operators to receive at least $1.10 per barrel for their crude, if possible, and it is understood that if curtailment is made effective the major companies will aid in establishing a price acceptable to all.

According to present plans, the operators' committee will attempt to sign up all the companies by Saturday, and have curtailment in force within a week. The importance of putting the program into effect is emphasized by increased daily production at Venice and the fact that one of the major oil companies has cut down its pipe-line runs to the refinery and thus cut off an outlet for the smaller operators. Most of the storage in the field is understood to be filled.

Well Blows Out

Early yesterday the International Oil Company's No. 2, near Forty-second avenue at Venice, a direct offset to the Barnsdall-Cypress combination's Burks lease, blew in while drilling below 4000 feet, and is understood to have damaged most of the rotary equipment and wrecked the derrick. This is the second fire for the some project, it having flared up on the 8th inst. for a short time.

Completes Good One

The Dabny-Johnston Oil Corporation has just brought in No 77 in the extreme southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field of an initial flow of 2600 barrels of oil a day from depth of 7300 feet. It is in the same general vicinity as McKeon's No. 7, which is said to have opened up the zone under a three-acre tract never developed previously, and which is producing at the rate of 1400 barrels daily.

Between the westerly extension of the Signal Hill field and Los Cerritos, the Bush Oil Company has just completed Bell No. 3 for 400 barrels daily. In Los Cerritos, the Zenith Oil Company's No. 2 is flowing and gauge is expected to be established today. Within the past two weeks daily yield in Signal Hill has been slashed approximately 13,700 barrels of oil, but new completions have more than offset that decline. The field yesterday put out 98,200 barrels of oil.

New Peak Established

Daily average production in the Venice field may pass the 40,000-barrel mark this week. Yesterday, the field flowed 38,734 barrels of oil. The Barnsdall-Cypress combination's No. 13-A on the Dana Burks lease, was brought in at the rate of 200 barrels daily and Union's Townsite No. 2 is good for 900 barrels daily. F. O. Allen's No 1 is flowing 450 barrels daily and the West Coast Oil Company's No. 1 came in for 400 barrels daily.

Deep Tests Progressing

Two deep tests in the townlot area of the Huntington Beach field continue to make progress with the drill. The McCausland No. 1 near the corner of Twenty-second and Olive streets, is drilling below 7900 feet in a hard formation.

A little better progress is being made by the Superior Oil Company's Fo; No. 1 on the easterly flank of the field. Its Fee No. 1 is drilling below 6942 feet. This project is located near the corner of Twenty-first and Walnut street.

Building Derrick

Derrick is going up for the Standard Oil Company's McPhail No. 1 on Sec. 14, 25-16 in the north Belridge district. This is to be a deep test and is in the same general vicinity where Continental, Texas, Associated and Ohio are preparing to drill, and is not far from the Belridge Oil Company's No. 15, which continues to produce at the rate of 3000 barrels of 45-deg gravity oil per day from a depth of 5475 feet. The Richfield Oil Company's No. 1 due northwest of Belridge's No. 15 recently landed a string of nine-inch casing with bottom below 5900 feet.

Into Gas Showings

Considerable gas showings have been encountered in the California Ventura Oil Company's Holston No. 2 at Hermosa Beach, according to company officials, and indications are that the operator's second test may be placed on production at about the same depth as Holston No. 1. Holston No. 2 is drilling below 2970 feet. The company's Holston No. 1 is averaging about 150 barrels of oil a day.

CITRUS EMPIRE YIELDS RECORD

Return Estimated at $124,250,000

Report Expected To Be Out Today

Wages Responsible for Large Increase

The largest total sum ever received in any year by the California citrus fruit industry, and by its Southern California section exceeding $14,000,000, is expected to be shown by an annual report scheduled to be issued today by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, the co-operative marketing agency for nearly all of the citrus fruits grown in California.

The estimated increase forecasts a total citrus crop return of more than $124,250,000 for the season.

The survey indicating the coming report, shows that the increase essentially in the cash returns for oranges, which have more than offset the somewhat lighter production in certain areas, the price being higher. Lemons about the same and there has been little change in the grapefruit situation.

CALIFORNIA LEADS

California produces two-thirds of the oranges grown in the United States, all of the lemons, and 75 per cent of the grapefruit. Southern California, producing 72 per cent of all the oranges grown in California, 97 per cent of the lemons and 97 per cent of the grapefruit, received a total of $110,-[illegible] from its citrus crop in 1929. The aggregate amount, the orange production represented $81,-[illegible] lemons, $26,574,875, and grapefruit, $2,947,417. In some of the citrus-growing localities there is a noted drift toward larger orchards and some increase in acreage production.

The citrus situation is outstandingly bright in the country's [illegible] which is ascribed to the co-operative marketing method originated in Southern California and now [illegible] throughout the State, the demand for citrus products being created through carefully devised [illegible] and the stimulation of consumer demand.

HINTERLAND PRODUCTION

Of the ten Southern California counties, eight figure in orange production, the returns for them in 1929 being Orange, $[illegible]; Los Angeles, $22,504,800; San Bernardino, $18,625,930; Riverside, $[illegible],725; Ventura, $2,967,868; Santa Barbara, $640,000; Kern, $401,746; San Luis Obispo, $70,697.

The nine eight counties had the following "income" returns in 1929: Los Angeles, $6,532,500; Ventura, $[illegible],627; San Bernardino, $[illegible]; Orange, $3,633,224; San Diego, $[illegible],200; Santa Barbara, $[illegible]; Riverside, $1,501,313; Kern, $[illegible]. The orange and lemon packing plants in Riverside county also produced $354,400 worth of products from such citrus fruits as grown in Southern California.

The 1929 grapefruit production in the Southern California counties was the following returns: San Bernardino, $1,170,517; Riverside, $[illegible]; Imperial, $457,968; Kern, $262,800; Orange, $60,-[illegible]; San Diego, $54,250; Ventura, $[illegible]; Kern, $6000; Santa Barbara, $[illegible].

Orange county the premier citrus fruit producing center of the nation, and perhaps of the world, and Los Angeles contributes heavily in such production, but Riverside is able to place a greater tonnage on the market at a season when it has no competition, the navel orange, also produced in large amount and of like-excellent quality, plays an important part in making Southern California a supplier of oranges for practically the year [illegible].

CITY PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO NATION'S DEFENDERS

Armistice Day Parade at Coliseum Draws Massed Thousands to Honor War Veterans

In magnificent procession thousands of men and women, once members of fighting legions or their auxiliaries, marched triumphantly to the gay music of bands before a huge throng in the Coliseum yesterday. The calls of bugles, booming of drums, roar of airplanes and tramp of marching feet mingled with cries of acclaim and left a multitude thrilling with emotion.

But it was a mighty paean of peace and no tocsin of war. They were met in commemoration of the signing of the armistice that ended the World War twelve years two. Not in recent years has the annual celebration sponsored by the American Legion brought out a more remembering throng to do honor to those who stilled rampant strife in the world.

"I am pleased to announce," said Col. Perry W. Weidner at the Coliseum microphone, "that between 65,000 and 70,000 persons, the largest crowd in recent years, are here welcoming the veterans of our wars and commemorating the peace that we enjoy. It is estimated that more than 7500 persons have marched by you. The Legion is grateful that so many have come for such an occasion. You also are to be congratulated that you have this interest at heart."

YOUNG'S ADDRESS

"It was a happy thought, that of observing this day," Gov. Young speaker of the day, said in his brief address. "It is the helpful influence of the American Legion and such bodies that will bring about the full realization of the benefits of peace and the obligations of an American citizen. You constitute the most important single element in our body politic today and upon you rests largely the responsibility for the future.

"Democracy means responsibility on the part of all if government of the people by the people is to endure. You of the American Legion with your high ideals must take the leadership. You stand for the best in American life today and we of the passing generation unhesitatingly pass to you the hopes of the future. May the fires of continuing patriotism ever be continuously fanned by such an outpouring as I see here today."

"I am honored," Mayor Porter said, "to bring greetings to you veterans and we thank you for the great patriotism for which we are honoring you. It is well that we pause to remember the end of the most awful of all wars and to remember it as having been brought about by the greatest co-operation."

ETERNAL VIGILANCE

"Only by continual vigilance," said Past National Commander John R. Quinn in introducing the Governor, "can we keep the peace that we have brought and we must do it with more patriotic education."

Seven heroes who have been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor were introduced to the assembly. They are David E. Hayden, Louis Van Iersel, Robert Von Schlick, E. E. Lyon, Charles H. Pierce, Austin Dennan and Frank McCloskey. The crowd applauded long.

The ceremony began with a parade that consumed more than an hour and was followed by a program of equal duration. Hollywood Post, No. 43 provided band music to entertain the crowd before the beginning of the events. South Pasadena Post No. 140 in spectacular costume and drill work gave an initial exhibition. When the parade began a squadron of seven airplanes led by Col. Arthur Goebel soared above the Coliseum and showered it with flowers which lay strewn on the field during the celebration.

PARADE ENTERS

The Salvation Army Band brought in the vanguard of the parade. It was the Gold Star Mothers. They were provided with special sections in the grand stand. Special sections also were provided for high schools and were filled to a seat. In the reviewing line were Gov. Young, Vice-Admiral Leigh of the Navy, Maj.-Gen Charles S. Farnsworth, Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, Mayor Porter and others.

Los Angeles' Own, the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry Regiment of the California National Guard, drew much applause as it marched by. One little group touched the assembly particularly. It was a handful of maimed and crippled veterans of California Hut. The massed colors of participating Legion posts drew prolonged applause as they were carried by. Maywood Post provided the crowd with its only laugh of the day when its grotesquely decorated wobbly automobile made its way by the reviewers.

PROCESSION UNITS

In the long procession were hundreds of soldiers, marines, reserves, schoolboys of the R.O.T.C., and

TWO LOSE LIVES IN AIR TRAGEDY

Long Beach Cafe Owner and Boy Die in Crash

Plane Bursts Into Flames After Fatal Plunge

Would-be Rescuers Driven Back by Fire's Heat

In plain view of motorists held back by fierce flames, a Long Beach cafe owner and the young son of the skipper of the Gosling, private yacht of Sam K. Rindge, millionaire, were burned to death yesterday in the wreckage of a plane that had plunged to earth with them a few yards from the Wilmington Air Terminals, Ltd., at Wilmington.

Frank H. Friedman, 35 years of age, owner of the East Side Cafe at 844 West Anaheim street, Long Beach, an enthusiast in aviation who had obtained his pilot's license only a few days ago, was one of the victims.

Tom Busher, 16, son of Capt. Fred S. Busher, veteran seafaring man and trusted employee of Mr. Rindge, was the other.

The boy, student at Wilmington High School, also had been captivated by the glamour of flying, and had spent much of his spare time at the Wilmington airport.

The small two-seater biplane in which they had had gone aloft for an Armistice Day spin yesterday, with the newly licensed Friedman at the controls, made its fatal plunge in the open field just outside the airport at South Figueroa and O streets.

WING STRIKES EARTH

This was at the completion of the air ride. The plane was only 150 feet in the air, leveling off for the landing, when suddenly the left wing dipped sharply. It struck the ground, and almost instantly, it seemed, the plane was on the ground and in flames.

Motorists who had seen the plane fall hurried across the field in the hope of effecting a rescue, but were driven back by the hot, gasoline-fed flames.

Wilmington police were called, but because of the charred condition of the bodies it was not for some time the names of the flyers were learned, and the incidents of the fatal air ride revealed.

Friedman, it was learned, was married and the father of a 6-year-old son, the family living at 1149 East Second street, Long Beach.

PLANE RENTED

His cafe at 844 West Anaheim street does a profitable business and Friedman had devoted much of its earnings to learning to be a flyer and obtaining a pilot's license. He began training six months ago and usually rented a plane either from the Wilmington Airport, or some other port near by.

Yesterday he told his assistant at the East Side Cafe he had decided to take a two-hour flight as an Armistice Day outing. He rent-

TAKING out their grief on Mr. Nibs Price, the coach, isn't going to help Berkeley's football pride much.

The truth is that U.S.C.'s 74-0 team, as it played last Saturday, could have licked the wadding out of any other team that ever stepped on a football field. It was just one of those days of miracle football.

As miracles do not often happen in bunches, U.S.C. is not likely to do as well against Notre Dame. Even a wonder team couldn't do that stuff twice.

LAMBS FOR SLAUGHTER

I felt sorry for that Berkeley team. Whenever U.S.C. went into a huddle the other fellows looked like the French aristocrats during the Revolution waiting for the call to the guillotine.

WHERE TALKIES ARE WEAK

A very interesting letter from D. W. Griffith. Having put over the greatest triumph seen so far in the talkies, he is privileged to be frank. He says that talking pictures will never get anywhere worth while as long as one bonehelld trying to run a projection machine can undo all the work of stars and directors and make the dialogue sound like some nails being shaken in a barrel.

LEARNING LANGUAGES

The promise of a steamship company to teach the passengers elementary Spanish on a one-day's voyage to Ensenada seems sunny optimism. Nevertheless, Ramon Novarro tells me the way to learn a language is from phonograph rolls. That is the way he learned French well enough to star in and direct a French picture.

"Don't try," he said, "to understand what the phonograph is saying. Just keep it going—while you are shaving, while you are dressing—until you are soaked full of the sound of the words."

CHEAP WHEAT

Wheat at 69½ cents looks as though we were near the cellar. It can't go much lower or get much worse. Even before this drop of Monday's market every wheat farmer in the country was figuring his crop at a heavy loss.

WHY IS PROSPERITY?

I don't believe there is any use trying to figure out when prosperity will return. One day we will wake up to find it here. There must be a definite law of cause and effect governing finance, just as there is an inevitable and inexorable law governing the rain. If anybody had brains enough both could be spotted years in advance. But the published, shuffling predictions make it horribly clear that no one knows what this governing law is.

Governor-Elect La Follette on Visit at Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 11.—Philip M. La Follette, Governor-elect of Wisconsin, has been visiting here since Sunday, it was learned today, as the guest of his sister, Mrs. Fola La Follette Middleton and her husband, George Middleton, the playwright, at their home in the Sovereign Apartments. He expects to remain several weeks.

Gov.-elect La Follette, 32 years of age is a son of the late United States Senator Robert M. La Follette and a brother of the incumbent United States Senator from Wisconsin, Robert M. La Follette, Jr.

It was also learned today that Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr. expects to pay a visit to his sister here before the next session of the Senate. He spent several weeks here last year as a guest at the Miramar Hotel.

MRS. HUNT, EDUCATOR, SUCCUMBS

Pioneer Woman Noted as Leader in School and Civic Advancement

Mrs. Mary L. Hunt, wife of Sumner P. Hunt, architect, esteemed for forty-three years as one of Southern California's leading club women and educators, died yesterday at her home, 3645 Severance street, after prolonged illness.

Twice president of the Ebell Club in its early days and first vice-principal of the old Los Angeles High School, Mrs. Hunt was widely known among old-time residents. Her efforts in behalf of education, civic betterment and social advancement caused her to be held in universal respect and affection.

A native of Cincinnati, she came to California in 1887, establishing a residence at San Bernardino. Not long afterward she moved to Los Angeles, becoming a teacher in the local schools. Subsequently she not only became president of Ebell Club, but was largely responsible for es-

EIGHT INJURED IN OIL FIRES

Wells Aflame in Both Inglewood and Venice Fields; Battalion Chief and Firemen Casualties

Six oil workers, a fireman and Battalion Fire Chief Winkler of Venice were burned or injured in two oil well fires yesterday.

Three of the oil workers were severely burned when flames followed an explosion at the York-Smullin well No. 1 in the Inglewood-Potrero field, Inglewood. They are William L. Murry, 414 Locust street, Norwalk; Steve Fall of El Modena, and Albert J. Snow of 53 North Hillcrest street, Inglewood.

FIGHT THROUGH FLAMES

The explosion and fire took place about 2 p.m. The York-Smullin well, had been a sluggish producer for some time, and it was decided to shut down production and clear the pipes. The cleaning was in process when suddenly an explosion, presumably originating from natural gas produced by the well rocked the derrick house. Almost instantly a 1500-barrel storage tank immediately adjacent to the well, caught fire, and the three workers had to make their way through the raging flames to the outer air.

Warner Fuses Studio Offices

Consolidation of all of the executive offices of the Warner Brothers' motion-picture studio interests at the First National studios when production activities are commenced next month by both companies was announced yesterday in New York by Jack L. Warner, vice-president of production, according to dispatches.

This means that no longer will executives connected with Warner productions have offices at the studio on Sunset Boulevard. Some of the stages will be utilized at this studio for picture work, while others will be used for phonograph recordings.

NEW DOWNTOWN AREA TO HAVE PARKING CURB

An amendment to the traffic ordinance placing the district bounded by Grand avenue, Temple street, Broadway and Sunset Boulevard in the Central Traffic District, and thus restricting parking in this area, has received the approval of the City Council, that body having instructed the City Attorney to draft and present the measure.

OIL-TAXING THEORIES TO BE STUDIED

Council Committee and Producers Far Apart on Fairness of Levy Plan

Two distinct theories of taxing the oil wells in the Venice field and, incidentally, other wells within the city limits, will come before the City Council this morning for action.

The Finance Committee on recommendation of several municipal departments, recently submitted an ordinance placing a tax of 1 per cent of gross income upon wells within the city.

The Venice-Del Rey Oil Producers' Association appeared in protest before the committee Monday afternoon and submitted a different proposition. The association suggests, upon wells of more than twenty-five barrels per day production, an original annual license fee of $100 and $50 annually thereafter, and a license fee of $25 per year upon wells of less than twenty-five barrels daily production.

The committee listened to the arguments but vouchsafed no opinion.

The theory upon which the 1 per cent tax is levied is that the city, from its general revenues, must provide fire and police protection, control traffic, and repair streets which are bound to be damaged by heavy trucking.

LIGHTS MAP APPROVED

The assessment district map for the installation of an ornamental lighting system in Third street between La Brea avenue and Gardner street, has been approved by the City Council.

CHEST REPORTS DUE TODAY

Dr. Patton to Be Principal Speaker at Luncheon of Workers in Campaign

With four days intervening since the last report meeting at the Biltmore, Community Chest team workers will meet again at noon today to turn in additional subscriptions that have been received.

Principal speaker on today's program will be Dr. Carl S. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Several delegations from Hollywood, the harbor and other outlying points have been invited. Mrs. Albert C. Crutcher, chairman of the residential districts, and Campaign Chairman Kerr were generous in their praise of the marked improvement shown this year by the Hollywood district organization.

"The Hollywood women are certainly measuring up to our fullest hopes and expectations in the Community Chest campaign work," said Mrs. Crutcher. "I had the pleasure of attending their report meeting at the Roosevelt last Monday, at which time the Hollywood teams had reached 83 per cent of their goal, and confidence was expressed that they would go over the top with their full quota very soon. The work those women are doing out there should serve as an inspiration to men and women alike throughout the city.

"The harbor distict has been leading, or up near the top, from the beginning of the campaign this year. All of which combines to serve as very conclusive evidence that the women of Los Angeles proper must look well to their laurels if they keep pace with those of the suburban communities."

Chairman Fred Seaver of the industrial divisions and George W. Dryer of the business divisions reported that their committees are at work and endeavoring to turn in completed reports as far as possible this week.

RATTLER ALWAYS PERIL SNAKE COLLECTOR SAYS

Take a tip from Paxson Hayes, snake hunter and collector of Hollywood, and believe that the rattlesnake is always dangerous and that there is no time of year when he is not as dangerous as other times.

Hayes is just back from a snake hunt over in the Painted Desert country of Northern Arizona with a good haul of rattlers. He collects them for commercial purposes, such as extracting the venom to be used by an eastern chemical company for making snakebite serum. He and his companions found 180 prairie rattlers in a cave, the largest number he has ever seen together. He brought 120 of them back alive.

Hayes verified the somewhat disputed statement that a rattler will die if exposed to the direct rays of the sun for five or ten minutes. "I have tried it and know that it is true," he said. "You read about snakes sunning themselves, but I have demonstrated that if you leave a snake out in the hot sun of the desert it will kill him."

Hayes was accompanied on his trip to the desert by Dan D. Baldwin and Arthur Gerstle, cameraman for the Gaumont News Reel of London.

RIFT WITH MISS BOW DENIED

Secretary Says She's Still in Actress' Employ but Vivacious Clara Declares They've Parted

A denial of reports that she and actress, have broken after more than Daisy De Voe, her secretary and she received her last pay check from Miss Bow only last Friday and that any purported trouble is "all news to me."

"As far as I know I am still her secretary," Miss De Voe stated. "Miss Bow has not served notice on me. I guess I'll have to find out all about it."

Miss De Voe stated she was at Miss Bow's home Monday night and again yesterday doing her usual secretarial duties. She attributed the reports to the fact she has moved from the Bow residence in Beverly Hills to live with her sister. She is with her sister, she said because the latter has separated from her husband and does not want to occupy her home alone with her baby.

On the other hand, Miss Bow asserted yesterday at the Paramount Studio that Miss De Voe is no

She said she and Miss De Voe parted on good terms more than a week ago and that they are still good friends. Additional inquiries were referred to her attorney, W. I. Reports were heard that Miss Bow and Miss De Voe broke their relations following a heated quarrel shortly after their return from New York the latter part of last month. This they both deny.

Bandits Neglect to Observe Armistice Day

Telegraph Office and Oil Stations Robbed

Policeman Unwittingly Sees Daring Crime

Armistice Day apparently held little significance for bandits. Robberies of two service stations and a downtown office of the Western Union Telegraph Company were reported before breakfast time.

A bandit described by Carter S. Earle as a "flashy dresser" held him up in a Union Oil station at 1201 South Western avenue and robbed him of $25.

J. O. Sears was tied hand and foot with wire by two bandits who held him up in a Texaco station at 3689 Beverly Boulevard, and robbed him of $50. Sears was released by a passing motorist who stopped when he heard the victim's cries for help.

The robbery of the Western Union offices at 610 South Spring street occurred shortly after dawn. It was perpetrated by a lone bandit while Detective Lieutenant Stevenson looked on, unaware of what was occurring, according to his own statement. The bandit sat down at a desk, wrote what Stevenson said he thought was an ordinary message and handed it to Everett McCready, night clerk. The note demanded money and threatened death as an alternative.

McCready, observing a pistol concealed under the bandit's coat, handed the man $50 in currency. He immediately walked out of the office and disappeared in a crowd of early morning workers walking by on Spring street, before McCready was able to notify the detective that he had been held up.

PIGGLY-WIGGLY STORE MANAGER HELD UP

An armed bandit in a black sedan with a New York license plate last night paid a visit to the Piggly-Wiggly store at 5423 South Central avenue. W. S. Hillman, manager, was the only one in the store. The bandit took $50 cash from the register and left.

"PEGGY" SOON WILL BE A LLOYD

Court to Act on Adoption This Year

LITTLE Marjorie Elizabeth Lloyd, 5 years of age, will officially become a member of the Harold Lloyd family before the first of the year when adoption proceedings are acted upon in Superior Court, it was learned yesterday. Marjorie, known as Peggy to everyone in the Lloyd household, informally became a member of the family about ten weeks ago.

She was adopted by Lloyd and his wife, Mildred Davis Lloyd, as a sister and playmate for Mildred Gloria Lloyd, 6 years of age.

"The two children are getting along wonderfully well together," said Mrs. Lloyd yesterday when she posed with them expressly for The Times. "They are happy in their school work and in their play and we are ever so pleased with the manner in which they have taken to each other."

Lloyd was not on hand to pose in the picture because he is in New York, where his latest picture, "Feet First," had its world premiere. He is expected home within a few weeks.

then Legionnaires. Bands there were without number. Among them were two bagpipe outfits in Scottish costumes. French and British veterans marched in designated units. Many colored soldiers and one strutting Negro band were in the line. Women of overseas service and various auxiliary units brightened the line with their special costumes of various kinds. Both men and women of the Indian, Civil and Spanish-American wars were in the line.

"This is a demonstration for peace," Homer Chailaux, chairman of the day, said, in beginning the program. "You have witnessed the finest parade we have given in the twelve years."

CONSULS INTRODUCED

Van Hogan, general chairman of the event, drew applause when he was introduced. Among the distinguished guests introduced were consuls for twenty countries. The Municipal Playground Harmonica Band provided the crowd with a unique selection.

J. A. H. Kerr, executive chairman of the Community Chest, addressed the throng briefly in support of the campaign for funds and said that last year more than 16,500 veterans received aid from Chest agencies.

Rabbi Magnin of B'nai B'rith delivered the invocation asking, "May we be worthy of the heritage that has come to us through the blood which they shed."

In concluding the event Mayor Porter, acting for the Legion, presented Gov. Young with a magnificent floral piece as a friend of the veteran.

CITY AT STANDSTILL

Hundreds of thousands of citizens at principal downtown street corners stopped in their vehicles or afoot at 11 a.m. for a minute at the sounding of taps by uniformed buglers stationed at the intersections by the Elks' Club. It was the one big city-wide demonstration of the day and included also broadcasting stations.

Many units of various kinds held special meetings or celebrations at various times during the day in churches, clubhouses and semipublic places.

INVALID'S ENTERTAINED

During the day 235 inmates of the Veterans' Hospital at San Fernando received especial attention in a program of speaking and drill and drum and bugle exhibitions from various organizations. John R. Quinn, past national commander of the American Legion, and Wright Hubbard, president of the County Council of the American Legion, were speakers.

Bedridden veterans heard the exercises by special radio equipment, and their beds and chairs were wheeled to windows of their quarters during exhibitions and drills by the South Pasadena Drum and Bugle Corps, the women's auxiliary drill team of Alhambra, the Gardena Drum and Fife Corps and the Los Angeles Police Post drill team. Radio entertainers also were on the program.

GOVERNOR-ELECT ROLPH PRAISES VETERANS

Governor-elect Rolph told a gathering of veterans at an Armistice Day ball at the Biltmore last night they are better American citizens for having served their country in the World War.

"You are twelve years older than when the Armistice was declared," he said. "Your hair is becoming tinged with gray, and most of you are men with families. But you are better men for having performed your duty."

The ball, given by Marion Davies, motion-picture actress, was attended by 3500 guests, of whom many were motion-picture stars. Miss Davies, honorary colonel of the Twenty-sixth Infantry of the First Division, presented the division with a regimental flag and an American flag. Capt. J. D. Symes and Col. Adolph Sutro made formal speeches of acceptance. Eddie Cantor was master of ceremonies of the entertainment provided by the motion-picture stars.

Armistice Day Explosion May Cost Girl Life

One girl was burned probably fatally and a boy received painful but not dangerous injuries when a gasoline stove in a hot-dog stand at an American Legion celebration at One Hundred and Second street and Wilmington Boulevard exploded last night and sprayed the surrounding crowd with flaming fluid.

Jane P. Turner, 13 years of age, 10022 Grape street, received first-degree burns about the face, arms, neck and torso. Homer Chivas, 9, of 1314 East One Hundredth street, was burned badly about the head. Half a dozen others received minor burns. The two injured children were brought to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for treatment and were taken later to General Hospital.

American Legion Post 320 was giving an Armistice Day dance in the street near where the explosion occurred.

NOISE REMEDIES WILL BE VOICED

Council Committees Will Hold Hearing Today

Proposed Curbing Measure Will Be Studied

Another Group Will Review New York Report

Adopting a policy in vogue in many American cities, two City Council committees this afternoon will conduct a public hearing upon methods of eliminating noise. The committees are the Health and Sanitation, Councilmen Williams, chairman, Webster and Henning, and the Public Welfare, Councilmen Ingram, chairman, Henning and Lewis.

The matter to be discussed is an ordinance recently submitted by Williams. It contains practically all legislation already upon the city's statute books concerning the abatement of noises. Williams, however, has added some new material, chiefly concerned with mechanical inventions of comparatively recent date.

INTENSE INTEREST

Many letters have been received by Williams since he introduced the ordinance, congratulating him upon the movement, and offering suggestions, and considerable interesting discussion is expected.

The committees, it is understood, are inclined to make recommendations which will bring about the elimination at once of objectionable and unnecessary sounds, rather than to potter about with a lengthy investigation of the why and wherefore of noise.

WILL STUDY REPORT

Mayor Porter recently appointed a committee to study the abatement of noise. The committee has had two meetings, and will have another next Monday afternoon, at which time the first subdivision of the New York City inch-thick noise investigation report, covering the operation of automobiles, trucks, busses and motorcycles, will be considered.

There are eight subdivisions of the New York report, which appears to be exhaustive and nearly complete.

BRADWAY ON PROGRAM

John S. Bradway, director of the legal aid clinic of the law school of the University of Southern California, is to speak at a morning meeting of the personnel of the American Red Cross in Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, at 9 a.m. today on the subject, "Work of the Legal Aid Clinic."

RADIO MAN WINTH LITHP THUIT

Jay Elmont, noon-time radio announcer, lisps, and that lisp is plainly audible to listeners-in, Municipal Judge Galbreth discovered when he tuned in on Elmont's station.

Judge Galbreth's listening was in line with his court duties, it was found later when Elmont was awarded judgment for $150 against a Hollywood restaurant. The announcer appeared in court some weeks ago asking damages from the restaurant because, he said, it had failed to eliminate a government wire staple, stamping the quality of the beef, before serving him with a slice of roast beef medium. The staple went into his tongue, Elmont complained, and he has since suffered from a lisp, a handicap in his work as radio announcer, where clear enunciation is required.

Judge Galbreth took the case under advisement until he had heard Elmont's voice several times before awarding him damages.

OIL PROMOTER GOES TO TRIAL

Gilbert Johnson Accused of Mail Frauds

Asserted Schemes to Lure Cash Will Be Told

Action Will Go on Today in Cosgrave's Court

Oil promotion schemes attributed to Gilbert S. Johnson, wealthy oil promoter of Texas and California, will be aired this week, Johnson went to trial yesterday before United States District Judge Cosgrave on charges of using the mails to defraud.

Operations of the half-dozen oil companies, one in Los Angeles, but mostly in Fort Worth, Tex., are said to involve investments by thousands of persons of several million dollars.

After the jury was obtained, John S. Pratt, special assistant to the Attorney-General, and Asst. U.S. Atty. Davis made opening statements to the jurors. They stated that Johnson, as practically the owner of the various oil companies, maintained offices in Fort Worth, San Francisco and Los Angeles, carrying on a thriving business from 1919 to 1925. They charged that misrepresentations were made through the mails to thousands of investors regarding the financial status of the various companies and that these companies were interlocked in such a manner that investors were forced to buy stock in other companies, or lose the stocks or interests they held.

The first witness to testify was W. P. Bateman, now an independent oil operator but formerly an accountant for some of the Johnson companies. He testified regarding the affairs of the various companies and how their accounts interlocked.

Johnson had resisted removal to Los Angeles for trial since 1925, said the prosecutors. When he was returned here, forty sacks of papers, seized in his office, were brought for evidence. The case will continue today.

TWINS MOVED FROM STAGE TO CONVENT

Ruby and Ruth Kleimer

South African Trade Envoy to Meet Exporters

Samuel H. Day, United States commercial attache at Johannesburg, South Africa, is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow for a three-day conference with business men having interests in the South African market. He is making a tour of the country for the Department of Commerce and will be available for interviews tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at the department's local office, 1163 South Broadway.

SAMUEL H. DAY

During the past year the United States moved into first place among the suppliers of merchandise to the South African market, Day said in Washington recently. American manufacturers are shipping annually more than $74,000,000 in goods to the dark continent. They are supplying 80 per cent of the automobiles and accessories used there, 60 per cent of the agricultural implements and tractors; 75 per cent of the petroleum products and 90 per cent of the silk hosiery.

His home was at 4855 Highland View avenue. He leaves his widow, one son, Louis, Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Kimbro.

WIFE FACES NEW BATTLE FOR FAMILY

Mrs. Kleimer Gets Divorce but Father Has Children in Chicago

Although Mrs. Maude Kleimer was given custody of her eight children when she was granted a divorce from Leonard Kleimer, furniture dealer, in Superior Judge Westover's court, it was revealed by Court Commissioner Doyle that seven of them are out of the court's jurisdiction and cannot be recovered without further action.

Commissioner Doyle recently received a letter from the children's father, who admitted he had taken them to Chicago with the idea of placing them in a convent. He believed, he said, that a religious education is preferable to the stage career planned for them by their mother. Two of the children, Ruth and Ruby, twins, are known on the stage as the American Beauty Twins.

On the stand, Mrs. Kleimer, directed by her attorney, Harry O. Cogen, to whom the case was referred by the University of Southern California Legal Aid Bureau, told a story of cruelty which was corroborated by her 13-year-old son Richard.

"I'm going to get them back," said Mrs. Kleimer, as she left the courtroom. "I'm sure they would prefer to be with me if they were given the chance to make a choice."

The children are, besides Richard and the twins, Leonard, 17; Louise, 15; David, 13; John, 12, and Rosemary, 8. Their mother lives at 1147 North La Brea avenue.

Newmark Has Good Chances, Doctor Reports

Following two attacks of lobar pneumonia during the last month, M. A. Newmark, pioneer wholesale grocer of Los Angeles, was reported last night in a favorable condition in Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital by Dr. John W. Hopkins, the attending physician.

Mr. Newmark, 80 years of age, who resides at 980 West Adams street, was removed to the hospital when he contracted pneumonia the first time.

Dr. Hopkins stated that Mr. Newmark's pulse and temperatures were nearly back to normal yesterday and that his chance of recovering is good.

Mr. Newmark is the founder of M. A. Newmark & Co., wholesale grocers, one of the oldest concerns in the city.

New By-product Plant for Grapes Will Open Soon

The recently completed Castorina grape by-products plant at Woodbridge, near Lodi, is scheduled to begin operations in a few days, according to an announcement here yesterday by Salvatore Castorina, its owner. Four thousand tons of grapes already have been bought for the plant, he said.

The plant's products will include denatured alcohol, manufactured under governmental permit; tartaric acid and other commodities. Castorina hopes eventually to utilize a large tonnage of grapes in a plant he is contemplating for Southern California.

The Woodbridge plant represents an investment of $150,000 and occupies a site leased from Sam Sebastian, according to Castorina.

Baking Company Pair Like West

Los Angeles has acquired two new boosters in John Heins and Russell O'Connor of Chicago, who are here as guests of Patrick J. Cooney, attorney, of the Subway Terminal Building.

Heins's father, J. W. Heins, is vice-president of the Purity Baking Corporation, and O'Connor's father, deceased, was president of that corporation. Young Heins and O'Connor are following in their fathers' footsteps, learning the ins and outs of the baking business.

Both the visitors are enthusiastic over Southern California. O'Connor finds it particularly to his liking because of the opportunities afforded for indulgence in his two favorite pastimes, flying and horseback riding.

Wife Divorces Screen Worker

Motion-picture work interfered with her husband's drinking, pretty Mrs. Pauline E. Calhoun testified in obtaining a divorce from Austin C. Calhoun, film extra. Superior Judge Westover granted the wife a decree, together with custody of her daughter Betty, 7 years of age, and ordered Calhoun to pay $40 a month for the child's support.

"He drank habitually when he should have been filling picture engagements," asserted Mrs. Calhoun, who added that she worked as private secretary to support herself and child.

FAMILY COMPARISONS CAUSES WIFE'S DIVORCE

Unfavorable comparison of his family and her family was complained of by Mrs. Helen L. Peterson, whose divorce from John L. Peterson, automobile finance man, was on file yesterday in Superior Judge Yankwich's court. Mrs. Peterson testified her husband was intemperate in his drinking.

BRITISH WAR VETERAN REPORTS MEDAL LOSS

Armistice Day was unlucky for Jack Doody, British war veteran, of 2110½ Vallejo street, for participation in the parade cost him his French Victory Medal, he reported last night. He missed the decoration as he entered the Coliseum, and believes, therefore, that it dropped from his coat lapel somewhere along Menlo avenue. Since it was awarded him for conspicuous bravery with the Royal Horse Artillery, he hopes the finder will return it to him. His phone is CApitol 6040.

For Hard Coughs That Call For Super-Help

Creomulsion is made for coughs from colds that hang on. For coughs deep and difficult—coughs where you dare not risk a less effective help.

But careful people use it for coughs which seem milder—use it to do the utmost and be safe. For nobody knows where a cough may lead.

Creomulsion combines seven major helps in one. Some coughs yield best to one help, some to another. Doctors often differ on the best help, for coughs are not alike. So here we combine all the best—to be sure.

Creosote stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and made palatable. For soothing membranes and combating germs, it is considered the supreme help in this type of cough.

But other helps are sometimes needed—pine tar, wild cherry, menthol ipecac and others. Nobody can tell to which help your cough will soonest yield. So experts have combined in Creomulsion all best helps in one. No narcotic, nothing harmful to a child, but a seven-way help to deal with all conditions.

The price is $1.25—a little higher than a lesser help. But your druggist guarantees it. Your money is returned if it fails to bring the quick, complete help you desire. Don't you think it worth that little extra to be sure that you are doing the utmost for a cough?

Today's Bible Text

And he that overcometh, and keepeth My works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations; and he shall rule them with a rod of iron; and I will give him the morning star.—Rev. ii: 26-28.

LIGHTNING-LIKE

Maybe Heflin "would rather be right than Senator," but he knows now that a party bolt can shoot two ways at the same time.

MAKING IT STICK

We'll forgive the prosperity spellbinders anything if they will refrain from asking us "to become job conscious." Most of us have been that way for a long time.

SOMETHING MISSING

There is a craze just now for pewter and those who collect and pay high prices are calling it a "pewter renaissance." But somehow the absence of malt liquors (except in Chicago, of course,) doesn't seem to jibe with the return of the drinking tankards of colonial days in America.

DESERVED

Whatever one's likes or dislikes may be regarding stars or movie dramas, the merit award of the Motion Picture Academy to Willard Van Der Veer and Joseph T. Rucker for their work in "With Byrd at the South Pole," shows that really great achievements are outside the pale of individual tastes and are their own rewards.

KIPLING CAN'T FORGET

Because he lost a son in the war and because he always has had strong sympathy for Tommy Atkins in and out of battle, Rudyard Kipling delivered himself of a bitter poetic satire on the British Labor government's suggestion to foreign powers that no wreaths be laid on the tomb of the unknown soldier during official visits to England.

This proposed lessening of the honors to the british warrior dead so aroused the indignation of the author of "Soldiers Three" that in his poem of "Memories" he lashes the government without mercy. Doubtless his irate cutburst found an echo in the hearts of many Britishers bereft of sons in the great conflict, but there are discerning people who see in the government's action nothing to resent.

It is now explained that the intent of the British officials was not to lessen the respect of foreigners or others for those who sacrificed their lives for their country but to prevent the bestowal of floral tributes from becoming coldly and commonly ritualistic. But one readily can condone the act of Kipling in crying his loudest against the suggestion. A loss as great as his tends to blind a parent to the hollow amenities of form. While the suggestion may seem quite sensible to some it strikes Kipling in the heart.

THE SUPERVISORS REPLY

Several valid points are made by replies of the various Supervisors to the report to the grand jury by Messrs. Albright, Meikle and Thomas, engineers, on the San Gabriel Dam. One of these, made by Supervisor Wright, is that the railroad and some other construction intended for the now abandoned forks structure will be useful for the flood-control dam or dams that will be built, so that the money spent is by no means a total loss.

This is quite correct. The San Gabriel flood problem remains to be solved and the failure of one attempted solution in no way affects this fact. These waters must be controlled for the double purpose of preventing property damage and of conserving them for use, and as dams must be built for control the railroad and the highway are needed and will prove useful.

It is also urged that adequate engineering advice was had by the Supervisors before proceeding. That the quantity was adequate may be conceded, but it appears that the quality was lacking, or that where the advice was good it was not heeded. The result clearly proves the inadequacy of the preparatory steps, for if these had been sufficient the San Gabriel Dam would now be well on the way to completion. That the greatest mistakes were made by men no longer connected with the project is quite clear, and if the report is at fault it is in not emphasizing this fact. On the whole the findings of Messrs. Albright, Meikle and Thomas are constructive criticism of great value.

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE

Thoughts of the world turned naturally yesterday to international relations, as the heads of two great governments spoke, within a few hours of each other, upon the progress of the movement to put such relations upon an enduring peace basis. Premier MacDonald of Great Britain first voiced the willingness of the British Empire to take further steps toward disarmament, and President Hoover in his Armistice Day address promised a further development of the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, praised the World Court and League of Nations, told of the fast-growing network of treaties of arbitration and conciliation, and pointed to the London naval pact as the removal of one cause of friction.

The plea of Herr Schacht for the cancellation of the German war debt, the prediction of former Ambassador Gerard that the Young plan will break down within eighteen months, the news from Tokio that Japan will build ships to the full naval strength allotted her, the proceedings of the Preliminary Disarmament Conference at Geneva, where Hugh Gibson, America's representative, yesterday proposed direct limitation of land and air armaments, and the proceedings of the Good Will Congress of the World Alliance for International Friendship at Washington, to which President Hoover spoke, were other straws indicating the directions of varying international winds, most of them favorable.

President Hoover pointed out that fifty-eight nations have signed the Kellogg-Briand pact with five soon to join, leaving but two in all the world outside the protection of its pledges. It is daily being strengthened, he declared, by agreements for negotiation, conciliation and arbitration between the various signatories. The United States has such treaties with forty-five nations, of which twenty-six have been ratified and the remainder are pending in the Senate or in process of being submitted to it.

"It is my belief," he added, "that the world will have become firmly interlooked with such agreements within a very few years, and that it will become an accepted principle of international law that disputes between nations which it has not been possible to determine through the ordinary channels of diplomacy shall in future be submitted to arbitration or to international conciliation commissions.

"In the development of methods of pacific settlement, a great hope lies in ever extending the body and principles of international law on which such settlements will be based. The World Court is now a strongly established institution amongst forty-five nations as a continuing body, performing and facilitating justiciable determinations which can only be accomplished sporadically under special treaties of arbitration. Its permanence is assured and from it there is steadily growing a body of precedent, decisions and acceptance of law in the formulation of which we should have a part, not alone in our own interest, but in advancement of peace."

The President alluded to his own suggestion, a year ago, that food ships be exempted from blockade and the security of food supplies guaranteed by neutral transport and management.

"I proposed it not alone on humane grounds, but that the haunting fears of nations who must live from over the sea might be relaxed and the sacrifices which they make for naval strength might be lessened," he said. "Our food supplies are assured and it is, therefore, from us a disinterested proposal. It would make for prevention as well as limitation of war."

As a nation born in and preserved by war, the United States cannot contend that there never is righteous cause for armed conflict, he said, nor can it be assumed that the forces for peace are yet sufficient. The United States can be a powerful aid by keeping aloof from European controversies, and by offering "good offices and helpfulness free of any advance commitment as to the character of our action."

In sharp contrast to the President's inspiring words was the sneering attack by Senator Hiram Johnson, in the latter's Armistice Day speech at Fresno, upon those who are leading America's effort toward permanent international peace. "Robot statesmen," mouthing "pages of platitudes and pots of propaganda" in a "pose of peace which is but a sham to cover a multitude of shortcomings" was California's senior Senator's snarling characterization of the administration's program to further amity among the nations.

The reason for Johnson's tirade is not farther to seek than his own embittered jealousy of President Hoover, a state of mind which manifests itself in violent opposition to anything espoused by the Chief Executive. Were the latter suddenly to turn belligerent militarist, Johnson would instantly become one of the loudest shouters for what he now denounces.

Other speakers before the Good Will Congress included Jacob Gould Schurman and Alanson B. Houghton, former American ambassadors to Germany, and Arthur Meighen, former Canadian Premier. Houghton's comment on the enemies of peace in America was particularly apropos. He said: "The enemies of peace here in America are not so much those without our frontiers as those within—those who foster hate, spread suspicion and create distrust, and those who are always ready in the name of patriotism, to make the orderly conduct of affairs more difficult and at times more dangerous." That he had in mind the Hearst-made opposition to the World Court cannot be doubted.

THE DEEP THINKERS

An American foundation with several millions behind it is providing Prof. Einstein with an assistant and understudy to carry on his research. Probably the nominee will have to study hard for some time in order to catch up with the professor. But, anyhow, the work will go on.

THE GOOD INDIAN

Alfred Lingle may not have been a saint, but his death begins to take on the hue of martyrdom in the face of what it promises to do in freeing Chicago from the clutches of gangdom.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

ONE of the pleasant obligations we have taken on ourself is that of pointing out easy, simple and sure ways to wealth to people not gifted with our financial genius and business acumen. So today we suggest—in a spirit not only unselfish, but hopeful—that if you are making less than $500 a week and wish to increase your income you drive out among the chicken ranches in your spare time and sell telechron clocks.

For there are millions of chickens in Southern California—thousands in every suburban neighborhood—and if you'll just lie awake any night you will hear convincing proof that the clocks of three-fourths of them must be all wrong.

Lives of Service

Since time immemorial it has been the duty of roosters to crow every hour throughout the night. Doubtless they were taught that trick by some night watchman who was supposed to visit the coops every hour to see that all was safe, but instead trained his charges to wake him up with their own outcry every hour, making it unnecessary for him to leave his downy couch. The fact that the roosters still do their best to wake you, no matter how soundly you are in the habit of sleeping, further indicates that it must have been a night watchman.

Incidentally, it has taken the world a long, long time to come to any appreciation of the rooster's sense of duty. A rooster's life is full of duties and he unflinchingly performs them all. How'd you like to be the husband of forty hens instead of one? As chief provider for the flock he must study the habits of worms, the ways of bugs. He must be a military strategist able to pierce the defenses set up by gardeners. He must bravely thrust himself between his charges and any danger which threatens. An average man couldn't take a rooster's job and last three days.

And after working hard all day, providing for forty mates, he has to wake up every hour and rouse others.

Such a life of service! Why do service clubbers call themselves Lions and other animals? Because they don't dare call themselves roosters. They admit, for once, their limitations.

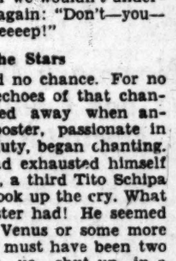
Thoroughly Modern Chickens

The San Fernando Valley is the home of the most amazing chicken ranches that ever were. There are electric-lighted, gas-heated, automatically watered chicken houses in which chickens are born in incubators, snuggle up in lots of 600 under the broad bosom of a gas heater and never get temperamental because they have no parents or grandparents to spoil them. They get just the right number of vitamins—count 'em—every day, and begin to lay the very day they reach a certain age and size, so that the eggs will all be large and uniform. They are such creatures of normalcy and habit that they actually line up for mess at the proper time, and stand in line to take their turns at the nests when they reach the age for laying. If all the people who are laying around would produce like the San Fernando Valley chickens there would be no hard times in this or any other country.

And the San Fernando Valley isn't unique. There are thousands of chicken ranches on every side of Los Angeles.

Value of Insomnia

But now that motor cars hum over the highways all night long, and all-night markets are busy, and things don't begin to get really good for emergency hospitals till midnight, the roosters of Los Angeles county seem to be losing some of their historic cunning. They are just as sincere as ever, they do their darnedest, but they seem to have lost all idea of time.



We made this important discovery last night, while wrestling with insomnia, the inspiration of so many great ideas. Our private belief is that if it weren't for insomnia this world would be at least 2000 years behind its present state of progress. It probably was a roof garden in which Newton saw the apple fall. Anyway, we were just drifting across the borderland of sleep when a rooster chanted: "Oo—oo—oo—oo—ooooooo!" And then, for fear we wouldn't understand, he called again: "Don't—you—go—to—sleeeeeeeeeep!"

Voices to Dim the Stars

Indeed, we had no chance. For no sooner had the echoes of that chanticlarion call died away when another earnest rooster, passionate in his devotion to duty, began chanting. And when he had exhausted himself for another hour, a third Tito Schipa of Chickendom took up the cry. What a voice that rooster had! He seemed to be singing to Venus or some more distant star. He must have been two good blocks from us, shut up in a chicken house, yet we could hear him as if he were singing right into our ear. And that tenor rooster was followed by a basso that would have made Challapin's voice seem pathetic for its lack of carrying power and volume.

It struck us that all but one of those birds must be wrong. Each must think he was announcing, "One o'clock and all's well." We rolled out of bed and switched on the light. The clock showed the time to be 12:47.

From that time on till 1:14 roosters here, there and yonder still were carrying on heroically. And at seventeen minutes to 2, just as we were slipping away to sleep again, they began performing for another half hour.

Birth of a Nighdea

Then it was that one of those flashes of genius which have made us the power we are in the world of finance came to us. If roosters have been crowing the hours for 10,000 years, they must take pride in their tradition. It must depress them and lessen their efficiency to know that they are missing the mark every time they crow, some of them by as much as twenty-nine minutes. To err is human and to get mixed up on time is feminine, so it must be quite a blow to a rooster's pride to err like that.

The chicken raisers of Los Angeles county do everything reasonable and some things unreasonable for the peace of mind and happiness of their feathered producers. Who can doubt that once these facts are pointed out to them, each will be eager to buy a telechron cuckoo clock for his henhouse?

THE U. P. WAREHOUSE

The application of the Overland Terminal Warehouse Company, a Union Pacific subsidiary, to the State Railroad Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity enabling it to build a $1,000,000 warehouse at Ninth and Alameda streets, will come up for a hearing tomorrow. There is understood to be some opposition to it by local warehouse men, who say there is sufficient warehouse space in the city at present. While their feeling is understandable, they are taking a short-sighted view of the situation.

Los Angeles is certain to outgrow its present warehouse space, and the contention of the Union Pacific that it is providing for the future seems to be a sufficient answer. To make provision now for future needs is a wise move, as building costs are very low at present and the early return of normal business conditions, likely to cause a demand for warehouse space, is predicted by nearly everybody.

The erection of this building would give early employment to about 600 men and permanent jobs for from 50 to 100 will be open when it is completed and in operation. While temporarily it may come into competition with existing warehouses, in the long run these will be benefited by the growth in business it will foster. The public interest will be served by its erection.

THREE STRIKES AND OUT

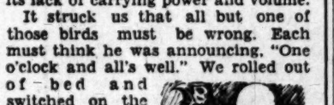
No more big gold strikes such as the Homestakes, Rands and Klondikes will be made in the world, is the statement of experts of the League of Nations. Possibly they release this finding in the interests of universal peace. However, they do not know California. They think gold digging is a game—three strikes and out.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND

Those hundreds of millions of extra deposits in the banks belong to the people who are afraid to buy real estate when prices are at rock bottom, but just see how busy the clearinghouses will be when top quotations are reached.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

The movie magnates may battle if that's in the cards, but so long as they don't revive the "theme song" we'll give three rousing cheers for both sides.



CONCERNING THE FLY
By James J. Montague
(Which is now being defended by feeble-willed friends)

The housefly, I have lately heard,
Is really quite a treasure
And most unjustly has incurred
The popular displeasure.
It neither bites nor kicks nor stings
As 'round the room it breezes,
Nor carries germs upon its wings
To generate diseases,
But, so its new-found friends assert,
It gives us much protection
By eating scraps of food and dirt,
Which might produce infection.

But if his heart were purest gold,
If he had every virtue,
And not for affluence untold
Would he offend or hurt you—
If he were noble and sublime
And had no wish to harm you
And put in all his extra time
Endeavoring to charm you,
If he should turn the other cheek
When I essayed to strike him,
And was the meekest of the meek
I simply could not like him.

I possibly may do him wrong,
But when, with wings a-quiver,
He comes his buzzing way along,
I view him with a shiver.
A polar bear I might defy
In farthermost Siberia,
But when beside me lights a fly
I'm stricken with hysteria.
He has no charm of form or face
Nor useful occupation,
And I insist he's out of place,
In civilized creation.

A Scrap of Paper

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It was a terrible surprise and disappointment to read in the daily papers that England was going to make a scrap of paper out of its covenant with the Jewish people. They had agreed to permit the Jewish people to return to their Holy Land.

The law provides that those settlers who are given free land must conform to certain rules and regulations to improve the land or to forfeit their rights to any claims. The Arabs, in settling on the land of Palestine, instead of improving the soil, neglected it, and the roads were destroyed. It is apparent that the Arabs did not intend to stay there, because they know the country doesn't belong to them. The Jews in a few years have improved the country to a greater extent than the Turks or the Arabs since 1450.

And while the Jews, in every civilized country, were collecting money to improve the soil of their legally given land, the Arabs were also collecting money for the purposes of propaganda in England, instead of devoting it to agriculture. Now MacDonald wants to compel the Jews to pay "alimony" to the Arabs for slaughtering innocent men, women and children. The English people sympathized with the Jews in the case of the massacre. They should now protest to the Labor government against its avowed policy of destroying the Jewish national aspirations.

No Sidewalks Provided

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the effort to decrease the number of executions by the automobile in our city attention should be called to the numerous places where sidewalks are lacking and pedestrians are forced into the traffic. The death of the wife of a mail carrier, killed on Washington Boulevard yesterday, and serious injury of the husband, emphasize it.

It took five years for petitioners to get the sidewalks put in on Beverly Boulevard between Hobart and Kingsley Drive. Lawsuits, hearings, bond issues galore succeeded one another and every time a housewife walked to the grocery or market she was in danger of her life.

On Beverly, each side of Van Ness, is a deathtrap; apparently everybody, including the more or less Honorable Councilman and whoever doesn't look after our streets, are perfectly contented. This corner is one of the most congested in the city. A hundred times a day scores of motor cars are packed in on one side or the other waiting opportunity to get through. Moreover, thousands of them go at forty miles an hour from Western avenue west.

It is the nth degree of absurdity that sidewalks should be lacking in such parts of the city.

Did Not Understand

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A highly excited individual speaking over a radio last evening denounced "J. M. S." for writing a communication "against the Community Chest," and classifying him as a moron. At first I thought that Bob was again at work on his untaxed radio, but the tirade was below his standard. The bawler evidently did not read the lines straight, or he could not understand them.

What I did write was: That the people gave about $3,000,000 a year to charity and that all beggars should be sent to the charitable institutions, instead of being allowed to further tax the public by begging. If any of the beggars were impostors they should be sent to jail. There is no room on the crowded streets for any beggars—worthy or shams. I presume there are hospitals where those deserving charity can be cared for without cost to themselves? If not, such institutions should be provided out of this $3,000,000.

It would be interesting to the givers of charity to know what salaries are given to the officials of the Chest, also to the workers. Also, whether they receive more pay than they get in their other occupations? This would, perhaps, inspire more confidence among the "cheerful givers?" and swell the Chest.

All salaries should be merely nominal. They can give their time; while others give money.

"Made in Germany?"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Times has always been foremost in the defense of this city and I wish to call your attention to a matter of vital importance to this community.

While our steel companies here in the city are running only two and three days a week, foreign steel in large quantities is being dumped here. Only last week fifty-seven carloads were discharged from one boat, and there is more of the same to follow. The writer has seen a sample of this material and it bore the tag, "Made in Germany."

I am told this material is now going into the new addition enlarging the Coliseum and other public works, while our American workmen are idle. Is there a remedy?

ROBERT G. SPROUL
By The Foothill Philosopher

Refreshingly different from the average address of the average educator was the speech of Dr. Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California, Berkeley, given recently before the Advertising Club at the Biltmore Hotel.

President Sproul is and dares to appear original. Every time he speaks he "says something." Those who hear him may forget his words, but they remember his ideas and are inspired by his ideals.

Robert G. Ingersoll once said that Shakespeare's kings spoke not as kings are wont to speak, but in the royal manner that Shakespeare felt that great rulers should speak. Robert G. Sproul does not address a public gathering as does the average academician, but as he probably feels that a prominent educator should address an audience. He uses the language of the people to express those lofty sentiments and high ideals which the people like to hear voiced by the head of a great institution.

Dr. Sproul began his address by assuring his hearers that he was glad to be in the home town of "the most active and promising part of the University of California." Fine, bold words are those from an influential man who is returning to the north and is not depending on southern votes to keep him there!

The rare courage of the leader who invites criticism at the risk of personal defeat in the interests of the organization he represents was exemplified by President Sproul, who welcomed constructive criticism of our modern universities from faculties, student bodies and the public, declaring that such criticism is a sign of life and hope and that "entire satisfaction with our institutions of learning would constitute cause for alarm."

Nietzsche's great quarrel with the human race was that men do not use humanity as a bridge to something "beyond man." President Sproul seems to regard the homes of learning in much the same manner. He does not wish the school to be "a sort of China, calling itself Greece." The founders of our university, he said, bequeathed to us a great institution "which must continue to grow or grow ashamed." Instead of wishing to see the school live mostly in the past, he would have it live largely in the present, with its eye on the future. He places the ability and the will to think above the capacity to accumulate a storehouse of facts.

"The prime purpose of a State university is the development of intelligent leadership and if the university fails in this it is subject to a grave indictment," declared Dr. Sproul.

In other words, Dr. Sproul feels that education should be a preparation for living, rather than that life should sit at the feet of education. However, although a pragmatist in the purest sense of the word, Dr. Sproul's pragmatism is not confined to a desire for financial and mechanical results, but includes an appreciation of those intangible but real values which may be weighed and measured only by the soul.

Rising from newsboy to the presidency of the greatest university in the West, "Bob" Sproul, the eleventh and youngest president of that university, represents the highest type of western manhood. To describe his personal appearance is not to define his personality. He impresses one as a man of both strength and fineness, a man of vigor without vulgarity or cruelty, one who works without strain, thinks without fever and fights without fear or bitterness. So long as our democracy, through its schools and by its standards of life, molds such leaders for our institutions of learning, the schools will reciprocate by presenting to our democracy, for every phase of life, leaders whose standards and conduct will be a credit to the nation.

What with the astronomers lengthening our vision by their marvelous telescopes, the microphonists elongating our ears with new aural aids and the archeologists adding millions of years to our historical memories through their patient digging, man will begin, indeed, to believe that he is but "little lower than the angels." The eight "makers of the universe" pointed out recently by Bernard Shaw have all contributed to the extension of vision and understanding of space, time, light and laws of the universe—Pythagoras and Aristotle in the realm of philosophy, Ptolemy, Copernicus, Galileo and Kepler in the field of astronomy, Newton in the world of natural laws, while Einstein, of our own time, gathered together and built upon all the known laws of the universe, contributing his "space-time" and relativity theory which creates a new world for scientific calculation.

The "Speaker of the House" is ten years old this month, according to radio records. How he has grown! And multiplied! Nearly 14,000,000 loud and late speakers are reported in the United States, or nearly as many as families and telephones. This youthful speaker turns his attention to almost every activity known to modern man, from recreational nonsense to higher education and lullabies. His voice is a power in the land at election time, in disaster, in national anniversaries, in international conferences. What a force he may develop when he comes of age, no one can foretell!

SUPERSTITION

"Do not walk beneath a ladder," says the superstitious lout, "or you will be feeling sadder ere the closing of the day." People, joking and odd-acting, at times laugh my rede to scorn, but ere long I find them yearning that they never had been born." We'll be punished in this season if we do not heed each word; and he gives no reason for the thing that seems absurd. "There are thirteen sitting at the table," cries the boob affright; scared by some ancestral fable that she heard one winter night. And the unlucky guests won't swallow the first portions of the soup, for they know that doom will follow if the members of that group. Some, before the year is ended, will be lying dead and cold; others doubtless will have mended to the poorhouse or the fold. Better feed in some old manger with the horses and the kine than against a princely banquet a group of thirteen dine; for we can't avoid disaster; fate will have its way with us. I heard a parent yell, when a little piece of plaster from the ceiling fell. "Now I sometimes die a-borning," grim and ghastly warning of this omen never fails; much misery entails." But the parent, sorely stricken, lost his pep that once was his, and troubles soon would thicken on the woes around his path; he whiz. "I have seen a black cat streaking down the path I had to tread," cries a person shrieking, "and I know I shall be dead." So the person under superstitious kinds; are we civilized under—have the years dimmed our minds?

BRANCH COURT CONSIDERED

Municipal Judges Will Take Up Plea of Hollywood and West Los Angeles on 24th Inst.

Whether Hollywood and West Los Angeles will have branch divisions of the Municipal Court will be determined at a judges' meeting on the 24th inst., according to Presiding Judge Ambrose. A delegation from the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, headed by Carl Bush, secretary, attended the last monthly meeting of the municipal judges and petitioned for a court, as did a delegation from West Los Angeles.

Both delegations pointed out that they average more than a dozen criminal cases daily, on each of which police officers and citizens are forced to take the entire day to attend sessions of the court in the Hall of Justice at Temple street and Broadway. In addition, the Hollywood delegation declared, many Small Claims Court cases which would otherwise be filed are not filed because merchants of that district do not have time to attend the downtown court sessions.

Judge Ambrose appointed a committee consisting of Judges Pope, Rosenkranz and Willis to investigate the advisability of establishing either or both of the branch divisions, either on a half-day or full-time basis. They will report at the judges' meeting.

If the judges report in favor of the branch courts, it is probable that they will be established in the new police stations in Hollywood and West Los Angeles. Both Van Nuys and San Pedro now have half-day sessions of a division of the Municipal Court.

PAN-PACIFIC DINNER SET

The monthly travel dinner of the Pan-Pacific Association for Mutual Understanding will be held at 6 p.m. next Monday in the main dining-room of the City Club Bruce Findlay, manager of the exploitation department of the Chamber of Commerce, will talk on "The Romance of Los Angeles, the Gateway to the Pacific."

LUNCHEON TO AID CHARITY

To aid the charity fund of Angelus Hospital, a bridge-luncheon will be given tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Elks' Temple, to which the public is invited. Mrs. V. B. Ackerman and Mrs. James A. Clay, in charge of the affair, announce there will be fine prizes awarded.

fire departments united in trying to control the flames. Blazing oil poured from a four-inch valve in the bottom of the oil-storage tank and resisted all attempts to put it out with water. Chemicals were resorted to and last evening the blaze was under control. The loss was estimated at $25,000.

VENICE OIL FIELD

Battalion Chief Winkler and the others were injured and burned at the second fire at No. 2 well on the property of the International Petroleum Corporation, Ltd., at Venice. Winkler's right foot was penetrated by a large spike while directing operations, necessitating emergency treatment. Fireman Shockley suffered burns about the head and face.

The following three oil workers suffered painful burns, but were sent to their homes after receiving emergency treatment: Jack Connor, driller; E. M. Parker, laborer, and T. F. Cagle, welder.

No. 2 well came in unexpectedly at 4000 feet, and then caught fire. Venice fire fighters who went to the scene of the blaze, Avenue 41 near Grand Canal, stated that because the well stands far from other property, they believed loss will be confined to rigging and machinery.

The fire continued to burn slowly but with increasing pressure last night. Firemen were using mud, steam and chemicals, and expected to conquer the flames early today.

WHITE PLAGUE APPEALS MADE

Olive View Sanatorium Head Files Annual Report

Early Diagnosis Plea Said to Have Been in Vain

Average of 793.57 Cases at Institution Daily

An average of 793.57 tubercular patients were cared for daily at the Olive View Sanatorium during the fiscal year ending June 30, last, according to a report from Dr. W. H. Bucher, superintendent, filed yesterday with Supervisor Shaw, chairman of the Hospital Committee of the Board of Supervisors.

On July 1, 1929 there were 323 men and 382 women patients in the hospital. A total of 791 patients was admitted and 1496 were treated during the year; 717 were discharged. In the hospital when the year closed there were 352 men and 427 women.

COMPLAINT VOICED

"The campaign for early diagnosis which has been carried on for two years has not given us early cases to care for," says Dr. Bucher in his report. "In fact, our percentage of far advanced cases for the year is seventy-four, the highest it has ever been. This is not only true of adults, but of children, as 24 per cent of the 126 children admitted were far advanced and there were ten deaths out of ninety-three children leaving the institution. In spite of the large percentage of far advanced cases, the death rate remained 26 per cent so that that without doubt the improved methods of treatment, and the earnest attention of the staff, have been the means of prolonging the lives of many of these advanced cases. The fact that early cases are not coming for treatment is tragic, because comparatively few who have reached the far-advanced stage can be returned to active life and the waste is great both from the economic and human point of view.

"The most crucial time," Dr. Bucher continues, "in the life of a patient who has made his cure is the time when he is ready to resume work. The experience of many patients shows that unless this step can be made gradually the result is likely to be another breakdown, so that they become patients on the ward again.

EMPLOYMENT PLAN

"Since the year 1923 we have been trying out the idea of employing patients around the place for as many hours as recommended by the doctor, increasing them as the patient's physical condition indicates. We now have thirty patients working from five to eight hours, about half of the number being on the regular pay roll, working eight hours daily. Having this success in mind, two convalescent camps were started, where patients may go when they are able to do two hours work daily, besides looking after their rooms and clothes."

Dr. Bucher further states that the institution is planning to have a "homecoming day" when all expatients will be asked to return to Olive View to renew old friendships.

"We hope to make this an annual affair," the physician says.

A new ward for girls with a colonnade connecting with the preventorium wards and with the cafeteria building, has been begun and the contracts soon are to be let for the building of a nurses' home.

WRESTLER POSE TAKEN BY BANDIT

Hatless Hold-up Man Commandeers Cash of Olympic Auditorium

A hatless bandit posing as Jack Brown, Oklahoma wrestler, late yesterday held up the business office of the Olympic Auditorium, 1801 South Grand avenue, and escaped with $150 in cash. His victim was Miss Helen Copin of 2315 South Flower street, secretary-treasurer of the auditorium, who was alone in the office when the man appeared.

Gaining Miss Copin's confidence by asking first for Jack Daro, brother of the wrestling promoter, the robber feigned possession of a gun and commanded the young woman to give him all the cash in the office. As she handed him the money he instructed her to "tell Jack Daro that Jack Brown, the Oklahoma wrestler, was here to see him."

One-Way Fares Will Continue

Encouraged by the manner in which travel has been stimulated, passenger officials of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads announced yesterday that the low one-way coach fares, which have been in effect between California and eastern territory during the summer and fall, will be continued in December.

The fares, which were designed early in the summer for the benefit of the tourist business, have proved exceedingly popular, the passenger officials announced.

In addition to throwing hot coffee at Mrs. Larson the defendant beat her, it was testified. Mrs. Larson's mother told of seeing her daughter's bruises.

INJURIES FATAL TO MRS. WONG

Mother of Oriental Film Actress Dies Following Auto Accident

Mrs. Sam Wong, 43 years of age, mother of Anna May Wong, oriental actress, died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital early yesterday morning shortly after being treated there for injuries received when struck down by an automobile. The injuries consisted of a basal skull fracture, internal injuries and a broken leg.

The accident occurred in front of her home at 241 North Figueroa street. The automobile, according to police, was driven by Joe Rondoni of 173 North Daly street. Rondoni was not held. Witnesses informed police Mrs. Wong had stepped back in front of his automobile and that he was unable to avoid striking her.

Anna May Wong, co-starring in a stage play with Crane Wilbur in New York City, has been notified by the Coroner's office of her mother's sudden death.

The honeymoon trip of Wilbur A. Hitchcock, 44 years of age, architect, of Laramie, Wyo., and his bride of a week, Verna, 34, was interrupted yesterday by an automobile accident at Forty-eighth street and Central avenue, in which Mr. Hitchcock's right arm was mangled.

In Los Angeles on a visit, the newly wedded couple had gone on an automobile ride with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Simons of 1033 South Plymouth Boulevard, and the car, swerving to escape a collision, overturned. Mr. Hitchcock, the only one injured, was taken to Georgia-street Hospital.

THREE-WAY TRIAL AT SUICIDE FAILS

By three means Hugh Wallin, 46-year-old barber of 953 West Seventh street, tried to kill himself yesterday, according to a police report, but instead of finding death he found himself last night in the psychopathic ward at General Hospital. After writing a note stating he had nothing to live for since his wife had ceased to love him, he cut his wrists with a razor, swallowed poison and then turned on the gas. Members of his family discovered his plight before he had lost consciousness and took him to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where police surgeons saved his life. They then recommended his removal to the psychopathic ward for observation.

Civic Repertory Theater Seeks More Support

The success attendant upon the Bowl Theater Association's sponsorship of the Civic Repertory Theater is indicative of the desire of the people of Los Angeles for a civic project devoted to fine drama, Allan G. Balch, president of the Board of Directors, declared yesterday.

"To my mind, it is a new and striking manifestation of the civic consciousness of Los Angeles," Mr. Balch said, "that a theater can command such support in the midst of what is generally regarded as a business depression. It shows the definite desire of Los Angeles for good drama, just as the success of the Hollywood Bowl indicates the city's appreciation for good music.

"At the same time the Civic Repertory Theater cannot continue without the support of the public in the form of season subscriptions. Gratified as we are over the attendance at "The Apple Cart," we realize that interest must not lag in the movement as a whole. This project is as important and as worthy of support as the Hollywood Bowl."

CHICKEN WORTH AT LEAST $1000

Out from Gizzard Pops Gem Woman Had Lost from Ring Last July

A $1000 diamond broke loose from its setting in the ring of Mrs. Mabel Long, 5515 Newcastle avenue, Reseda, last July, while she was throwing feed to her chickens. For hours, Shorty Long and his wife sifted dirt feverishly but not a glint even of the lost gem did they see. It was something fierce the way the Longs killed and ate chickens for awhile, but to no avail. They gave it up.

But last Saturday out from the gizzard of a once-proud cockerel popped the jewel and Mrs. Long is doing the crowing now.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads
—Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calcnite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.—[Advertisement.

Corner-stone Laid

The Junior League of Los Angeles has laid the corner-stone of the new Convalescent Home for Children. The ceremony was performed by Mrs. Charles Gardner Bullis, the first president of the league, who placed the metal box in the corner-stone, where it was cemented over. The box contains a copy of the constitution of the league, a gift from the shop, a new silver dollar and the Junior League Game and Gossip. The league hopes to be in the new home by February 1, 1931. The lot, donated by Lee Allen Phillips, is on the corner of Lexington and Westmoreland avenues. While the present home will accommodate only thirteen children, the new home will house at least twenty, and future plans call for an addition to take care of twenty more.

For Bride-Elect

Decorations carried out a white and green color motif and the guests included Misses Marjorie Burr, Ruth Burr, Bernice Webster, Betty Pollock, Margaret Graham, Alice Deline and Denton Williams, Kenneth Wickert, Fred Hoffine, Dick Cassidy, Tom Lawrence, James Waugh, Bill Andrews, Messrs. and Mmes. Betrothal Tea

At one of the loveliest affairs of the season the engagement of Miss Eleanor Roehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Roehr of North Fuller avenue, Hollywood, to N. Michael Kacsur was announced at a bridge-tea given Saturday, October 25, in the Corticle Lido of the Hollywood Knickerbocker.

The news was cleverly told by Gloria Riedel, the tiny cousin of the hostess, who acted as herald, distributing small colonial corsages, to which were attached the betrothal cards. No date is set as yet for the wedding which, however, will be an event of the holiday season.

Bridge was enjoyed and later a tea was served, the tea table carrying out a colonial motif in decorations of pink and yellow roses and tall wax tapers.

Miss Roehr was graduated several years ago from University of Southern California and was active in campus affairs, being a member of Kappa Delta Sorority and secretary of her class, while her fiance received his schooling abroad.

Halloween Party

A long table with gay favors of Halloween motif at Beverly Hills Hotel seated more than 200 guests of Mrs. A. Douglas Brawley, Mrs. A. E. Bourk, Mrs. Melvin A. Patterson, Mrs. Joseph R. Bastedo, Mrs. Charles H. Valentine, Mrs. Grover D. King and Mrs. George W. Smith of Huntington Park at a recent bridge-breakfast, each table being decorated in orange and black with tall orange tapers touched with black, the same motif being carried out in the flowers in deep autumn colors. Bridge followed in the sun parlor and prizes were won by Mmes. W. C. Moldt, F. W. Long, Kenneth A. Nagel, Wolfe, E. M. Fletcher, Philip H. Baker and Harry M. Rothwell.

Informal Ceremony

Announcement is made of the marriage Wednesday afternoon of Miss Irene Elliott Engel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Engle of 2002 North Western avenue, to E. R. Gill, Jr., formerly of Pennsylvania, the ceremony being read at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. James A. Martin of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church officiating.

The bride wore a gown of ecru lace with matching transparent velvet turban and carried yellow tea roses while Miss Dorothy Taylor, her only attendant, was in blue chiffon with matching turban.

Albert Metz served as best man and Mrs. Engel received her guests in a brown crepe frock.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER HUNTS FOR THE UNKNOWN SINGER

The patient and persistent find
'Tis very largely strength of mind.
—Peter Rabbit.

It isn't easy to be patient and it isn't easy to be persistent. Peter Rabbit has found that out more than once. He never realized it more fully than when he tried to find out who the singer in the night in the Green Forest was. Had he not been so very curious he would have given up and never have found out. By nature Peter is neither patient nor persistent, but he has a lot of curiosity and sometimes curiosity is really useful. It all depends on what one is curious about. It may lead to a lot of trouble. On the other hand it may lead to knowledge. Without curiosity we would not get far in this world.

Peter sat very still listening and watching. Three times he heard that fine warbling little song and each time he was sure that it came from somewhere around an old stump which stood in the moonlight a little way from where he sat. But that sound was very hard to place. He couldn't tell whether it came from the stump itself or from among the Black Shadows that had gathered around the old stump. Each time he was sorely tempted to hop over there, but each time he feared to frighten the singer. So for a long time he sat motionless.

At last Peter could stand it no longer. Slowly, carefully he approached that old stump. He would hop two and listen. He saw and heard nothing. Finally he reached the old stump. He went all around it. He hunted through the brush growing near. He found not so much as a single feather. He began to wonder if he had been dreaming, or if his ears had been playing him tricks. If that little singer was hiding it must be in the top of the old stump, which Peter suspected was partly hollow. Of course he couldn't climb up there so he couldn't see into it.

"I'll see if I can scare that fellow," said Peter to himself, and thumped with his long hindfeet as only Peter can thump. Nothing happened. Peter tried it again and still nothing happened. Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot. Then he scratched the other long ear with the other long hind foot. "I give up," said Peter.

He did give it up then, but he couldn't get it out of his mind. He was even more curious than before. So when a little later he met his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, he could hardly wait to tell him about that little song.

"Now who could that singer have been?" said Peter. "I thought I knew the songs of all the birds in the Green Forest, but this was different from any I ever heard before. Have you seen a strange bird over here, Cousin Jumper?"

Jumper shook his head. "No," said he, "I haven't seen a strange bird over here. What is more, I haven't heard one. You know most of the birds have gone south, and none of those that spend the winter here can sing like that. You must have been dreaming, Peter."

"No such thing," declared Peter indignantly. "I wasn't dreaming. I heard it three times as plainly as ever I have heard anything. There must be a strange bird in the Green Forest and I am going to find out who it is."

Jumper yawned. It was plain that he didn't believe that Peter really had heard what he thought he had heard. "I hope you'll find him," said he. "I live in the Green Forest all the time and if there is a stranger here I would be likely to know it. I haven't heard any strange bird singing, and I don't believe you have. I think you really were dreaming."

"You must have been dreaming, Peter."

That was all the satisfaction Peter got from Jumper the Hare, and when he finally went home to the dear Old Briar-patch he was none the wiser in regard to that singer.

"I'll find him yet," declared Peter when he told little Mrs. Peter about it. "I wasn't dreaming. I didn't go to sleep once. I won't give up until I find out who that singer was. No, sir, I won't."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

In Crowded Quarters

It is wise to keep the box used for potatoes, onions, etc., on a shelf, but should lack of space force you to keep it on the floor under the table, why not put rollers on the box and make the stooping that much easier?

The Potatoes Saved

If you find the dinner is going to be delayed for some time and the potatoes will have to stay in the boiling water too long, either mash or rice them and they will be much more palatable than water-sogged boiled potatoes.

A Precaution

Summertime is breeding time for bedbugs and other pests, so include in your fall housecleaning a bath in gasoline for the wooden beds and feel secure you are free from visitors. Brush the gasoline in all the crevices and on the edge of the mattress. Thoroughly air before putting the bed together.

An Uneven Surface

Be sure that the floor is even and the boards secure before the new linoleum is laid in the kitchen. If the foundation is not even and secure the linoleum cannot help but wear out over the defects.

Beaten Eggs

When you start to beat eggs continue the job until you are finished. Never set them aside and come back later to finish the job. You will not have good results.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

WHAT IS A RELIEF BOTTLE?

Being with her baby constantly is impossible for any mother. Even if possible, it is far from desirable. Babies should become accustomed to strangers and accept their attentions gratefully to prevent becoming too firmly attached to one person.

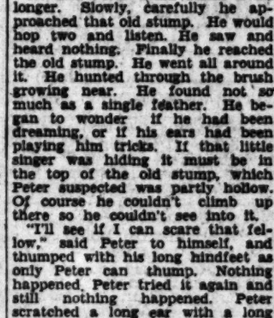
The mother who is nursing her baby must have some means of nourishing him for the hours in which she is absent; relief bottles fill that niche graciously. A relief bottle is an occasional bottle offered to a baby who at other times is nursed. Because it is used only in an emergency, its actual contents need not be figured as carefully as if baby were getting his whole sustenance from bottles. It should taste good, however, and be of exactly the right warmth, or baby will disdain it and leave his poor attendant in the throes of despair. Most amateurs who take care of babies are certain that one missed meal will reduce baby to the point of starvation.

The usual rule that baby can take two or more ounces than his age in months isn't a bad one to follow. Thus if baby is 4 months old, that one bottle may contain six ounces of formula; if he is 5 months old, seven ounces. Eight ounces is the maximum, however, for this amount is just about the limit of baby's stomach capacity for fluid at any age.

Especially when baby isn't used to milk, it is an excellent practice to boil all the milk given him. Boiled milk is easier to digest and we don't want baby upset merely because his mother has gone to a party or on a shopping expedition. Boil the milk before measuring it. Then measure it after boiling and add an equal quantity of boiled water. As mother's milk is sweeter than cows' milk and baby needs this extra sugar, the relief bottle should also be sweetened. One and one-half level teaspoonfuls of cane or some other sugar is about the correct amount for a six-ounce formula of milk and water. One level teaspoonful may be used if there is as little as four ounces, and two level teaspoonfuls for an eight-ounce bottle.

We offer a leaflet on "Relief Bottles," which is convenient for the mother whose memory is treacherous. Any reader may obtain this leaflet for a self-addressed, stamped envelope sent with her request to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

There are two ways in which the bottle may be warmed. The water may be left out of the formula and added quite hot at feeding time to the ice-cold milk. This results in a warm milk that is just right for baby. Or the whole formula may be mixed and put on ice. Then half fill a pint-sized enamel cup with water. Stand a spoon in it and lean the bottle against the spoon so that the bottle does not stand flat on the bottom of the cup. Put on fire. When water is boiling, shake bottle and test. The milk should be just warm, never hot.



Stenographer Benefited

"For two years I suffered with irregularities, frequent headaches and general weakness. I tried various medicines but all to no avail. I read about your highly praised medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, gave it a trial and obtained wonderful results from it. I am a stenographer and bookkeeper and I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to other girls who work."—Stella T. Culkosky, 2413 Delaware Street, Gary, Indiana.

Rosy Cheeks for indoor days

Crisp cold air brings a touch of color to every one, but it soon passes unless good health keeps it there. Shredded Wheat is an ideal indoor-weather food. It contains the mineral salts that make healthy red blood and the bran that promotes regular habit even though exercise is restricted. Plenty of nourishment—and easily digested too. Eat Shredded Wheat every morning—a biscuit or two with hot milk for a delicious, vitalizing breakfast.

COUNTY TAKES UP FIGUEROA PROJECT

The Board of Supervisors has requested the consent of the City Council to proceed with the opening and widening of Figueroa street south of One Hundred Twentieth street, where the lines of the project intersect city territory. The board also notified the Council that an allocation of $124,700 is to be made toward the project, of which $30,800 is to come from the city's share of State road funds.

GLIDER LOOP RECORD WITHSTANDS ASSAULT

Failing for the second time yesterday to break his record of seventeen loops in a motorless glider, Lyman Voelpel said he will attempt a third record flight Sunday afternoon at Grand Central Air Terminal. Voelpel turned his little biplane over seventeen times yesterday to equal the mark he made last month at Dallas, Tex. Pilots now point out that all Voelpel has to do to increase his loop mark is to be towed to a higher altitude than 6000 feet—the point at which he was cut loose yesterday from the towing powered plane.

DR. BAXTER ON PROGRAM

Dr. Bruce Baxter, assistant to the president of the University of Southern California, will speak on "A Trip to the Orient" before members of the San Fernando Valley University Club this evening. The dinner meeting is to be held at the Belmont Country Club. Dr. Baxter accompanied the Trojan baseball team to Japan in 1928.

WATER PARLEY ON TAP

Affairs of Metropolitan District and Boulder Dam Will Be Discussed by Experts

Affairs of the Metropolitan Water District and Boulder Dam project will be the subject of several conferences to be held during the next several days, it was announced yesterday.

The most important conference will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Hall of Records by attorneys interested in preparing the defense against the injunction suit brought by the State of Arizona in connection with Boulder Dam. The conference was called by Atty.-Gen. Webb of California who is to leave soon for a conference in Washington on the 21st inst. of all attorney-generals of the seven States of the Colorado River basin. Among those who will be present tomorrow are Atty.-Gen. Webb, County Counsel Mattoon, W. B. Mathews, counsel for the Metropolitan Water District, and other representatives of the district.

Engineering phases of the Metropolitan district's aqueduct to the Colorado River will be discussed by Chief Engineer Weymouth of the district in a talk before three leading engineering organizations at the City Club at 6:15 p.m. today. The occasion is a joint meeting of the local chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and the American Institute of Mechanical Engineers.

The Southwest Water League will discuss suggested amendments to the Metropolitan Water District Act at its meeting in Compton City Hall Saturday at 2 p.m.

MOTOR OFFICERS' JOYRIDE IN SKY ENDED BY WRECK

Two motorcycle police officers, one from the county detail and the other from the Monrovia force, thought it would be nice yesterday to quit their speedy ground steeds and take an air jaunt.

So Terry Haywood, the county man, and Tex Phillips, who patrols Monrovia streets, accompanied by Chester Phillips, Tex's brother, all Monrovian residents, took off from a Monrovia airport in a light open biplane, powered by a World War type ninety-horsepower engine.

All three are heavy men and their craft found tough going as it bucked a strong wind over Altadena and Sunland—sometimes just skimming trees. The three were headed for Bakersfield, but they landed at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport, Van Nuys, to talk things over.

They decided they could never get over the mountains and agreed a trip to San Diego would make just as nice an outing. With Tex reported to have been at the controls they started down the Metropolitan runway, found the engine would not pull them over the trees at the end and turned down wind to come back to the field.

Attendants at the field saw them all scramble from the wreckage.

Chester, cut and bruised, was given emergency treatment at Valley Hospital, Van Nuys, and taken home in an ambulance. His brother and Haywood were not injured.

The ship, said to have been owned jointly by the three, was wrecked.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

SAVORY HAM AND BACON

The sense of taste comes mostly through excitation of the olfactory nerves which might be called the smelling nerves. The reason for the popularity of ham and bacon is probably due to the tantalizing odor given off by these foods when cooked. While yet sizzling over the fire they yield a teasing aroma which awakens the appetite.

Tastes vary. Some want their bacon lean, and others say that the most tender bacon is that with wide strips of fat in it. There is also a great difference of opinion as to what makes the best feed for hogs in order to produce the finest flavor. The Mexicans sometimes fatten their hogs with bananas and in America corn and milk are often used to produce fat porkers. The sweet, tender hams of Virginia are assured by feeding acorns, producing a lean ham with a supreme flavor.

Both ham and bacon are popular in Canada as well as the United States. In Canada the farmer often uses "sow belly" or "salt side." There are several reasons why such meats as ham, bacon, "sow belly" and "salt side" are so popular. In the first place, when combined with eggs they yield a breakfast which "stays with you." Farmers, lumbermen, trappers, prospectors or men who do heavy physical labor crave such a satisfying, heavy breakfast. These meats also provide a large amount of fat which warms the body on a cold winter day. For this reason they may be used more freely during the winter months.

Smoked meats not only offer a change of flavor from fresh meats, but they may be kept and taken to places where fresh meat would spoil. Thus, the old-time prospectors packed some salt side on a burro when setting out in search for gold.

A great improvement has taken place in the curing and smoking of ham and bacon. Bacon is now sold in convenient containers already sliced, often in a transparent wrapper so that the housewife can see just what she is buying. Large plants keep samples of bacon which is cooked and eaten right in their own kitchens to assure that the flavor is kept right.

These meats cook quickly and this is undoubtedly a factor in their success for breakfast which must be prepared early in the morning. They do not require elaborate cooking vessels.

The farmer has found it economical to eat pork, since the scraps from the table may be in this way converted into a food supply. The best way to cook ham and bacon is by broiling it. The rind should be cut from bacon before using.

It is all right for those in good health to use a slice of ham or bacon with the eggs at breakfast time provided not too large a quantity is taken. Ham or bacon also combines well with a thoroughly browned waffle at breakfast time.

Rewed Divorcee Gets Religion, Mate Divorce

Interpreting the biblical fiat that a divorced woman cannot be a second husband's wife, Mrs. Virginia Buehler left him, William Jacob Buehler testified in obtaining a decree on file yesterday in Superior Judge Westover's court. The husband charged desertion.

"My wife had been divorced before I married her," testified Buehler, an employee of the Olive View Sanitarium. "She got religion and told me she had read in the Bible that a divorced woman cannot be a second man's wife. So she left me."

VERMONT CHAMBER ELECTS

Officers-elect of the Central Vermont District Chamber of Commerce were announced yesterday. They are: C. A. Peterson, president, who was re-elected; H. P. Leavitt, first vice-president; Adolph Lessell, second vice-president; H. W. Chotiner, treasurer; Neal P. Olsen, secretary, and Claud Hining, assistant secretary. The chamber, located at 984 South Vermont avenue, sponsors improvements in the district embraced by Sixth street, Pico street, Hoover street and Hobart Boulevard.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

LEMON CREAM PIE

Sift together one cupful of sugar, three level tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and four level tablespoonfuls of flour. Place in a double boiler and add slowly, stirring constantly one and a quarter cupfuls of boiling water. Cook and stir until it boils, place the pan over the hot water bath, and beat into the mixture the slightly beaten yolks of three eggs, adding very slowly. Stir and cook until the egg is set but do not allow to boil. Remove from the fire, add one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind, and one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice, and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Cool slightly, pour into a baked pie shell, make a meringue of the three egg yolks, and place in a slow oven to brown.

VEAL CUTLETS ITALIAN

Have the butcher cut rib veal cutlets, three-quarters of an inch thick, roll them in melted butter, then in grated parmesan cheese, then in beaten egg, which has been diluted with two tablespoonfuls of water. Cover with fine bread crumbs, season with salt and paprika, and saute in melted butter until tender. Cover a hot serving platter with cooked macaroni, mixed with Italian sauce, lay on this the cooked cutlets and cover each cutlet with a thin slice of fried ham.

PRUNE GELATIN

Dissolve two level tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold prune juice, then add one cupful of boiling water, one-third of a cupful of lemon juice, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, and stir until the sugar is dissolved, allow the mixture to cool. Then add one and one-half cupfuls of cooked prunes, that have been diced, and one-half cupful of finely chopped nut meats. Allow the mixture to cool until partly congealed, then beat until frothy. Pile into sherbet cups and serve cold with whipped cream.

CHEESE DRESSING

Rub a cold bowl with crushed clove of garlic, rub the yolks and the whites of two hard-boiled eggs through a sieve into the bowl, then add two tablespoonfuls of finely grated American cheese, and rub to a smooth paste with half a cupful of oil, add two drops of tabasco sauce, and three tablespoonfuls of mild vinegar or lemon juice and stir the mixture until smooth. Use this dressing over head lettuce.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

CAFE NEWS

The third anniversary of Taix French Restaurant on Commercial street will be celebrated this evening with a special duck dinner given by P. L. Larquier and M. Taix, proprietors, for patrons and friends, at regular prices. Starting in business three years ago with a minimum of space, the popularity of the cafe has steadily increased until they now have a seating capacity of 400. Dinner is scheduled for tonight between the hours of 5 and 8:30 p.m. and reservations indicate a capacity attendance.

ROOSEVELT SCHEDULE

The weekly schedule of events for the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt Hotel brings many interesting features to the pleasure-seeker. Monday nights are always "Celebrity Night," featuring a headline entertainment program with a noted guest artist appearing and notables of the stage and screen in attendance; Fridays bring "Collegiate Night" to the beautiful new supper room; Saturday has two features, the ultra tea dansant from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and "Carnival Night." All of these occasions, among other highlights, feature Ted Weems and his Victor-recording Orchestra playing their entrancing dance rhythms. They are also heard in the Blossom Room on Sundays, at which time they appear in semiclassical concert during the serving of the cafe's special dinner.

OLSEN'S CLUB GUEST

Tonight's guest of honor at George Olsen's Club, Culver City, will be Roscoe Ates, film star, whose work in "The Big House" and in "Billy the Kid" scored a hit. Ates is now under contract to Radio Pictures as the result of a test for the part of Jess Rickey in "Cimarron." For years he was in vaudeville, where he starred in a stuttering act, assisted by his daughter and a "nearly human" police dog. The stage was left behind for a part in "South Sea Rose," in which he supported Lenore Ulrich. He repeated in such pictures as "Caught Short," "Remote Control" and others.

HOLIDAY AT SOLOMON'S

Elaborate preparations are being made by Fred H. Solomon, Los Angeles dance king, for celebration of the Thanksgiving holidays at the Penny Dance de Luxe. Solomon plans a Thanksgiving Eve party as well as a Thanksgiving Night ball. Old-time pilgrim melodies are to be set to jazz strains by Waldemar Guterson, leader of the orchestra which furnishes the dance music at Solomon's. Solomon is considering the possibility of a turkey masquerade for Thanksgiving Eve with live gobblers as prizes. The revival of the original penny dance policy under which the institution achieved almost international fame has brought many former patrons back to the pavilion, Solomon states. A well-stocked buffeteria to satisfy the cravings of the inner man is maintained nightly.

EL RANCHO EXPANDS

Pedro Aguilar, proprietor of El Rancho Cafe, Vermont street near Third, announces his new place is patterned after a famous Mexico City cafe. After several years in Hollywood, featuring distinctive Spanish and Mexican dishes, Mr. Aguilar has increased the seating capacity in the new location to more than double the former capacity. Former policies are to be continued.

TEXTILE CLUB TO MEET

The monthly meeting of the Textile Club of Los Angeles will be held at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow on the fourth floor of the Masonic Building, 623½ South Grand avenue.

FOX SIGNS GASTON GLASS

Larry Darmour Starts Work on Production Schedule; Charles Rogers Announces Five Features; Universal-Malay Expedition Returns

By Grace Kingsley

Fox is reaching out for and signing up all the good and available players who speak fluently both English and some foreign language.

GASTON GLASS

Gaston Glass is the latest player to be annexed by that organization. He has been signed on a long-term contract to star in French versions and in English versions when a role is found that especially fits him.

The actor's first part will be the lead in the French version of "The Big Trail," on which Raoul Walsh is now at work. He will play Ian Keith's role. He will also probably star in the French version of "Lilliom."

LARRY DARMOUR WILL PRODUCE FIVE FILMS

Larry Darmour is busily preparing for the production of five pictures, we learned yesterday. Two features are included in the number. They are a melodrama and a Spanish story.

LOUISE FAZENDA

"Sea Devils" is a story of present - day ocean racketeering, which begins production today under the direction of Joseph Levering. In the cast will be Molly O'Day, Edmund Burns and Walter Long.

Iberia Productions begins the second of a series of pictures for foreign release.

The schedule also calls for Mickey McGuire and the Toonerville Kids in two. Louise Fazenda will also star in a comedy.

"Mickey's Bargain" will be a two-reeler and is the Toonerville conception of the covered-wagon days. This will be followed by "Mickey's Stampede," a football episode in the lives of the Scorpions. Albert Herman will direct.

Louise Fazenda, who returns to Hollywood from Europe within the next few days, will star in "Treat 'Em Rough," to be directed by Lewis R. Foster.

Desmond Roberts Cast

Desmond Roberts, that excellent English actor whom you will remember in "Journey's End" at the Belasco last spring, has been signed by R.-K.-O. to play a role in "The Queen's Husband."

It looks as though Roberts was destined to stay in Hollywood, as, just previous to the R.-K.-O. engagement, he finished in Jack Gilbert's "Way for a Sailor."

Expedition Returns

Universal has word that its expedition sent to Singapore and the Malay States to film "The White Captive," in which Dorothy Janis was featured, is returning with the film about complete.

The troupe will arrive in Vancouver the last week in November, and will come straight to Hollywood.

Charles Rogers Busy

The Charles Rogers company, releasing through Radio Pictures, is planning a heavy-production schedule.

LILY DAMITA

Three noted novels and two original stories by John Farrow are the first production material to be announced. The first of these, "Millie," is already in production.

Following that will be Robert W. Chambers's "The Common Law," and thereafter "French Love" will be placed in production. Lily Damita will be starred in "French Love," which is an original by John Farrow.

The two other special Rogers productions will be "The Registered Woman," a story by Farrow, and Nevis Shane's new novel, "Dark Flame."

"Cimarron" on the Move

The "Cimarron" army is on the move. Yesterday its personnel packed up, bag and baggage, and moved to Bakersfield, where the long-talked-of land rush will be filmed.

Three hundred and seventy-six railway flat cars, twenty-three stock cars and a special passenger train were necessary to transport the 700 archaic vehicles, more than 1000 head of live stock, and the technical crew and extra players. Other props went overland in twenty motor trucks.

Earle Foxe in It

Fans who have been wondering where Earle Foxe has been since appearing in the hilarious "Van Bibber" series, will see him again in "Dance, Fool, Dance," Joan Crawford's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, we learned yesterday. Foxe is to play the role of Wally-the-Gent, suave gangster.

LUMBERMAN'S WIDOW MAKES CHILDREN HEIRS

Mrs. Louise Ganahl, widow of F. J. Ganahl, lumberman, left an estate of $35,000, it was disclosed with the petition for probate of her will on file in Superior Court yesterday. Richard J. Barnett, who, it was explained, already was provided for, will get $1. Louise P. Ganahl, daughter, is left $500 and personal property. Florence C. Sharp, daughter; Christine Le Brua, sister, and Rosalie Le Brua, sister, each get $500 and the residue of the estate is divided equally among eight children, Florence C. Sharp, Rose Ganahl Donovan, Antoinette M. Mandis, Agnes R. Hoover and Lucien A., Ernest P. and Vincent P. Ganahl.

MASTER OF VIOLIN WINS NEW HONORS

Fritz Kreisler Charms Large and Appreciative Throng at Auditorium

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The incomparable Fritz Kreisler played to an eager multitude last night at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Accompanied by the faithful Carl Lamson, he gave a taxing program of the familiar classic violin literature and ened it with the Kreisler compositions which have given universal joy and which will become the classics of tomorrow.

Corelli's "La Folia" with the embroidered variations held much charm as the master played them. He added certain Kreisler embellishments, which were in keeping with their spirit of improvisation. Then the Bach B minor Sonata for violin alone followed. The sheer difficulty of this feat is enough to hold the closest attention of an audience, but when the musicianship and command of a Kreisler are added the performance becomes an achievement.

Max Bruch's time-worn concerto in G minor was played with much tender sentiment, but for many the concert really began with the smaller numbers which will always be associated with this artist. There was the Schumann Romance, the larger work of Mozart, a Rondo in G major and three caprices to which were added the beloved "Caprice Viennois" and a newer number by Kreisler, Spanish in character, "La Gitana." Encore after encore was given and only when the lights were turned out did the calling cease.

Had he not been suffering from a cold the artist might have gone on indefinitely, but for those who did not hear enough there is another concert Saturday afternoon.

One does not describe Kreisler's playing. It is impossible to put into words the grace of Vienna and the phrasing of a great musician.

Gene Morgan Returning to Loew's State

Loew's State Theater announces the return of Gene Morgan, popular master of ceremonies on Thursday, the 20th inst. Morgan, who has been appearing in several of the leading eastern key theaters, replaces Rube Wolf.

GENE MORGAN

"Renegades," featuring Warner Baxter, is the new Fox film drama starting tomorrow. Myrna Loy plays the leading feminine role in the new romance and adventure picture, with Noah Beery and Gregory Gaye in supporting roles. Victor Fleming directed.

In keeping with the birthday celebration of the theater special decorations, music and festivities are planned.

Hare's Record Quite Lengthy

Lumsden Hare, who has just completed "Scotland Yard," the new Fox production, acting as Sir Clive Heathcote, the head of the famous detective bureau, has done distinguished work as both actor and director. He was leading man in London to Mrs. Patrick Campbell, and in New York with Maude Adams and Ethel Barrymore. In Melbourne, Australia, he played "Ben Hur," while next door to the theater, a circus happened to be going on with a performer named Will Rogers.

Hare directed the revival of "What Every Woman Knows" in New York with such consummate success that it made Helen Hayes a star and outran the original production with Maude Adams.

Coincidence Plays Role

The long arm of coincidence reached to a Hollywood sound stage where Frances Dee and Evelyn Hall are playing supporting roles to Charles Rogers in "Along Came Youth," his new starring picture for Paramount.

It was her performance before the Hollywood Writers' Club in the stage play, "Deep Haven," that won Miss Dee the test with Paramount which lifted her from the ranks of film extras. In that production, she appeared as Miss Hall's niece. In "Along Came Youth," she again is playing Miss Hall's niece.

"Monte Carlo" to Be Screened

"Monte Carlo," Ernst Lubitsch's successor to "The Love Parade," arrives at the Million Dollar Theater tomorrow as the feature screen attraction. There will also be the regular five-act vaudeville program.

ACTOR'S DAUGHTER PLAYS FILM ROLE

Kay Irving, daughter of George Irving, screen character actor, has been signed to enact the role of Tillie with Buster Keaton in the German version of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The March of Time." Among her recent screen roles are included parts in "Madam Satan" and "The Divorcee."

Star Promises Thrills and Humor

Harold Lloyd

Portrays an ambitious shoe clerk in his newest vehicle, "Feet First," and his social climb carries him to the top of an unfinished skyscraper and finally lands him as a stowaway on an ocean liner. The film starts today at the United Artists Theater.

DOWNTOWN TO SCREEN "GORILLA"

Lila Lee Portrays Chief Role in Mystery-Comedy Starting Friday

"The Gorilla," a First National and Vitaphone production adapted to the screen from the stage play of the same title, is to be the next attraction at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater, starting Friday.

LILA LEE

This production, successful as a silent film, is said to be more thrilling and humorous than ever. Lila Lee, who has been absent from the screen for some time, returns in this picture, playing the leading role.

Joe Frisco, vaudeville comedian and dancer, plays Garrity, the dumb detective. His partner is Harry Gribbon, and others in the supporting cast are Walter Pidgeon, Purnell Pratt, Edwin Maxwell, Roscoe Karns, Landers Stevens and William Philbrick. Bryan Foy directed.

"El Presidio" Will Play at International

"El Presidio," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Spanish version of "The Big House," will have its world premiere at the International California Theater Friday night before a representative gathering of stars, players, writers and authors of the local Spanish colony.

The picture is hailed as one of the most costly and pretentious features ever made in a foreign tongue, and the cast numbers many players of the local Mexican and Spanish colony, including Jose Crespo, Juan de Landa, Tito Davidson, Luana Alcaniz, Alma Real, Juan de Home, Luis Llaneza, Jose Soriano Viosca, Vicente Padula and Remualdo Tirado.

"El Secreto del Doctor," Paramount's Spanish feature, is the current attraction.

ACTRESS SCORES IN "MISTER ANTONIO"

Marion Clayton

Chief in support of Leo Carrillo in "Mister Antonio" at the Hollywood Playhouse is Marion Clayton, whose charm and talent are marked. Miss Clayton has also consented to play the name role in "Peter Pan," when the Sir James M. Barrie drama is presented at the Music Box Theater in Hollywood.

Carrillo is said to be proving popular in "Mister Antonio" as the hurdy-gurdy man. Others in the cast are Lew Kelly, Leo Lindhard, Ruth Matteson, Leah Winslow and Olive Cooper.

"VINDICATION" TOPS PLAY SHOP PROGRAM

Willard Mack Playlet Enacted in Fine Manner by Sheldon Lewis

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

A variety evening at the Play Shop is proving entertainment of a sort, though hung together in rather too fragmentary a manner.

Willard Mack's one-act play, "Vindication," in the gifted hands of Sheldon Lewis, was a poignant and moving moment. Taking the part of the gallant old southern father and the judge at one and the same time, Mr. Lewis managed a tender pathos and intensity of mood through the sensitive modulation of his voice alone, as he did not appear in person. A radio placed in the center of a cosy living-room gave the impression that one was listening in on a radio playlet.

A play with a decidedly Parisian flair, "The Wooden Leg," by Essex Dane, brought amusing lines and situations and Carmen Mathews as the sophisticated dancer gave a nicely poised performance. Her accent was convincing, except that the "mon Dieus" were a trifle too reminiscent of schoolgirl French. Jimmie Shelton gave a naively buoyant portrayal of the doubting lover.

"Dreamer of Dreams," a musical fantasy from the pen of Charles E. Royal, contrived a novel angle and was imaginative both in concept and production. Enrico Ricardo as the artist gave a sympathetic version and sang with a degree of fervor. As the beautiful model Viola Herman was heard in several numbers which displayed a voice of natural loveliness. Ruth Ann McGlyn and Lyle Van Auken were the living models in one of the artist's masterpieces.

Violet Trevelyn displayed a nice inflection and considerable repression in "A Dramatic Episode in a Woman's Life," and Ken Davis contributed comedy songs.

Second Eastern Show Scheduled at Paramount

The second of a series of New York stage shows, "Snap Into It," will have its local premiere tomorrow at the Paramount Theater, in conjunction with "Fast and Loose" on the screen. The stage show comes direct from the Paramount Theater on Broadway.

"Fast and Loose" features Miriam Hopkins, Charles Starrett, Henry Wadsworth, Carol Lombard and Frank Morgan. The story centers about the younger generation and its ways of living, and was taken from Avery Hopwood's novel, "The Best People."

The remainder of the new program will include Rubinoff and the Paramount orchestra, Earl Abel at the organ, and a comedy and sound news. The current attraction is George Bancroft in "Derelict."

Radio Stars Pay Tribute to Producer

Amos 'n Andy have expressed their appreciation in platinum.

The noted radio stars, whose film, "Check and Double Check," is at the Orpheum Theater here, sent to Bertram Millhauser, associate producer to William LeBaron, a unique miniature watch of platinum in a slip case of the same metal and inscribed with tributary sentiment.

While LeBaron, vice-president in charge of Radio Pictures' production, was handling the Amos 'n Andy special, Millhauser acted as supervisor and aide to his chief and is credited with several contributions to the success of the film.

KENTON TO DIRECT "THE LAST PARADE"

Erle C. Kenton has been selected by Columbia to direct a story called "The Last Parade," which is said to be as strikingly dramatic in theme as it is in title. It is based on the aftermath of the war, and deals with characters who are swept into the undertow of racketeering.

MILNE PLAY BOOKED FOR EL CAPITAN

Dale Winter, Henry Duffy Will Costar in "Michael and Mary"

With Dale Winter and Henry Duffy in the leading roles, "Michael and Mary," A. A. Milne's latest play is scheduled to start a run at El Capitan Theater Sunday matinee, the 23rd inst.

The fact that Duffy, in his dual role of producer-manager for four Pacific Coast theaters, must make a trip to New York soon for new play material, makes it necessary to limit the engagement to three weeks, according to the El Capitan management.

"Michael and Mary," which played last season at the Charles Hopkins Theater in New York, has been described as a strange adventure in matrimony. The Milne effort is said to be an ideal vehicle for the two stars, and Duffy has given the production careful detail as to setting and the selection of the cast.

Charlotte Greenwood in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" will close on the 22nd inst.

Students Will Hold Class at Film Theater

University of Southern California students enrolled in the course in photoplay appreciation presided over by Dr. Marcovin, will be given a practical demonstration of de luxe theater operation and management at Grauman's Chinese Theater today.

The students will be the guests of Manager H. B. Wright, who will lecture to the class on theater management generally, architecture, acoustics, and other pertinent subjects, after which the students will remain for the matinee to see "The Big Trail," current Fox romance drama of early American pioneer days, with John Wayne, Marguerite Churchill, El Brendel and Tully Marshall.

Reservations for the gala premiere of "Morocco," with Gary Cooper and Marlene Dietrich, which is the Paramount attraction starting Wednesday, the 26th inst., are now being made.

Gala Premiere Arranged for 'Min and Bill'

Marking the initial appearance together of two of filmdom's best known troupers, "Min and Bill," featuring Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, will have its premiere showing at the Carthay Circle Theater Thursday evening, the 20th inst.

The production, it is declared, reveals the popular pair in characterizations that will rank with the finest achievements of the talking screen.

"Min and Bill" was adapted from "Dark Star," Lorna Moon's novel. It was directed by George Hill from a scenario prepared by Frances Marion.

A gala premiere is being planned, it is announced, that will be a distinct tribute to Miss Dressler and Beery, two of Hollywood's most popular citizens.

Lupe Velez Has Chief Role in 'East Is West'

With Lupe Velez in the role created by Fay Bainter in the stage play "East is West," starts tomorrow on the R.-K.-O. screen.

LUPE VELEZ

"East is West" is a drama - romance of a Chinese girl who is purchased in China by an American youth and set free in San Francisco. Lew Ayres has the role of the boy. Complications result when the two fall in love.

On the stage this week the vaudeville unit features Jack McLallan and Sarah.

Majestic Books 'Fourth Alarm' to Open Friday

The Majestic Theater announces for their new bill starting Friday a first-run feature, "The Fourth Alarm," featuring Nick Stuart and Ann Christy.

Stuart takes the part of a fire chief's son and falls in love with a millionaire's daughter, which causes several interesting situations. Stuart is appointed fire inspector and is not influenced by money or love. He carries out his duties and at the finish saves the one he loves.

Completing the bill will be a talking news weekly and a comedy short, together with a cartoon.

Rockne Talks in Football Short

In addition to "Playboy of Paris," the picture starring Maurice Chevalier, the Pantages Hollywood Theater tomorrow presents Fanchon and Marco's "Seasons" idea, staged by Larry Ceballos, and a new chapter of the Knute Rockne football series.

The short subject presents Knute Rockne in explanations of how the leading teams in the country play the game. The Notre Dame football team is seen in actual demonstrations of the various systems of play.

The featured screen attraction, "Playboy of Paris," has Chevalier in a role said to be well suited to his personality.

PROTEGE OF CARRANZA HERE

Mexican Artist Toils as Utility Man

Enrique de la Pena and One of His Caricatures

ONCE a protege of President Carranza of Mexico, who sponsored his art education in Mexico, Cuba and Spain, Enrique de la Pena, Mexican caricaturist, has been in Los Angeles almost unrecognized for six months. He has been content with a job as utility man at the Teatro Mexico, at First and Main streets, waiting for an opportunity to perfect his English and waiting as well for American commissions.

The 28-year-old Mexican artist, born in Guadalajara, drew his first published picture at 12 years of age. He became a protege of President Carranza, who sponsored his art education in the Eliseo De Artes at Guadalajara and later in art institutes in Havana and in Spain.

Penita, as he is known in the Mexican colony, recently completed a small sculptured figure of the Christ and is planning production of copies of the work for sale among his own countrymen.

RAILROAD REVENUES OFF FOR OCTOBER

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Preliminary estimates of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company for October place the gross revenues at about $13,125,000, a decrease of $2,341,000 from the same month last year. Net operating income will aggregate about $2,294,000, a decrease from the same period last year of approximately $1,351,000.

PAYS REGULAR

SPOKANE (Wash.) Nov. 11. (AP) The Hecla Mining Company today declared its usual quarterly dividend of $250,000, or 25 cents a share. This brings the company's dividends for the year to $1,000,000, and the grand total to $19,735,000. It is a silver-lead-zinc mine.

Investment Unit to Reorganize

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Continental Securities Corporation to provide a means whereby preferred and common stockholders can continue to receive dividends is proposing to organize a new corporation under the laws of Maryland which will issue stock of the new company on a share-for-share basis under such conditions that there will be a considerable paid-in surplus. This would minimize the likelihood of a recurrence of a technical situation preventing the payment of dividends.

The consummation of the plan is subject to the deposit on or before the 29th inst. of such preferred and common shares as the committee may deem sufficient. Dividends on the preferred stock of the new company will be cumulative from September 1, last.

TRADE PROJECT HEAD ARRIVES

Dr. Pratt Here to Launch Commodity Exchange

Wide Range of Products Favors Enterprise

Backer Says It Will Insure Stabilized Prices

Regarding Los Angeles as most favorably situated for commercial facilities and considering the extraordinary diversity of California products as permitting the greatest breadth of trading, Dr. E. E. Pratt, former head of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, arrived here yesterday to assist in establishing a commodity exchange.

The enterprise, known as the California Commodity Exchange, Ltd., of which Pratt is executive vice-president, will provide in one location the complete facilities for spot and future trading in the principal products of California and eleven Western States.

WIDE FIELD

"The exchange activities," Pratt said, "need not be restricted to one or two commodities—but may include grains, cotton, coffee, sugar, rubber, petroleum and petroleum products, fruits, potatoes, onions, and even canned goods, dried fruits, lumber, wool and vegetables. Nowhere else in the United States would such a variety of commodities be found.

"There are pertinent reasons why Los Angeles, and only Los Angeles, is fitted to develop this project. Ten years ago, perhaps, any Coast city would have been as satisfactory; but during that time manufacturing has increased to such an extent and under such favorable conditions that it demands facilities equal to those in the East.

"Cheap power has attracted scores of plants but there are literally hundreds waiting to locate here when they can be assured against fluctuations in the price of raw materials—and this assurance the exchange will provide."

SAFE MARKET

Pratt believes one of the most important contributions of the exchange will be the aid it contemplates to producers and manufacturers while providing them a sure and safe market for their commodities.

"Some years ago when I was actively connected with the Department of Commerce at Washington, the need of such institutions," Pratt said, "was clearly demonstrated and since then both in Europe and America their practicability and efficiency as marketing organizations have been amply demonstrated.

"I have accepted the responsibility of this work largely because of the character of the men associated with the organization. I am satisfied that men like J. V. McNaughton, C. C. Hine, W. D. Moriarty and Harry McBain will make it the success that it deserves."

Last Rites for Woodard Will Be Tomorrow

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 11.—Funeral services for Wilkie Woodard, civil engineer who died at his Bel-Air estate last night after a prolonged illness, will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, under Christian Science auspices, members of the family announced today. The body will be entombed in Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

Mr. Woodard, who was 57 years of age, had been a resident of the bay district since 1910, when he came here from Indianapolis. He had charge of construction of Mulholland High Way and Sepulveda Boulevard, planned Bel-Air and Castellamare Estates and achieved note for the groynes he designed along the Santa Monica coast. At the time of his death he was chief engineer for the Santa Monica Mountain Park Company and the Alphonzo Bell Corporation, and a member of the American Legion, American Association of Civil Engineers, Los Angeles Engineers' Club and Bel-Air Country Club.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Aline Woodard, one daughter, Miss Aline Woodard and four sisters.

Stork Due in Spring, Says Vivian Duncan

About next April or May Vivian Duncan expects to present her husband, Nils Asther, the first heir to the Duncan talents. She admitted last night at the Palace Theater in New York where she is appearing with her sister Rosetta, that the happy event is pending.

VIVIAN DUNCAN

"Nils wants a boy," Miss Duncan explained to reporters, "but I hope we get twins—they run in the family. I'll tell you next April or May whether it will be a boy or girl or boys and girls."

Asther and Miss Duncan were married August 2, last, at Reno, after a long courtship. Shortly before the marriage Miss Duncan received a black eye in a scuffle with Rex Lease—and her brother later avenged the blow.

MEDICAL BOOKS DONATED

The medical library of the University of Southern California has just received gifts of books from the New York Academy of Medicine, the Saunders Publishing Company, the Mayo Clinic, John Wiley and Sons, and Dr. B. O. Raulston of St. Vincent's Hospital, Los Angeles, according to announcement of Miss Marguerite E. Campbell, librarian at the school. The medical library is open between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. from Monday to Friday.

COLLEGE TO INDUCT HEAD

California Christian Institution Next Sunday Will Inaugurate President Cheverton

A notable event in the history of the California Christian College of Los Angeles is to be climaxed next Sunday afternoon when, at 3 o'clock in Grayson Memorial Auditorium on the campus at 766 North Vermont avenue, President Cecil F. Cheverton will be formally inaugurated as the third president of the rapidly growing institution.

The installation address will be given by Dr. Harry O. Pritchard of Indianapolis, general secretary of the board of education of Disciples of Christ, under the auspices of which the college is maintained. President Cheverton will respond in a brief address.

Charles C. Chapman of Fullerton, chairman of the board of trustees, will preside throughout the program. Dr. Russell F. Thrapp of Alhambra will give the invocation, while Dr. Charles F. Hutslar of Pomona will give the installation prayer. Music will be furnished by seventy-five voices of the men's and women's glee clubs, under direction of Herbert G. Tovey.

Invitations have been sent to every college and university president in California and on the Pacific Coast to have a representative present for the inaugural, as well as to scores of educational institutions throughout America. More than fifty schools have responded, and will send their presidents or other officials to represent them.

Included among the California schools which will be represented are Holmby College, La Verne College, Loyola University, Pomona College, Los Angeles Pacific College, Mount Saint Mary's College, College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, University of the West, Valencia University, Pasadena Junior College, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Berkeley Baptist Divinity School; from out of the State representatives are being sent from Bethany College, West Virginia; Butler University, Indianapolis; University of Oregon, Spokane University; Washington; William Woods College, Fulton, Mo.; Colorado College, Colorado Springs, and Greenville College, Greenville, Ill.

California Christian College, founded April 7, 1920, is a coeducational liberal arts college maintained by the Disciples of Christ, or Christian Church, which in eleven years has grown from an enrollment of eight students and two faculty members to an institution of 400 annual student enrollment and a faculty of twenty-five.

It is the recognized California college for the training of ministers, missionaries, religious education directors and other full-time Christian professions. In addition its graduates are public school and college teachers and administrators, many are in social service fields, while scores are engaged in business and the secular professions. In addition to its varied liberal arts courses a department of music is maintained.

Complete plans have been made to take care of the large audience which is anticipated for Sunday's inaugural ceremonies, to which the public is invited.

PETITION REFERRED

A petition asking for the improvement of Graham avenue between Ninety-second and Ninety-seventh streets with permanent paving, has been referred by the City Council to the City Engineer and the Public Works Committee.

Dr. Cecil F. Cheverton

Boy on Bicycle Struck by Auto

Struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle last night at La Brea avenue and Willoughby street, Hollywood, James Riddle, 15-year-old schoolboy, of 1040 Gardner avenue, received a skull fracture and other serious injuries.

Mrs. Kathryn Toomey, 31, of 2027 North Highland avenue, reported by Hollywood police to have been the driver of the car which struck the lad, was not held. Riddle received treatment at Hollywood Emergency Hospital and was removed to Dickey & Cass Hospital.

BUILDING-LOAN UNIT IN LARGER OFFICES

The Guaranty Building and Loan Association of San Jose, which has maintained a branch office in Los Angeles for the last year located at 521 Security Title Insurance Building, has moved to its new and permanent headquarters at 913 South Hill street, where it opens for business today. Evidence of Sickness Given to Prosecution

Doctor Accused of Murder in Death of Girl

Because of the serious illness of Dr. William C. Fiske, charged with murder for the death of Vera Nelson, 19-year-old Los Angeles girl as the result of an asserted illegal operation, his trial probably will be continued when it is called in Superior Judge Hardy's court today.

Evidence of Dr. Fiske's serious illness already has been placed in the hands of the prosecution. The defense attorneys assert that the elderly physician is still confined in the prison ward of the General Hospital, suffering from a complication of ailments any of which may result fatally.

At the time of Dr. Fiske's arrest he was rescued by police officers who removed him from a gas-filled room. The police assert that he attempted to end his own life after finding that Miss Nelson had died as a result of the operation which he is accused of performing.

LONG BEACH LEGION ELEVEN BOWS TO SAN FRANCISCANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11. (AP)—San Francisco's American Legion football team defeated the Long Beach American eleven, 27-21 here today at Kezar Stadium. The San Francisco squad scored three touchdowns in the first period and another in the second. The visitors pushed over touchdowns in the second, third and last quarters. Three times in the final period, Long Beach had the ball on the 1-yard line but lost the ball, twice on downs and once on a fumble. Benny Lom, former University of California star, coached the local team and played halfback, while the visitors were led by Manuel Laraneta, former Southern California fullback.

HAWAII ARRIVES TODAY

Rainbows Here After 3000-Mile Journey to Face Trojans in Coliseum Saturday

Having traveled more than 3000 miles by sea and land, the colorful University of Hawaii football team arrives in Southern California this morning for Saturday's game with the Trojans at the Coliseum.

Otto Klum, thirty players and several rooters are slated to step off the Padre about 9:15 o'clock this morning at Glendale, going to the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, this hostelry having been selected as headquarters for the Roaring Rainbows during the stay in the Southland.

OTTO KLUM

Klum's team is undefeated, having mopped up on all opposition on the Islands. His squad is a colorful one which runs to beef in the line and speed in the backfield.

Last year the Hawaiians played Oregon University at Portland and lost, 7 to 0, only after a terrific battle. Klum's team had the ball on Oregon's two-yard line once but failed to score when a pass was grounded in the end zone.

The Rainbows make frequent use of the forward pass and

JURY VERDICT FOR EX-CHAMP

Gene Heaves Sigh as Jurors Announce Decision

Breach of Contract Claims Are Not Allowed

"Boo Boo" Hoff Also to Sue Former Ring Ruler

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Gene Tunney saved the largest purse but one of his entire career today when a jury in Supreme Court ruled in his favor and against Timothy J. Mara's suit for $526,812.42 for alleged breach of contract.

GENE TUNNEY.

The verdict for the retired heavyweight boxing champion, delivered to Justice Hatting after an hour and a half of deliberation, saved Tunney a quarter of the $2,000,000 fortune he piled up in the ring, a fortune in which Mara claimed he was entitled to share because he contracted orally with Gene in 1926 to help him get a title fight with Jack Dempsey and to "advise, co-operate and assist" him through his ring career.

There was excitement in the courtroom as the jurors who had been listening to testimony since October 30 filed back into their seats at 1:10 p.m. Tunney, taut and stern, sat with clenched hand at his counsel table. Mara was not in the courtroom.

Joseph Goldberg, foreman of the jury, rose to answer the court's question as to whether a verdict had been reached.

GENE HEAVES SIGH

"We find for the defendant," he said, and Tunney leaned back and sighed.

The crowds that had waited in the corridors brushed attendants aside and stormed the retired champion. Tunney shook hands with

"Didn't Mean Price or Trojans," Declares Student Head of Newspaper; Rumor Rockne to Take Over Reins at California is Denied Once More

BERKELEY, Nov. 11. (AP)—Having stirred up considerable rumpus yesterday with an editorial demanding investigation of the football situation at the University of California in particular and on the Pacific Coast in general, Arthur Arlett, editor of the Daily Californian, student publication, issued what was termed as "an explanatory statement" today.

"NIBS" PRICE.

In his second article, Arlett said he regretted some readers had interpreted the first editorial as criticising certain individuals and colleges.

The editorial, inspired by California's 74-0 defeat by Southern California last Saturday, embraced a number of questions, two of which were:

"Does California have a competent coaching staff?"

"Should we begin subsidizing (players) in an effort to regain our pinnacle position, or should we go after those who now subsidize?"

Arlett's statement today:

"The editorial appearing in the Daily Californian of Monday, the 10th inst., has been interpreted by some people as being intended to criticise particular personalities in colleges. I regret that state of affairs, because the editorial does not constitute a personal attack upon Coach Clarence M. (Nibs) Price or upon athletic activities of any one Pacific Coast college in particular.

"The Daily Californian is of the opinion there are certain definite reasons for the conditions of California and coast athletics. As far as California itself is concerned an investigation into all phases of athletic competition and activities

FIREFIGHTERS CLEAN UP ON ARIZONA STATE, 31-6

Putting across their sixth victory of the present season, Coach Bill Blewett's Fire Department eleven trounced the highly touted Arizona State College gridsters, mentored by Coach Rudy Lavek, by a 31-to-6 score in a game played last night at Wrigley Field before a crowd of approximately 10,000.

DON MOSES

After being held scoreless during the first quarter, the Firemen opened their attack at the start of the second period, and with the great Don Moses, former Trojan star, in the line-up, the Smoke-eaters soon ran up several scores to leave the field with a 19-to-0 lead at the half.

Starting a drive from their own 30-yard line, the Firemen worked the ball to the 10-yard line. Moses then went to the 7-yard stripe, and on the next play made a first down on the Lumberjack's 3-yard mark. Moses then bucked to the 1-yard line, and went over in the next play for the initial tally.

The second Firemen touchdown came on a 41-yard gallop by Byers around the right end of the line, with Nolan adding the extra point. Shortly before the end of the half, Moses again scored on a center buck from the 6-yard line, after the Blewettmen had received the ball on the Arizona 25-yard stripe when Mulleneaus missed a bad pass from center on fourth down. As the half ended, the Lumberjacks were on the Smokeeater's 5-yard line.

Arizona scored its first touchdown at the beginning of the last half, on a pass from Brinhall to Capt. Frank Armstrong, the 9.8s. century man, for a total gain of thirty-two yards.

Starting a drive on their own 20-yard line, the hook-and-ladder boys marched straight down the turf to the four-yard stripe, from where Murvin scored for the Firemen through center. This touchdown was the result of an eighty-yard march on the part of the husky firemen.

The final tally of the evening's rout was made by Jimmy Dyer, who went over from the 1-foot line. Pusich put the pigskin on the 10-yard

RABBIT PUNCHES

WHAT ABOUT GEORGIA?

A FEW weeks ago the Tournament of Roses Association held an impromptu meeting at Pasadena to discuss the New Year's Day football situation.

Nothing definite was done. Nothing could be at the time. The Coast championship has not been decided. The identity of the champions in the East, the Middle West and the Far South is still unknown.

But at this meeting there was a noticeable leaning toward the Far South as the section to furnish the logical opponent for the Far West at the Rose Bowl next January 1.

There are at least two very strong reasons for such a feeling on the part of the Pasadena gents who stage this annual gridiron classic, which had its birth back in 1916 with the playing of a game between Washington State and Brown University.

One is the well-known strength of southern teams. The other is the extremely favorable impression created by Alabama in its two New Year's Day games—its 20-to-19 victory over Washington in 1926 and the 7-to-7 tie with Stanford a year later.

As a result most of the talk at the meeting in question revolved around Alabama.

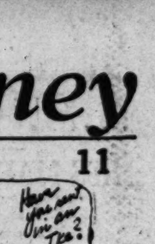
Passes Win Ball Game for Trojan Yearlings

Rosenberg and Robb Shine in Grid Game

For the third consecutive season the freshman football team at the University of Southern California has finished its schedule undefeated. The 1930 edition wound up its series of games yesterday without defeat by winning from the U.C.L.A. yearlings, 31-0, at Spaulding Field, Westwood.



AARON ROSENBURG.

The Tro-Babes were unable to punch the Bruin Cub line to any appreciable extent, and had to resort to passes for their scores. Three of the five touchdowns were scored on aerial attempts, and the other two were made possible through overhead work.

Homer Griffiths tossed one of the passes that went for touchdowns, Brouse huring the other two. Clarke plunged over for the lone touchdown made on line play after Summers had turned in a number of nice gains.

Out of the forty or so ball players that got into the game for both teams only two stood out. They were Joe Keeble, Bruin fullback, and Aaron Rosenberg, Tro-Babe guard, who were easily the best players on the field. Erskine, end, and Griffiths, quarter, also showed well for the Trojans, although not to the extent that the other two athletes stood out.

There was no scoring in the first period, but in the second Griffiths passed to Palmer, who put the ball on the Bruin 21-yard line, and after much fiddling around Brouse tossed to Palmer for a touchdown. A short time later Brouse passed to Summers for 30 yards and a tally.

A pass put the ball down to the Bruin 40-yard line in the third period, and Griffiths then ran 40 yards to a touchdown, eluding a number of tacklers on a cut-back play, for the score. A short time later another pass put the ball well down the field, and Clarke plunged over from the 2-yard line for the score.

The first play of the fourth quarter was a pass, Griffiths to Erskine,

Those were Von Gammon's last words, as he died soon afterward, but his deathless

A.A.U. Announces 172 Records Broken During Last Sports Year

MISS MADISON TOPS BIG LIST

Seattle Swimmer Has Twelve Marks to Credit

Stella Walsh Has Eleven New Standards

Women Outnumber Men in Athletic Outbursts

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—In a concerted attack upon time and distance by masculine and feminine athletes alike, America's star performers in swimming and track and field bettered the existing marks in 172 distances during the last year, the Amateur Athletic Union announced today.

FRANK WYKOFF

Applications for recognition of these performances as records have been filed in behalf of the athletes who made them and will be passed upon at at the forty-second annual convention of the A.A.U. in Washington the 16th, 17th and 18th inst.

Largely because of the remarkable achievements of Helene Madison of Seattle in swimming and of Stella Walsh of Cleveland in running, the feminine athletes outdid the supposedly stronger sex in the number of records set in these sports.

In swimming the girl athletes broke forty-six records, as against twenty-eight for the men, and in track they accounted for twenty-four, while the men collected seventeen.

Miss Madison, sensation of the swimming world at 17 years of age, led all the other record-breakers, having bettered twelve world's and twenty-seven American marks in the last eight months. Acceptance of Miss Madison's records is regarded as certain, giving her a clean sweep of all American marks from 100 yards to a mile and wiping out all except five of the existing world's free-style standards.

Miss Walsh's name appears eleven times. One of the best of her performances is a 10.8s. 100-yard dash made at Philadelphia on May 30, 1930.

Heading the list of men's performances are Frank Wykoff's 9 2-5s. for the century and a discus throw of 169ft. 8 7-8in. made by Paul Jessup of Seattle, both of which exceed the present world records.

Wykoff was clocked in the magic figures of 9 2-5s. at Los Angeles on May 10, 1930. He did not use starting blocks, the mechanical device that deprived George Simpson of recognition of his 9 2-5s. performance the previous year. The present world's and American record is 9.4s. held by Eddie Tolan of the University of Michigan.

Jessup's epoch-making discus throw was made at the national A.A.U. championships at Pittsburgh, the same also of a 222-ft. 6 3-4in. javelin throw by Jimmy De Mers of the Los Angeles A.C. and a shot put of 52ft. 5 3-4in. by Herman Brix of the same club. Recognition for all of the record-beating deeds recorded there is sought.

Among the notable achievements which will become official American records if approved are a one-mile run in 4m. 12 2-5s., by Ralph A. Hill, University of Oregon, at Eugene, Or., May 17; one-mile relay, 3m. 25 2-5s., by a Stanford University team at Los Angeles, April 12, and a discus throw of 161ft. 5 3-8in., by Eric Krenz, Stanford University, at Palo Alto, Cal., May 17.

The list also includes George Simpson's 220 yards around a turn in 21 3-10s.; Steve Anderson's 120-yard high hurdles in 14.4s., and Phil Edwards's half-mile in 1m. 52 1-5s., made at Philadelphia on June 2, 1929.

Those marks which are accepted as American records and which exceed present world standards will be passed on to the International Amateur Athletic Federation with recommendations for world record recognition.

STRIBLING VICTOR IN SLOW BOUT

Defeats De Kuh, but Fails to Impress 6000 Fans With Clinching Tactics

ATLANTA (Ga.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Arthur De Kuh, the 6ft. 4in. Italian, held W. L. (Young) Stribling so well that the best the Georgia heavyweight could do here today was win a comfortable decision on points in ten rounds.

YOUNG STRIBLING

The tigerish attack which had flattened Otto Von Porat, Phil Scott and K. O. Christner was missing, and the slow fight and frequent clinching by both men were booed on several occasions by the fans.

De Kuh outweighed Stribling more than thirty pounds and this advantage served him well. De Kuh weighed 226 and Stribling 191.

For seven rounds De Kuh was the aggressor, with most of the fighting done in clinches. The last three rounds found Stribling forcing the fighting, striving to add De Kuh to his long list of knockout victims. The big Italian took most of Stribling's blows on his shoulders and elbows.

In the last round Stribling landed a series of lefts to the head and rushed De Kuh to the ropes but the New Yorker held on, kept his chin well protected and made Stribling shoot most of his punches to the body.

Despite a cold drizzling rain which fell throughout the match, some 6000 spectators watched Stribling in his first match in the South since his triumph over Scott. It was held in an outdoor arena in Spiller Park, home of the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association.

Although neither fighter landed a really damaging blow during the entire fight, De Kuh pounded Stribling hard about the body, while the Georgian also got in a series of body blows mixed with his shots for the chin.

The first three rounds were fairly even, but Stribling gave De Kuh a shellacking in the fourth, although none of the thrusts was powerful enough to rock the Italian.

Stribling got his left to working consistently for a few moments in the sixth and peppered De Kuh about the head but all the blows were quick, short thrusts and carried little weight.

Again in the ninth and tenth Stribling rushed De Kuh to the ropes, swinging both hands, but the Italian always managed to clinch and hold Stribling until he was out of danger.

DE GLANE FACES MARSHALL

Young French Mat Star Encounters Airplane Spin Exponent in Olympic Feature Bout Tonight

Everett Marshall, the airplane-spin exponent from Colorado, will enter the ring at the Olympic tonight a favorite to beat Henri De Glane, world's Greco-Roman wrestling champion, in their best-two-out-of-three-fall mat battle.

EVERETT MARSHALL

De Glane has been seen in action here but once, a match that lasted only five minutes, but in that time the Frenchman appeared as formidable as any top-notcher seen in action here. Many of the fans who saw him in action that night look for him to give Marshall the toughest match he has had on the Coast, while others who have been watching him in daily training at the Commercial Club predict De Glane will prove the sensation of the year.

The Frenchman, according to those considered mat critics, has all the qualifications of a champion. He weighs 220 pounds, is faster on his feet than Marshall, is an expert with about 150 holds and combination grips, is very aggressive and as colorful in his work as the most spectacular grappler to step on the local mat.

De Glane is a newcomer here, but in the East, Canada and Europe he is rated on a par with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, Ed. Lewis, Joe Stecher and others of this caliber. In France he is called the "Second George Hackenschmidt." He is said to be the greatest wrestler turned out in Europe since the time of Hackenschmidt and the Zbyszko brothers. De Glane defeated both Stanishaus and Wladek Zbyszko in matches in this country.

In De Glane, Marshall will be up against a wrestler who has shown himself to be as formidable as Lewis. He is about the only wrestler among the top-notchers of the game, today, or in the last decade, who went ten years without a defeat. Sonnenberg spoiled his perfect record in Boston early this year. De Glane, after winning the first fall of his match with Sonnenberg, was struck while standing in the center of the ring with a "billy-goat" butt, and crashed into the ringside seats.

He was three hours recovering consciousness, and twenty-five days recovering from the head injury he received in that battle.

Tonight's battle will bring together outstanding exponents of the European and American styles of wrestling. De Glane intends to use Greco-Roman holds almost exclusively in this bout, while Marshall is recognized as an expert with most of the catch-as-catch-can grips.

Although Marshall is favored to win tonight, there are many who are stringing with the Frenchman to upset the Coloradoan. De Glane has no special hold he uses to pin his foes with. He has any number with which he has been able to score falls with against the best in the game. He never goes into the ring prepared for any type of bout. He works out his defenses and counter-offenses as he wrestles.

For this reason, Marshall, who has always prepared defenses against his foe's best-known gripe, will enter the ring not knowing what to expect. And just to make things interesting for the young star, De Glane intends to wage a fast, aggressive match from the start.

The bout is expected to be one of the best seen here this year. More scientific wrestling than roughing is looked for.

POETS THUMP POMONA TEAM

Playing as they did yesterday the Quakers would mop up on any team in the conference. Newman used more than two complete teams and his reserves, if such they might be called, were better than his first string, scoring four of the five touchdowns. The Chief has taught his boys how to run interference and they mowed the Sagehens down with machine-like precision. Pomona was woefully weak on the ends and her secondary defense had a terrible time trying to single out the ball carrier from a maze of interference runners.

Bill Krueger and Merle Mashburn showed brilliant ball-carrying ability. Mashburn ran 32 yards around his own right end for the first Whittier touchdown and then passed to Grunsky for the extra point.

Krueger was plain poison to the Sagehens, scoring three touchdowns on long gallops. His first came in the second period after a brilliant sprint of twenty-three yards right through the heart of the Pomona team. Then just before the half ended Bill threw himself into high gear again, sailed around Pomona's left end and raced down the sidelines, fifty yards to the goal line. Krueger is one of the fastest men who ever performed in Southern California.

Pomona came back and outplayed the Poets in the third quarter, making two first downs while Whittier failed to get any, but this was only the calm before the storm for Newman's shock troops appeared again in the fourth period and proceeded to go places and do things.

KRUEGER AGAIN

Krueger ripped off thirteen yards. Martin made twenty and then Edwards dropped back and flipped a nineteen-yard pass to Duncan, who fell over the goal line. Less than five minutes later Krueger tucked the ball under his arm, set sail around Pomona's left end again and never stopped until he had covered sixty yards to reach the promised land.

Baynham made Pomona's touchdown after the Sagehens got the ball on Whittier's 28-yard line following a one-yard punt by Mashburn. After a pass, Baynham to Wykoff, had placed the pigskin on Whittier's 13-yard stripe. Baynham raced around his own right end for the tally.

In addition to Krueger and Mashburn, the entire Poet line, or both lines, played fine ball. Gibbs at tackle was particularly strong.

For the Sagehens only Berry, center, and Murdy, fullback, were outstanding, although Hager turned in some fair gains considering that he had virtually no assistance.

Newman said at the start of the year that if he didn't win any games but the Pomona struggle he was going to concentrate on that objective.

Whittier made fourteen first downs to eight for Pomona, two of the Sagehens' coming with the aid of penalties. Pomona is capable of better football than displayed yesterday, but the Poets have far the better team anyway.

It was a terribly hot day for football and Newman handled his team perfectly, making many substitutions to keep his boys fresh.

VINES AND MARLOWE TAKE COURT MATCH

In an Armistice Day celebration at the Anaheim City Park yesterday afternoon, Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, and Helen Marlowe of Los Angeles defeated Lester Stoefen and Josephine Cruickshank in a doubles tennis match played on the city courts. Stoefen is the San Gabriel Valley champion, while Miss Cruickshank is the national intercollegiate woman's champion. The scores were 8-6, 0-6 and 7-5. In a singles match Vines defeated Stoefen, 6-4, 6-2.

WILLIAMS DUE TO BE ELECTED

Oakland Expected to Shift Vote to Present Prexy

Reports emanating from the Bay section yesterday indicated that Harry A. Williams will be re-elected president of the Pacific Coast League when the magnates continue their balloting at the Montreal meeting scheduled for December 1.

HARRY WILLIAMS

The dope is that the Oakland directors now convinced that their candidate, J. Cal Ewing, cannot secure a majority will, therefore, turn to Williams and give him the fifth and deciding vote that will elect him for a five-year term.

The Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento and Portland magnates voted for Williams at the recent league meeting in San Francisco and have announced that they will continue to do so, thus keeping the incumbent loop head in office until one of the other four magnates come over to their side to provide the necessary fifth vote for election.

Lew Moreing, Sacramento club owner, will not attend the Montreal meeting, but he has given his proxy to Charley Graham, Seal vice-president, with instructions to vote for Williams.

In the recent league meeting the Seals, Angels, Solons and Ducks voted for Williams; Oakland, Hollywood and the Missions backed Ewing, and the Seattle club voted for John J. Sullivan throughout.

gained more than 300 yards via this route against Oregon, completing seven straight passes in the third quarter. Oregon's only score came on a 60-yard return of a punt by Robinson.

Klum has a widely known ball carrier in Hiram Kaakua, called "The Grange of Hawaii" by grid critics of Honolulu. Hiram is rated the fastest man ever developed on the Islands and will undoubtedly give the Trojans something to think about for fleet-footed ball carriers have always annoyed Southern California more than pile-driving backs.

The Hawaiian team will work out this afternoon and tomorrow at the Rose Bowl and come to the Coliseum for a practice session Friday.

KLUM SAYS BOYS WON'T BE DEFEATED 74 TO 0

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11. (AP)—Coach Otto Klum and thirty University of Hawaii football players arrived here today on the liner Matsonia and left for Los Angeles where they will meet the University of Southern California in a game Saturday.

"They won't beat my boys 74 to 0 as they did California," Klum said. "We have a good passing attack, with the same combination that completed seven straight passes against Oregon last December."

Klum's explanation of California's overwhelming defeat was: "The Bears must have been nothing more than a mob of boys in uniforms."

SPORTS SKETCH BY FEG MURRAY

line echoes and re-echoes wherever Georgia teams play football.

Do you think that the 1929 Georgia team showed any signs of quitting in the Yale Bowl on October 11, last, with Yale leading, 14 to 6, (one of their touchdowns having been scored illegally,) and with the third period under way and enough tough breaks occurring against the southerners to ruin the morale of any team? No, indeed! The gritty Georgia Bulldogs went to work for the fourth time after three long marches had failed, and put over a touchdown on a pass to Vernon (Catfish) Smith. But still Yale led, 14 to 12. After holding the Blue on their 1-foot line with less than five minutes to play the Bulldogs from Athens finally put over the winning touchdown on a fine run by Mott and a plunge by Roberts. What a game team this 1930 Georgia outfit is!

In "Jack the Ripper" Roberts they have an outstanding line cracker, and at this writing the leading point scorer in the country. In Quarterback Austin Downs they have a fine field general and a wasp-waisted dart, who ran the opening Yale kick-off back 80 yards to a touchdown in that memorable game in the bowl.

Football was first played by the ancient Greeks and now, perhaps, it is best played by these modern warriors from Athens, Ga.

PANTHERS TRIP CHICO

LOWRY'S RABBIT PUNCHES

Fine. But there are other southern teams. What about Georgia, for example?

A REPRESENTATIVE TEAM

BOTH Alabama and Georgia are undefeated.

Wallace Wade is in his last year at Alabama, and he appears bent on turning out a Crimson Tide eleven that will make the school authorities and old grads wish they hadn't agreed to separate from him as head coach.

But with all due respect to Alabama and Wade let's go into the schedule being played by the two teams.

Alabama is playing only in its own conference.

Georgia has taken on and defeated two tough intersectional foes in addition to conference teams. It is a much more representative team than Alabama.

Early in the season Georgia came from behind to knock over Yale, 18 to 14.

And just last Saturday Georgia beat New York U., 7 to 6.

This week Georgia hops from the snow of New York to the heat of New Orleans to play Tulane.

Then back south to play Alabama on Thanksgiving Day.

And as the finale, Georgia Tech on the day when Southern California and Notre Dame tangle at the Coliseum—December 6.

Henry Mehre, Notre Dame, is Georgia's coach. He has several stars, including Downs, the pee-wee quarterback who ran a kick-off back 81 yards to a touchdown against Yale, and "Catfish" Smith, who kicked the goal that beat New York U.

It might be a good idea to keep an eye on this Georgia gang. If they beat Alabama on Turkey Day they are more than likely to be the New Year's Day selection. Or even if they only tie the Crimson Tide.

That will give Champ Pickens, volunteer Chamber of Commerce for the old South, a great opportunity to chirp. And he's floating around the city waiting his opportunity.

A MICHIGAN CORRECTION

A MICHIGAN alumnus is gunning for a certain newspaper head writer of this city.

He protests violently the statement that Michigan scored its first touchdown in fifty years over Harvard last Saturday.

He has considerable cause for protest.

Michigan beat Harvard 14 to 12 last year.

So Michigan hardly could have registered its first touchdown in fifty years when it again beat the Crimson at Cambridge last Saturday.

The story was somewhat ambiguous.

What was meant was that a Michigan team made its first touchdown in fifty years on a Cambridge field.

WHAT A GAME

O. M. sends the solution to the unemployment situation!

"Neither Southern California nor Washington State has a game scheduled for the 22nd inst. Let them meet in our Coliseum at $5 per seat, proceeds for sweet charity.

De Palma to Drive Car in Ascot Event

Ralph De Palma, the nonpareil of the racing game, who for the past twenty-three years has been a star in the most hazardous of sports, will appear at the Legion Ascot Speedway Suhday afternoon, the 23rd inst. Any doubt that the great Italian would drive at the Alhambra Boulevard track was dispelled yesterday when Dr. Fred Loring of the Legion board held a long-distance telephone conversation with De Palma, who is in Detroit.

The famous driver stated that he planned to leave immediately for the Pacific Coast and will bring his Miller along. He may compete in the thirty-mile feature of a program to be held at Phoenix next Saturday, and thereby use that race as a warm-up for the big return to the Los Angeles picture a week later.

When word was broadcast over the Italian colony yesterday that the Latin star had definitely consented to race, preparations were immediately begun for a tremendous homecoming reception. Peter De Paolo, nephew of De Palma, whom the great Ralph put in the racing game, will head a group of prominent local Italians who will arrange for the festivities.

De Palma's appearance at Ascot undoubtedly will attract a tremendous crowd. Although a 100-lap race, featuring some of the greatest speedway stars of the nation, is billed a week from Sunday, the Legionnaires make no secret of the fact that they intend to 'build the show' around the gray-haired veteran.

BEAR EDITOR CHANGES MIND

should be started by the student officials of the university.

"Inferences the editorial was aimed directly at Coach Price because of a loss in competency are erroneous. If there is any action taken at California the coaching staff obviously must come in for its share of scrutiny. Only that far have we directed our remarks to Coach Price or his assistants.

"Furthermore, we cannot understand the conclusions drawn by certain people that the cartoon accompanying the editorial accused the University of Southern California or any other college of subsidizing. We have said such goes on, and we share the knowledge of its existence with others. That, however, does not imply an accusation on any particular school."

Other developments included reports that the University of California was angling for the services of Knute Rockne, football coach at Notre Dame. Responsible authorities at California denied the reports.

THOMAS AND McCOY MIX AT PICO TONIGHT

East Side boxing fans should be treated to considerable action tonight at the Pico Bowl with Ritchie Thomas, hard-hitting Hawthorne junior lightweight, being sent out to stop the winning streak of Stafford McCoy, colored battler. McCoy has won several starts at the Whittier Boulevard arena but tonight he will be a short-ender in the betting due to Thomas's punching power.

The six-round semi will bring together Johnny Granone and Manual Trevino at 122 pounds. The bout is a "Pico natural." Both boys are popular on the east side. Dewitt Martin and Rex Williams will clash in the special. They are middies. Four-rounders complete the card.

BARRACUDA SCHOOL MAKES APPEARANCE

HERMOSA BEACH, Nov. 11.—The recent spell of Indian summer experienced in Southern California was responsible for the reappearance in these waters of barracuda. The long slim "snakes" were supposed to be in Mexican waters for the winter and anglers on the Olympic barge were quite agreeably surprised when they put in an appearance last week. Quite a number were caught on the Olympic, while several were even hooked by pier anglers.

Daily catches brought in from the Olympic include bonito, mackerel, sand dabs, halibut, perch and smelt.

Pathfinder Eleven Presents Tough Opposition

Tigers Boast Great Record This Season

Roosevelt and Poly Clash at Wrigley Field Tomorrow

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Don't try to figure out who will win the City League title if Fremont beats Lincoln Friday afternoon at Wrigley Field. After wearing out half a dozen pencils and several reams of copy paper, the following was discovered:

COACH DIRCKX

If the Pathfinders do upset the Tigers, and Manual Arts, Hollywood and Roosevelt turn in wins over Fairfax, Belmont and Poly, respectively, five teams will be tied for first place. The five are Manual Arts, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Fremont and Hollywood.

Next week in the final round of play, Hollywood meets Roosevelt, so one or the other will be eliminated. Even at that, four teams will be left, all possessing equal rights to the championship. If that doesn't give the schedule makers a headache, nothing else will.

However, Coach Jim Tunney of Lincoln maintains nothing of the sort is going to happen as the Tigers are figuring on taking Fremont, and then next week getting revenge on Los Angeles High for that 27-7 licking last year.

While the Lincoln team will take the field favored to down the Pathfinders, their margin of victory shouldn't be very large. The Tigers so far this season have won two practice games and four league encounters, running up a total of 48 points or an average of 8 points per game. It is easily seen that 8 points per game doesn't show a very strong offensive.

On the other hand Tunney's defense has been practically impregnable, only yielding one "earned" touchdown so far this year, and that was tallied by Bill Howard of Manual Arts.

George Dirck's Pathfinders are far from being a set-up. Fremont has lost only one game so far this season, that to the Manual Arts Toilers. Their practice game record is clear with a 6-0 win over Poly; a 26-18 victory over Venice, and a 12-7 triumph over Redondo.

The Pathfinders have taken three league games so far, defeating Garfield, 12-6; Jefferson, 12-0, and L. A. High, 21-20.

Roosevelt and Poly get the jump on the rest of the league this week and will clash at Wrigley Field tomorrow afternoon.

The four other games will be played Friday, and will find Garfield at L. A. High; Manual Arts at Fairfax; Franklin at Jefferson, and Belmont at Hollywood.

Here are the Lincoln-Fremont records:

TUNNEY VICTOR IN RING SUIT

the jurors, thanked them and faced the onrushing mob as he used to when king of the fisticuffers, smiling now and affable. He clasped as many hands as could reach him, smoked away for a moment to telephone the good news to his wife, the former Polly Lander of Greenwich, Conn., and then faced a crowd of several thousand waiting for him on the Courthouse steps outside. He smiled for the cameramen, posed for the movies and then muscled his way out and into an automobile, back into retirement until he faces within a few weeks another suit, brought by Max "Boo Boo" Hoff of Philadelphia, also dating back to his ring days.

Tunney had only a short statement to make on the verdict.

"The decision was just," he said. "It certainly justifies the stand I have taken ever since the claim was made against me in 1926."

Goldberg, the jury foreman, told Tunney as they left the courtroom: "It couldn't have been anything else. We were sure of that a minute after we started deliberating."

The defense contended all agreements were based on the proposition that Mara, through political influence, should overcome the opposition of the New York State Athletic Commission and swing the Dempsey fight to New York.

The former champion must face the charge of Hoff, probably in the same court, that the Philadelphia politician is entitled to a 20 per cent slice of Tunney's earnings under a contract entered into between them shortly before the Dempsey match in Philadelphia.

Hoff alleges his influence was used to protect Tunney the night he won the heavyweight title. The case is expected to reach the court within a few weeks.

PUENTE ANNEXES TITLE

El Monte Lions Bow to Old Rivals in Close 3-0 San Gabriel Valley Championship Game

The Puente High School team scored a hard-fought 3-to-0 victory over the El Monte Lions yesterday to finish the season in a percentage tie for first place in the San Gabriel Valley League with the vanquished Lions. Puente won two games and tied two, while El Monte won three and lost one. According to the league ruling, one tie game counts as a half defeat. It is rumored, however, that Puente will be given a clear claim to the title because of their victory over El Monte.

Gabaldano dropped back from his position at right guard in the second quarter to boot the ball between the uprights and furnish his team with its margin of victory. It was fourth down and 17 yards to go when Gabaldano made the place kick from the Lions' 28-yard line.

In the first two minutes of play El Monte rushed the ball down to Puente's 1-yard line where they were held for downs. With the exception of Gabaldano's kick, neither team threatened to score from that time on. H. MacMillen, Pearson and Yorba starred for Puente, while Botts, Pierson, Rhode and Reed were outstanding for El Monte.

The encounter this afternoon before a big holiday crowd was the fourth between the two schools, Covina having won twice previously and lost once, a State championship, to the Drillers.

Kelley Kars Trim and Tie Commercials

In a couple of free-hitting contests that featured two home runs by Cedric Durst and one each by Walloping Walter Berger and Fussy Hufft, the Kelley Kars defeated the Commercial Club nine, 11 to 6, in the opener and tied the nightcap, 7-all, in yesterday's Armistice Day twin bill at Wrigley Field.

Durst clicked out one circuit clout in the opener and responded with another in the nightcap with two men on to put the Kelleys in front. The Commercials, however, got to Augie Walsh for runs in the fifth and sixth innings to tie the score, the game then being called on account of darkness.

Berger hit his homer in the second game, the ball going on a line to the top of the centerfield wall and bouncing over. It was the Boston Brave home run king's fifth circuit clout in four games. Hufft's homer came in the first game.

Win Ballou kept the Commercials in check in the opener while the Kelleys hammered George Hollerson hard and often. Wes Schulmerich got four hits, including two doubles.

Pinches Kunz went the route for the Commercials in the finale, with Frank Shellenback and Walsh hurling for the Kelley Kars. Louie Almada's double and Frank Brazill's single tied the score in the sixth.

The Commercial Clubmen face the Royal Giants at Wrigley Field tomorrow night. Scores:

The El Paso-Mexicans broke even with the All-Stars in yesterday's holiday double-header at White Sox Park, winning the opener, 8 to 4, but dropping an 11-to-2 decision in the nightcap. After an erratic start, Botella settled down and kept the All-Stars in check while his mates hammered Fahey to the showers to pile up a substantial lead. Score:

All-Stars	201	100	000	4	15	3

ROYAL GIANTS COP 6-5 CLASH FROM SHELLS

Shoving over a run in the ninth inning to break a 5-all deadlock, the Royal Giants nosed out the Shell Oilers, 6 to 5, in yesterday's Winter League Armistice Day game at Long Beach. The Shells tied it up with a two-run rally in the eighth but Pillette was unable to hold the Giants in the ninth. Suttles hit a home run for the colored club. Larry French, Pittsburgh southpaw, blanked the Giants for five innings but yielded five runs in the sixth and seventh. Charleston likewise failed to last, being chased in the eighth. Score:

WHITMAN DEFEATS IDAHO COLLEGE, 7-0

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) Nov. 11. (AP)—Faced with a scoreless tie as thrust after thrust deep into scoring territory was repulsed by penalties, pass interceptions and a stubborn College of Idaho defense, Whitman College completed a long pass in the final two minutes of play to defeat the Coyotes, 7 to 0, in the annual Homecoming game here today.

Applegate passed to Lindman for the extra point and the game ended on the Idaho 40-yard line, where L. Anderson intercepted a Coyote pass.

LA BARBA TO MEET SHEA IN CLEVELAND

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

WHICH teams of the unbeaten and untied, have the roughest road to face? Northwestern must overpower Wisconsin and Notre Dame. Notre Dame must sink Drake, Northwestern, Army and Southern California.

Fordham must beat St. Mary's and Bucknell.

Alabama still has Georgia in the way.

Marquette, Western Maryland, Utah and others have easier roads to clear. The first four named have the harder assignments and of the lot Northwestern has the rougher chance, for it must upset Notre Dame. Fordham has two high-grade teams still barring the way and Notre Dame has three. But Fordham doesn't have to meet Notre Dame, and neither does Alabama. This, however, is something to which Southern California may take rebuttal. Any team that ran up 115 points against California and Stanford is fully entitled to all the rebuttals there are.

"Notre Dame," says an exchange, "loses most of its backfield this season. That will make a big difference for 1931." Notre Dame lost most of its star line from last fall and look how badly the South Bend delegation cracked this fall.

The Northwestern Test

It will be interesting to see how Northwestern can get by the forward passing test against Wisconsin if Rentner is unable to whip a few through the air. Northwestern may get by Wisconsin without a strong passing game, but it will need every element of attack it can rake up to give Notre Dame a battle just a week later on.

There have been many who believe that Northwestern has the leading chance to stop the South Bend troop, but the Wildcats will need Rentner badly. Wisconsin is no petting party for anybody. The team crushed Pennsylvania and gave the strong Purdue team a close, hard fight, and it night be noted that Purdue at this juncture has one of the best teams in football, despite its second period nap against Michigan after leading, 13 to 0.

Down south Tulane is confident that the Green Wave will finally engulf Georgia for the first time this season. If Georgia wins it will turn the Georgia-Alabama game on Thanksgiving Day into one of the big spots of the year, the only real meeting between two unbeaten rivals fighting for a sectional championship. It is asking a lot of any team, after a hard schedule, to plunge on through Tulane and Alabama, who happen to be about as good as they come.

"You'll find later," writes Westerner, "that Southern California can match Notre Dame's backfield with Duffield, Mohler, Musick and Pinckert, and that Southern California will also show just as much in the way of fast, compact interference and a hard charging line. Don't be surprised if this game again is decided by a goal after touchdown. It will be just about that close."

CADETS TO END SEASON

Coach Cunningham's Black-Foxe soldier eleven will wind up its football schedule Friday afternoon when it clashes with the San Diego Army and Navy's powerful second varsity phalanx on the former's athletic field.

LOYOLA FROSH DROP CONTEST

Compton Junior College Wins, 12 to 7

Coach Deacon Pine's Compton Junior College Tartars' passing attack proved to be too deceptive for Sam Dagley's Loyola University freshmen yesterday afternoon and consequently the Baby Lions met their first defeat of the season by a 12-to-7 score. Both elevens fought on an even par throughout the entire contest, but in the final period a pass from Canfield to Slagle gave the Tartars the winning score.

Both teams opened up the game with their second string. The Tartars made the first score after Valenzuela, second-string quarter, made a wide end run for 15 yards to score.

The lone Loyola score came in the second period just after Dagley inserted his first string. A 22-yard pass, Breausseau to Ruby, put the ball on the 1-yard line. Ruby scored on the next play. Strutzel converted.

Both elevens did not have their full strength in the game until the final quarter. Coach Pine was saving his men for the Pasadena game next Saturday, but was forced to put them in to win.

The line-up was as follows:

Loyola		Compton
Del Valle	L.E.R.	Kimball
Ward	L.T.R.	Chambers
Casey	L.G.R.	Ostlang
Mangus	C.	Scott

Haskell Tribe Trims Gonzaga by 19-7 Score

SPOKANE (Wash.) Nov. 11 (AP)—Haskell Indians raided the Gonzaga University gridiron today, trimming the Bulldogs, 19 to 7, with a fierce last-minute assault, after being beaten for three quarters.

Gonzaga led the Redskins for three periods by a 7-to-6 score. Then the Braves appeared suddenly to recall that there was a war on, and went over and around Gonzaga's line as their painted predecessors went over stockades here sixty years ago.

Gonzaga scored in the first quarter on the fumble of Smith, Haskell fullback. Krause, fleetest of Gonzaga halfbacks, lashed through the Red and Black line 54 yards for a touchdown, and Luce converted.

In the same quarter, Duffina took the ball on his 35-yard line and made 20 yards with a smash off left tackle. Two plunges and a 20-yard pass, Smith to Weiler, brought it to striking distance, and Duffina went over on the fourth line plunge.

The second and third periods were scoreless, each squad pitting power and passes in duplicate tactics, with the ball never close to either goal.

Haskell went to work with a whoop in the fourth after blocking a Bulldog driver by intercepting a pass on the Red 20-yard line. The Blue line staggered back before a savage onslaught of end runs, delayed bucks, criss-crosses and passes. Johnson, fullback, went over for Haskell. Three plays after the next kick-off, Weller of the Redskins gathered in a Gonzaga pass and ran 37 yards. Johnson took it over with two plunges.

The line-ups and summary:

FITTS TO DECIDE ON DAVIS TRIAL

Former Prosecutor's Aide to Hear by Friday

Dismissal of Case Forecast by MacKay Action

District Attorney Studying Court's Remittitur

Definite action concerning the proposed retrial of Harold L. Davis, chief deputy under former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, is expected within the next forty-eight hours by Dist.-Atty. Fitts's office.

This prediction is based upon the opinion of those in close touch with the situation, who for the last fortnight have predicted that a definite decision regarding the possible retrosecution of Davis would be made as soon as the remittitur from the Supreme Court is received.

Davis, convicted of accepting a bribe from Ed Rosenberg to "lay off" on prosecution of the Julian cases, won a new trial by appealing the case to the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile it was disclosed that the Supreme Court remittitur has been received by the District Attorney and that it has been referred to Robert P. Stewart, chief deputy, for consideration.

Further strength to the prediction that the Davis trial will be dismissed is the fact that since the

JOE'S SLOGAN: SAY "NO" WITH BOTTLES

Joe Marino

Supreme Court decision the District Attorney moved for and was granted dismissal of a case against Donald MacKay, former chief trial deputy under Keyes. The dismissal in that case was upon grounds that the testimony of Ben Getzoff, Spring-street tailor, uncorroborated, was insufficient to warrant conviction. Getzoff also was the chief witness against Davis.

In view of this fact the District Attorney is expected to go into court within the next two days and ask the dismissal of the Davis case.

JAPANESE ARRESTED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Mobuyuki Nakashima, 20-year-old Japanese, was arrested last night at First and San Pedro streets by Detective Lieutenant Sanderson of Central homicide squad on a telegraphic warrant from Modesto charging assault with a deadly weapon. Nakashima, it is charged, shot another Japanese at Modesto who had discharged his father. The boy fled to Los Angeles and was living at 236 East Second street. He had in his possession when arrested a .38-caliber Colt revolver, police said. He will be returned to Modesto today.

NEAR-BEER HOLDS KICK FOR BANDITS

Grocery Proprietor Routs Gunmen as They Attempt to Hold Up Store

Near-beer as a beverage may lack the kick credited to its ancestors of pre-Volsteadian days, but as a weapon, Joe Marino, grocery proprietor, proved it to be highly potent when he used a bottle of it early yesterday morning to rout a pair of bandits from his store at 4031 South Main street.

The bandits leveled pistols across Joe's cash register and demanded his money. Joe took one long look at the pistols and then ducked and clutched the beer bottle. Crouching, he ran behind a counter toward the street door and when he straightened up, hurled the bottle at the nearest desperado. The bandit fired, but his aim, spoiled by the hurtling beer bottle, the bullet missed Joe.

Two more leaps and Joe made his exit through the street door just as a second bullet hit the door jam. Ten minutes later when Joe returned to his store the bandits were gone. They got nothing. Joe picked up the bottle of beer, still intact, and replaced it on a shelf.

Autoist Found in Car Unconscious

Unconscious in his car at Armstrong and Lake View avenues, a man believed to be Edward T. Off, vice-president of the Ranch Oil Company and whose address is the California Club, was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital last night for treatment by pedestrians who found him slumped over the wheel of his auto.

At the hospital Dr. Lopez diagnosed the attack as possible nervous prostration. After first-aid treatment police were told he was taken to the home of Mrs. Kathryn Heyes, 2719 Tesla avenue, who signed for his effects at the police station and whom, according to police, had him taken to this address under the supervision of Dr. Elmer Biggs, California Club physician. His condition was said not to be serious by the hospital attendants.

Rites of Rogers Set for Today

Ernest Elroy Rogers, Los Angeles attorney and a resident of this city virtually all his life, will be carried to his last rest in Forest Lawn Memorial Park today. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, 1760 Gower street, with Rev. Stewart MacLennan officiating. Masonic rites will be conducted at the grave.

Mr. Rogers died unexpectedly Sunday morning at his home, 2835 Westshire avenue, following a heart attack. Born forty-seven years ago in Kansas City, Mo., he came to Los Angeles with his parents when he was but a few months of age. He leaves his widow and four children.

STEEL CONCERN DIVIDES WORK

Columbia President Tells of Aims on West Coast

All Men Kept on Job, With Prospects Brighter

Officials End Inspection of Utah Properties

A system of equalization of employment for the more than 4000 workers of the Columbia Steel Corporation in plants along the Pacific Coast is the aim of the organization, which recently became a subsidiary of the United States Steel Company, according to President A. T. DeForest, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on the Union Pacific Gold Coast Limited.

A. T. DE FOREST

Mr. DeForest was accompanied by L. F. Rains, vice-president; W. A. Ross, vice-president, and H. F. Wilson, secretary, returning from an inspection trip of their properties in Utah. They are en route to the home offices in San Francisco.

"We are combining all forces to make employment where it is possible and going ahead with expansions in the Torrance plant as well as laying the groundwork for our mines and other plants in Utah," Mr. DeForest said. "To make a prediction of the business outlook for the future would only be to guess at the possibilities, although it is true that the business reports of our company last month were very favorable.

"At present Columbia Steel is attempting to divide work among all its employees. We are not laying off men or cutting our forces."

Mr. DeForest will remain in Los Angeles several days. He is stopping at the Biltmore.

Treasure in Bottles Lost by Hotel Men

Bottles filled with sparkling fluid exerted an irresistible appeal to two Los Angeles hotel men whiling away a fleeting hour in the Canal Zone. The price? High, alas, but they purchased.

The next scene occurred at Los Angeles Harbor when a customs agent lifted one of the gleaming bottles on high. That, he told the dismayed hotel men, was his. Not content with the one, the customs agent rummaged through the baggage and brought out the other bottled treasures.

E. W. Cason, secretary of the Southern California Hotel Association, and Lee Holladay, former owner of the Gates Hotel, told the tale to sympathetic ears at a luncheon given in their honor at the Biltmore by Frank Ewins, retired boniface.

"How were w. to know," lamented Cason and Holladay, "that one must question the genuineness of perfume?"

The pair were told that the perfume, for it really was perfume, bore counterfeit labels.

Bad Bandit Gets Wallop on Jaw and Loses Gun

There was a lot of psychology wasted on both sides in this hold-up. The bandit should have made a study of reactions of amateur boxers to guns pressed against their ribs and the victim should have made a study of bandits who go around poking empty guns against people's sides.

This would have saved the bandit a lusty crack on the jaw and the loss of his gun and Max Cordes, 30 years of age, a book-keeper at the Los Angeles Athletic Club and a amateur boxer, a pair of badly bruised knuckles.

When the bandit appeared beside a parked car on Westmoreland street, between Pico and Twelfth street, last night, and tried to grab a purse, a fight followed in which the bandit lost his gun. Cordes was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for badly skinned and bruised digits.

D. T. Hughes, oil-station operator at 5101 Santa Monica Boulevard, was not so lucky. A rough looking bandit appeared and took $30 in cash and went his way.

Tony Panzich Runs Afoul of Traffic Law

Tony Panzich, former owner of a cafe at 901 East First street, which was padlocked in June, 1929, by Federal order for asserted liquor-law violations, was arrested last night on a traffic charge after police say he went through a traffic signal at First street and Glendale Boulevard.

Patrolman A. E. Keppeler stopped him and declared Panzich refused to either accompany him to the station or accept a ticket. As the officer stood on the running board of the car he declares Panzich started his machine. The officer drew his revolver and ordered the machine stopped and brought Panzich to the station in a police car. He was booked for traffic violation, an old tag was found against him for another asserted violation and he is charged with Wright Act possession of less than a pint of liquor. He gave bond of $120 and will appear in Division Eight of the Municipal Court today at 2 p.m.
